Reds Continue Slow Retreat

Enemy Troops Continue Smoke Screen Tactics

Communists Give Up Yonchon In West

TOKYO, Tuesday, April 17 (AP)—A smoke screen pall rolled up over a 300-square mile area today in Central Korea where Chinese Reds set fires in efforts to mask what may be either a withdrawal or an impending attack.

A southerly wind at times opened clear spots in the smoke blanket. Allied planes bombed and strafed these openings in support of advancing United Nations troops.

The protecting blanket of enemy-made smoke rolled up over an area about 30 miles wide and 10 miles deep.

The smoke pall extended 15 miles northwest of Yanggu, one of the latest towns inside Red Korea to fall to the advancing Allies.

In Western Korea, the town of Yonchon on the road to Chorwon was abandoned by the Reds. Allied troops had not yet occupied it but held high ground on all sides.

New Censorship Rules

Rigid new censorship regulations ordered by the new supreme Allied commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, forbade all references to the size and location of Chinese and North Korean Reds.

The Reds, however, continued their slow retreat. For the third straight day the Communists burned smudge pots and set forests ablaze to screen their positions from devastating Allied air and artillery attacks.

It was the same device the Chinese used last November to hide their dispositions before slamming into United Nations forces in Northwest Korea.

Chinese and North Koreans lost two key towns and some valuable real estate on the east central front in a two-day fight ending Monday.

Yanggu, six miles north of the 38th parallel and at the eastern tip of the strategic Hwachon reservoir, fell first to Allied tanks and infantry. Then Red units yielded Yachon, on a parallel road three miles northeast of battered Yanggu.

Reds Cling To Dam

The capture of Yanggu eliminated the last Communist pocket on the south shores of the Hwachon reservoir. It ripped up the eastern anchor point for Red lines which had used the 11-mile long lake as a formidable water obstacle against the Allies.

Yanggu was the key to a major Communist buildup area in this sector which now was eliminated.

Eleven miles southeast of Yanggu, South Korean troops drove North Korean troops out of ridges above captured Inje. The heights dominated an important road running eastward to the coast.

The Communists, however, clung desperately to the 275-foot high Hwachon dam on the western end of the reservoir. They fought bitterly against Allied patrols probing toward the town of Hwachon itself.

President's Aide To Greet M'Arthur At Capital Airport

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughn will represent President Truman at the Washington National Airport when Gen. Douglas MacArthur arrives here.

This was announced today by Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short. Vaughn is the President's Army aide.

Gen. Vaughan and Gen. MacArthur are not strangers.

Vaughn served under MacArthur in Australia. Gen. MacArthur went there to set up headquarters after the fall of the Philippines early in the war with Japan.

Reds, Predicting Victory, Demand U. N. Quit Korea

Assembly, Council Heads Get Cables

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—North Korea, boasting that the Communists are sure to win, demanded today that the United Nations get out of Korea.

In identical cables to Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, president of the General Assembly, and to Holland's Daniel Von Balluseck, president of the Security Council, it also demanded that the U. N. punish what it called "monstrous American atrocities."

It made no mention of the presence of Chinese Communist troops in Korea.

This was the 18th such communication received from North Korean Foreign Minister Pak Hen En. The previous cables have been shrugged off by unimpressed U. N. delegations and officials. The same fate probably awaits this one.

A close comparison with the 17 previous communications—the first dated June 28 and the last Feb. 11—shows no modification in the Red position which might indicate any intention of negotiating peace in good faith.

These newest demands were drafted after the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur and give no evidence that this action influenced the Reds in any way.

Veto Of Harpers Ferry Shrine Bill Is Urged

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 16 (AP) — Maryland's Board of Natural Resources declared today it's still against giving up land for a Harpers Ferry national monument.

A measure authorizing the state to buy some 700 acres for the shrine honoring John Brown, the fiery abolitionist, passed the General Assembly.

The board previously had opposed acquiring land for the monument. It decided today to remind Gov. McKeldin and ask him to veto the act.

Ethiopians On Way

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, April 16 (AP)—A battalion of Ethiopian soldiers—1,153 officers and men—left today for the Korean front aboard an American troop ship.

Bar Unit Urges Anti-Crime Laws

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—A special commission of the American Bar Association recommended today that the Senate's Crime Investigating Committee be kept alive to press for legislation to cure the evils it has exposed.

Former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, chairman of the commission, said the group thinks the time is ripe to get effective laws passed.

He added, however, that the commission believes further investigations and hearings are unnecessary, and that the proposed extension of the committee's life should be limited.

Patterson talked with reporters after he and other members of the commission had met for several hours with crime committee members behind closed doors.

The commission was appointed by the bar association at its annual convention here last September and has been cooperating with the Senate committee in working out measures to combat crime.

One of the Senate crime probers, Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo), told newsmen earlier he favors twice-a-year public hearings to turn a spotlight on the underworld and to keep law enforcement officials on their toes.

Plans To Hear "Mac" Rushed By Congress

GOP Senators Call For Policy Probe

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Congress whipped through formal arrangements today for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to tell his story to a joint meeting—and by radio and television to the nation—shortly after 12:30 p. m., (EST), Thursday.

And Senate Republicans, voicing delight at the prospect of hearing MacArthur, called unanimously for an all-out congressional investigation of the Truman administration's foreign and military policies.

GOP objections to the Truman program mounted to a roar of protest with the President's dismissal of MacArthur last week, and the deposed General's flight to Washington (he's due here early Thursday) fanned the flames of controversy to a new peak.

A kind of "MacArthur fever" swept the capital today. It brought these developments:

House Agrees To Meeting

1—The House agreed unanimously to a joint meeting with the Senate to hear the General on Thursday. Senate agreement to move into the House chamber for the speech is just another formality. It will be voted on tomorrow.

2—Thirty-three Senate Republicans agreed at a closed meeting to back the proposed investigation of Truman policies all over the world "in the light of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal." Backers of the movement said they had a two-house inquiry in mind.

3—Mr. Truman assigned his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to meet MacArthur at National Airport. It looked as if the President would not see MacArthur unless the General asked for an appointment, and the White House said he hasn't asked for one yet.

4—Plans were rushed for a big civic reception at the Washington Monument. MacArthur messaged the committee that he would be "proud and happy" to take part.

General Willing To Testify

5—MacArthur also wired that he would be willing to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee some time after his appearance at the joint session. The House Armed Services Committee promptly voted to ask the General to appear before it as well.

In addition, Rep. Adair (R-Ind) introduced a resolution calling for the dismissal of Dean Acheson as secretary of state. And Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo) offered one to give MacArthur a special medal. Rep. Crumpacker (R-Ind) introduced a resolution for the removal of both Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The resolutions were referred to committees. No early action was in prospect.

All told, MacArthur's scheduled visit was stirring up almost as much excitement as the inauguration of a new president. Members of Congress were swamped with requests for tickets to the House gallery for the General's speech. The Statler Hotel dusted off its plush presidential suite for MacArthur.

Five Prison Escapees Caught In Dragnet

CAPRON, Va., April 16 (AP)—State police tonight reported the apprehension of the 15 prisoners who escaped from the state prison farm here last night through an open dormitory window.

The men were captured shortly after 10:30 p. m. by State Trooper R. B. Crowder as they were riding in an automobile on U. S. Route 60 at boulevard in New Kent County.

The escapees, all young white men, are believed to have escaped between 10 and 11 p. m. by sawing three lightweight iron bars in a window on the first floor of a dormitory building.

Pickets' "Human Carpet" Results In Their Arrest

DANVILLE, Va., April 16 (AP)—Twenty picketing strikers were arrested by police here today and charged with forming a "human carpet" to prevent non-striking workers at Dan River Mills from going to their jobs.

Those arrested included the president of the Virginia CIO Council, the Rev. Charles Webber, Richmond. All were members of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), which has been on strike at the mills since April 1.

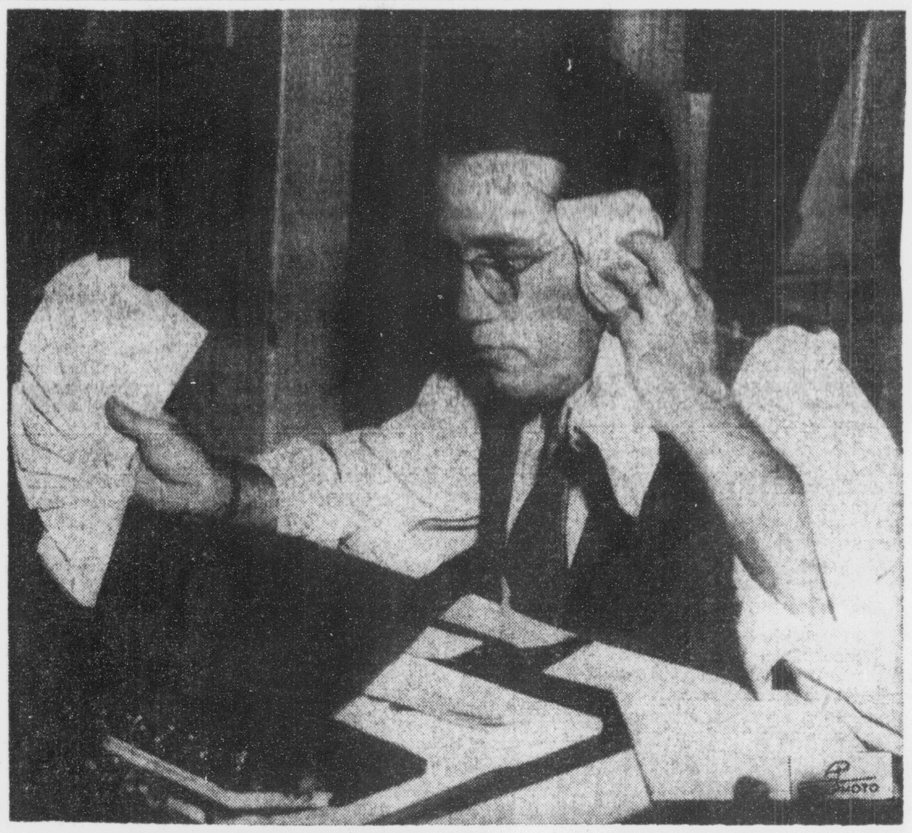
Hearings for the arrested men will be held May 8. Specifically they are charged with "interfering with free ingress to the premises of Dan River Mills" in violation of Virginia's "right to work" law.

Police charge the pickets staged a "laydown" at the three gates to the mill last night in an effort to prevent workers from entering the gates with their cars.

The union claimed today the demonstration was "spontaneous" and not a planned affair.

State troopers and police moved in quickly last night as the pickets placed newspapers on the driveway into the gates and lay down in a "human carpet." Other pickets sang "I shall not, I shall not be moved...."

Police said as they approached some of the prone pickets hopped up and were lost in the crowd while others had to be hauled to their feet by officers and placed in a waiting police patrol wagon.



"Fishbait" Has Ticket Troubles

William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House of Representatives, tries to figure out who's going to get gallery tickets for Gen. MacArthur's congressional address Thursday. Miller has been deluged with so many requests that he's reached this conclusion: "I probably will have no friends when this is over."

Russia Reports Latest Five-Year Plan Successful

Production Upped By 73% Over 1940

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Russia declared tonight she had successfully completed her latest five-year plan for industrial expansion and boosted production by 73 per cent over 1940.

The Moscow radio broadcast the Soviet announcement.

While it did not claim success in every field of production, it said "the most important tasks of the plan have been considerably exceeded."

Russia said her target for boosting industrial production over the prewar figures during the 1946-50 period had been 48 per cent.

The broadcast also said the plan had been completed in four years and three months, rather than the five years it was expected to take.

Steel Target Figure Exceeded

Even in the single year of 1950, the target for production was surpassed by 17 per cent, the radio declared.

In the war-important steel industry, the Russians listed three categories in which they said they had exceeded production estimates.

Total iron and steel production had gone up by 45 per cent instead of the target figure of 35 per cent.

Pig iron production was reported up 29 per cent, smelting of steel 49 per cent and production of rolled metal 59 per cent.

The broadcast verified reports that much of Soviet industry has been concentrated in the eastern part of the Soviet Union. It said pig iron production in the Urals had been boosted 160 per cent over 1940 and gave various percentages for increased iron and steel production in Siberia.

Industry Rebuilt In South

"Production of iron and steel has been organized in Transcaucasia and Central Asia," it added.

In the war-ravaged south, Russia said, the metal industry had been completely rebuilt and "is giving more metal than before the war."

In spite of the production boosts, however, "the production of ferrous metals and especially certain kinds of rolled metal is lagging behind the increased demands of the national economy," the radio said.

Child's Disappearance Puzzles Authorities

TAMPA, Fla., April 16 (AP)—The three-day disappearance of Jimmie Loudermilk, aged 2, believed by his mother to have been kidnaped, puzzled officers today.

D. D. Stephens, deputy sheriff, said the family had not mentioned to him a story Mrs. Thornton E. Loudermilk told a reporter of receiving mysterious telephone calls during the past three weeks.

She said the telephone would ring, but no one would answer when she picked up the receiver. The last of the calls was Saturday about 6 p. m., while Jimmy was playing in the back yard. When she hung up, Jimmie was gone.

Deaf Mute Used "Foul Language"; Divorced By Mate

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Mrs. Doris Byars, 30, obtained a divorce today from the husband she testified "used language I never saw before."

Both she and the mate, Howard, 20, are deaf mutes. She told the Superior Court he always used "foul language" in conversing with her in sign language.

Mrs. Byars told her story to the court through in interpreter reading her hand signals. The divorce was granted on ground of cruelty.

Iran Charges U.S., British Meddling

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Iran charged Britain and the United States tonight with meddling in her internal affairs.

An official statement issued by the Iranian ambassador in London, at the same time, assured Britain that Iran has no intention of giving her oil to any other country nor of depriving Britain of its use.

The ambassador, Ali Soheily, said he was issuing his statement with the approval of his government to correct "a spate of inaccurate and tendentious reports in certain sections of the British press."

One of the five points he made was that "the 'exploratory' oil talks between British and American representatives in Washington cannot have any validity for Persia (Iran) and are considered by the Persians to be interference in their affairs."

Apprentices To Return

TEHRAN, Iran, April 16 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Azizollah Kamal, military governor of Iran's southern oil fields, said striking apprentices agreed today to return to work at the big refinery city of Abadan. They had been the spearhead of widespread strikes and rioting which last week took the lives of three Britons and eight Iranians.

Kamal said some of the 800 apprentices already were returning to the shops, ending their month-old strike against the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Abadan, scene of the world's largest oil refineries, was calm as fresh tanks and troops arrived to reinforce those already holding the city of 130,000 under strict curfew.

Motorist Runs Over Self With Own Car

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 16 (AP)—Police said it was pretty complex and they didn't know exactly how he did it but William R. Hedgepeth, 26, ran over himself with his own car.

Police said as near as they could figure out, Hedgepeth was backing his car, leaning out the open door. The rear wheel struck a curb, knocking him out. As he fell, he jerked the steering wheel and the left front wheel ran over him as he lay on the ground.

He was not seriously injured.

"General" Coxey Is 97

MASSILLON, O., April 16 (AP)—"General" Jacob S. Coxey, who led an army of unemployed to Washington in 1894, quietly observed his 97th birthday here today.

Yugoslavia Gets American Grant Of $29,000,000

Sum Will Be Used For Raw Materials

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The United States gave Yugoslavia a new $29,000,000 grant today to help Marshall Tito's Communist regime stand up against Soviet bloc pressure.

President Truman notified Congress he has authorized the diversion of this amount from arms aid funds to enable the Yugoslavs to import critically needed raw materials for its armed forces.

Hides for shoes, and cotton and wool for uniforms, are the most urgent needs, officials said. Some machine tools also may be provided, but no military equipment is included. Most of the supplies, officials said, would be obtained in the United States.

Arms Aid Request Pending

Yugoslavia has a request pending for arms assistance like that the United States is supplying other countries resisting threats from Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Mr. Truman announced the grant in a letter to chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs Committees. He explained that the drought of last year, which resulted in a recent $72,000,000 American gift of food, made is impossible for Yugoslavia to export farm products to pay for critical imports of raw materials.

Pact Nations Approve

"This development seriously affects the security of the North Atlantic area," he said.

Before the Chief Executive acted, the other North Atlantic pact countries were consulted and gave their assent to the use of aid funds for the purpose. Approval of Congress was not required, as under terms of the 1949 legislation the President was authorized to take such emergency action where the treaty countries agreed it was needed to cope with developments affecting the security of all.

Conference Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman will hold his weekly news conference this week at 4:30 p. m., (EST), Wednesday.

Truman Will Go On Air Minutes After MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Just by coincidence, President Truman will have a chance to tell the nation right off the bat what he thinks of Gen. MacArthur's address to Congress Thursday, if he wants to, that is.

The President will speak over nationwide radio and television networks just a few minutes after MacArthur quits talking over even bigger radio and TV lineups.

The double-barreled broadcasts seemed to assure one of the biggest national audiences in history.

But no one planned it that way. It's just that Mr. Truman has had a long-standing date to address the American Society of Newspaper Editors at 2 p. m. (EST) here Thursday. MacArthur is scheduled to start his speech about 12:30 p. m.

Nation To Give MacArthur Big Noisy Welcome

Bells, Whistles, Guns Will Mark His Return

[By The Associated Press]

Gen. Douglas MacArthur returns to his homeland today and his welcome is expected to be one of the biggest and noisiest in American history.

The ousted Far Eastern commander is due to step down from a trans-Pacific plane late in the day at San Francisco—the first time he has set foot in the United States in 14 years.

Even before his first footfall echoes across the nation, bells and whistles and guns and cannon will mark his return in many hamlets and cities.

New York Parade Friday

The keys of many cities are his for the asking as MacArthur then begins a cross-country air journey to Washington, where on Thursday he addresses a joint meeting of Congress shortly after 12:30 p. m., EST.

After that, on Friday, comes the biggest celebration of all—the traditional ticker-tape parade through the canyons of New York City.

San Francisco gives the five-star General his first big hero's welcome sometime Wednesday. It was postponed a day because he gets in after dark Tuesday.

Many communities off the route of MacArthur's return will mark his arrival in their own way.

Special prayers will be offered for the warrior General in many places.

Cincinnati To Celebrate

It will be "MacArthur Day" in Rotterdam, N. Y.

Whistles and horns will sound in the General's birthplace, Little Rock, Ark.

And flags will fly and factory whistles toot by proclamation of the mayor in San Antonio, Tex., where MacArthur went to high school.

Chicago, with a parade and noise-making ready, wants MacArthur to stop there en route east.

Noted Ballet Dancer And Teacher Dies

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (AP) — Adolph Bolm, one of the nation's greatest dancers and teachers of the ballet, died today at the age of 67.

His son, Olaf, said the internationally known dancer succumbed quietly in his sleep. Doctors said his heart "just stopped ticking."

Bolm danced and produced ballets in this country and in Europe for 45 years. His last appearance on the stage was in New York six years ago when he danced the role of the Blackamoor in Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." He was 60 years old then.

Plan To Keep Radio Contact During Air Attack Outlined

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—In the even of an enemy air attack you still would be able to receive instructions from civilian defense officials on your radio.

A plan to maintain radio contact with the public without enabling enemy bombers to use the broadcasts as homing beams was outlined to broadcasters by government officials today in a closed session.

It was part of a mobilization program at the annual convention of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Details of the plan were labelled classified. However, defense officials have disclosed that a key point in their overall planning is to prevent enemy planes from using electromagnetic radiation—including radio broadcasts—as navigation aids.

With modern electronics devices, planes can use the signals of a radio station in normal operation to pinpoint the location of the craft in the air.

The problem has been to devise a way of keeping radio contact with the public without giving the enemy the benefit of such a valuable navigation aid.

Otherwise all stations would have to go off the air and radio would be lost as a means of giving instructions to residents of an area under air attack or in danger of an attack. The plan outlined here was described as one that would accomplish both objectives effectively.

General Will Resume Flight To U. S. Today

Entourage Visits Military Cemetery

HONOLULU, April 16 (AP)—Hawaii gave Gen. MacArthur a hero's welcome today on American soil.

It was the first unfolding of America's public fanfare for the General on his flying return home to present his side of the Asiatic policy controversy before Congress Thursday.

The five-star General, relieved from his commands by President Truman, was paraded in Honolulu through crowded streets this evening.

It started more than 12 hours after he arrived with his party by plane from Tokyo where he got a sendoff ovation from the Japanese people and the Allied forces.

Tomorrow he flies on to San Francisco, returning to an American mainland he hasn't seen in 14 years, there he is to be publicly acclaimed Wednesday. Then he proceeds to Washington where he will address a joint meeting of Congress Thursday at 12:30 p.m. (EST).

Pays Tribute To War Dead

His first stop on this afternoon's public appearance was at the Punchbowl National Cemetery. There he placed a wreath in honor of its heroic dead.

The cemetery contains the bodies of men who died in World War II, including some of those who perished in the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack Dec. 7, 1941.

The seven-mile route from Pearl Harbor into the outskirts of Honolulu was lined with cheering men, women and children.

"Here he is! There he is!" the Hawaiian mixed populace shouted.

Gen. MacArthur and his Hawaiian host, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Commander, rode in the first car.

Mrs. MacArthur, 13-year-old Arthur MacArthur and Mrs. Radford were in the next car.

Guardsmen Flank Drive

The public demonstration was the first of many to be accorded the 71-year-old veteran of a half century in the Army. Others await him in San Francisco, Washington and New York.

Hawaiian National Guardsmen flanked the winding drive into the Punchbowl, an extinct crater where more than 13,000 World War II dead are buried.

The General stepped out of his car and walked firmly toward the flagpole. He held an orchid wreath in his right hand.

He stooped and carefully placed it at the foot of a flagpole. Then he stepped back. Rigidly erect, he saluted, then looked up at the American colors stirring slightly in the warm, soft Hawaiian breeze.

MacArthur and Adm. Radford remained at attention for a minute.

Mrs. MacArthur, wearing a red polka dot dress and carrying orchids, was an interested witness of the brief ceremony and of the nearby scene—overlooking the Pacific.

Radio Stations Win Court Fight

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Supreme Court today let stand a lower court decision that radio stations may censor speeches made for political candidates.

Both sides in the hotly disputed case agreed the issue vitally affects the conduct of political campaigns and freedom of speech. There was no argument involved as to speeches by candidates themselves; federal law says stations may not censor their speeches.

The high court gave no formal opinions today but in brief orders it also:

1. By a 6-3 vote decided to let stand a decision that investigating state legislative committees may compel a witness to say whether he is a Communist. The high court's action apparently leaves states with broad powers to investigate Communistic activities.

Lower courts have held a witness in federal proceedings may decline to answer questions as to Communist membership on the grounds he might incriminate himself.

2. Let stand, by refusing to review, a decision upholding New York state's Sunday observance law. Two Jewish citizens attacked the law as a violation of their religious rights.

LeBlanc Seeks "Mac"

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Dudley J. LeBlanc, Democratic state senator from Louisiana, said today he had offered Gen. MacArthur $150,000 a year to serve as vice-president of the Senator's Hadacol firm.

Crumpacker (R-Ind) introduced a resolution for the removal of both Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The resolutions were referred to committees. No early action was in prospect.

All told, MacArthur's scheduled visit was stirring up almost as much excitement as the inauguration of a new president. Members of Congress were swamped with requests for tickets to the House gallery for the General's speech. The Statler Hotel dusted off its plush presidential suite for MacArthur.

Five Prison Escapees Caught In Dragnet

CAPRON, Va., April 16 (AP)—State police tonight reported the apprehension of the 15 prisoners who escaped from the state prison farm here last night through an open dormitory window.

The men were captured shortly after 10:30 p. m. by State Trooper R. B. Crowder as they were riding in an automobile on U. S. Route 60 at boulevard in New Kent County.

The escapees, all young white men, are believed to have escaped between 10 and 11 p. m. by sawing three lightweight iron bars in a window on the first floor of a dormitory building.

Pickets' "Human Carpet" Results In Their Arrest

DANVILLE, Va., April 16 (AP)—Twenty picketing strikers were arrested by police here today and charged with forming a "human carpet" to prevent non-striking workers at Dan River Mills from going to their jobs.

Those arrested included the president of the Virginia CIO Council, the Rev. Charles Webber, Richmond. All were members of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), which has been on strike at the mills since April 1.

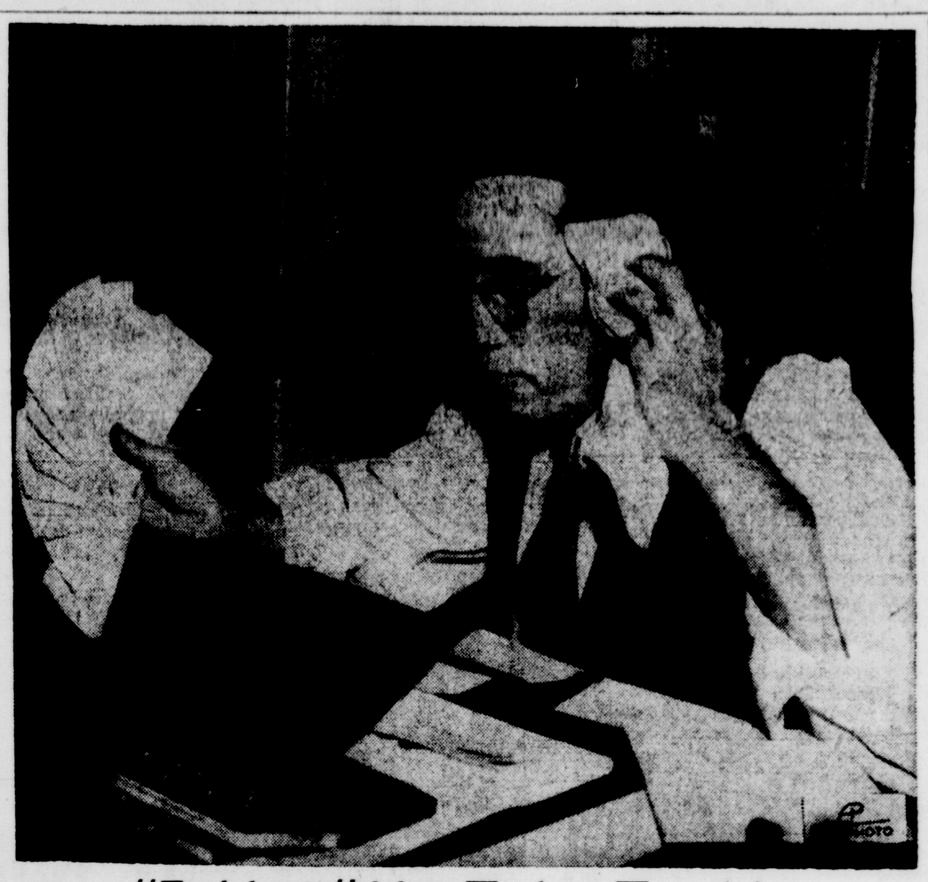
Hearings for the arrested men will be held May 8. Specifically they are charged with "interfering with free ingress to the premises of Dan River Mills" in violation of Virginia's "right to work" law.

Police charge the pickets staged a "laydown" at the three gates to the mill last night in an effort to prevent workers from entering the gates with their cars.

The union claimed today the demonstration was "spontaneous" and not a planned affair.

State troopers and police moved in quickly last night as the pickets placed newspapers on the driveway into the gates and lay down in a "human carpet." Other pickets sang "I shall not, I shall not be moved...."

Police said as they approached some of the prone pickets hopped up and were lost in the crowd while others had to be hauled to their feet by officers and placed in a waiting police patrol wagon.



"Fishbait" Has Ticket Troubles

William "Fishbait" Miller, doorkeeper of the House of Representatives, tries to figure out who's going to get gallery tickets for Gen. MacArthur's congressional address Thursday. Miller has been deluged with so many requests that he's reached this conclusion: "I probably will have no friends when this is over."

Russia Reports Latest Five-Year Plan Successful

Production Upped By 73% Over 1940

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Russia declared tonight she had successfully completed her latest five-year plan for industrial expansion and boosted production by 73 per cent over 1940.

The Moscow radio broadcast the Soviet announcement.

While it did not claim success in every field of production, it said "the most important tasks of the plan have been considerably exceeded."

Russia said her target for boosting industrial production over the prewar figures during the 1946-50 period had been 48 per cent.

The broadcast also said the plan had been completed in four years and three months, rather than the five years it was expected to take.

Steel Target Figure Exceeded

Even in the single year of 1950, the target for production was surpassed by 17 per cent, the radio declared.

In the war-important steel industry, the Russians listed three categories in which they said they had exceeded production estimates.

Total iron and steel production had gone up by 45 per cent instead of the target figure of 35 per cent.

Pig iron production was reported up 29 per cent, smelting of steel 49 per cent and production of rolled metal 59 per cent.

The broadcast verified reports that much of Soviet industry has been concentrated in the eastern part of the Soviet Union. It said pig iron production in the Urals had been boosted 160 per cent over 1940 and gave various percentages for increased iron and steel production in Siberia.

Industry Rebuilt In South

"Production of iron and steel has been organized in Transcaucasia and Central Asia," it added.

In the war-ravaged south, Russia said, the metal industry had been completely rebuilt and "is giving more metal than before the war."

In spite of the production boosts, however, "the production of ferrous metals and especially certain kinds of rolled metal is lagging behind the increased demands of the national economy," the radio said.

Child's Disappearance Puzzles Authorities

TAMPA, Fla., April 16 (AP)—The three-day disappearance of Jimmie Loudermilk, aged 2, believed by his mother to have been kidnaped, puzzled officers today.

D. D. Stephens, deputy sheriff, said the family had not mentioned to him a story Mrs. Thornton E. Loudermilk told a reporter of receiving mysterious telephone calls during the past three weeks.

She said the telephone would ring, but no one would answer when she picked up the receiver. The last of the calls was Saturday about 6 p. m., while Jimmy was playing in the back yard. When she hung up, Jimmie was gone.

Deaf Mute Used "Foul Language"; Divorced By Mate

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Mrs. Doris Byars, 30, obtained a divorce today from the husband she testified "used language I never saw before."

Both she and the mate, Howard, 20, are deaf mutes. She told the Superior Court he always used "foul language" in conversing with her in sign language.

Mrs. Byars told her story to the court through an interpreter reading her hand signals. The divorce was granted on ground of cruelty.

Iran Charges U.S., British Meddling

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Iran charged Britain and the United States tonight with meddling in her internal affairs.

An official statement issued by the Iranian ambassador in London, at the same time, assured Britain that Iran has no intention of giving her oil to any other country nor of depriving Britain of its use.

The ambassador, Ali Soheily, said he was issuing his statement with the approval of his government to correct "a spate of inaccurate and tendentious reports in certain sections of the British press."

One of the five points he made was that "the 'exploratory' oil talks between British and American representatives in Washington cannot have any validity for Persia (Iran) and are considered by the Persians to be interference in their affairs."

Apprentices To Return

TEHRAN, Iran, April 16 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Azizollah Kamal, military governor of Iran's southern oil fields, said striking apprentices agreed today to return to work at the big refinery city of Abadan. They had been the spearhead of widespread strikes and rioting which last week took the lives of three Britons and eight Iranians.

Kamal said some of the 800 apprentices already were returning to the shops, ending their month-old strike against the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

Abadan, scene of the world's largest oil refineries, was calm as fresh tanks and troops arrived to reinforce those already holding the city of 130,000 under strict curfew.

Motorist Runs Over Self With Own Car

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 16 (AP)—Police said it was pretty complex and they didn't know exactly how he did it but William R. Hedgepeth, 26, ran over himself with his own car.

Police said as near as they could figure out, Hedgepeth was backing his car, leaning out the open door. The rear wheel struck a curb, knocking him out. As he fell, he jerked the steering wheel and the left front wheel ran over him as he lay on the ground.

He was not seriously injured.

Yugoslavia Gets American Grant Of $29,000,000

Sum Will Be Used For Raw Materials

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The United States gave Yugoslavia a new $29,000,000 grant today to help Marshall Tito's Communist regime stand up against Soviet bloc pressure.

President Truman notified Congress he has authorized the diversion of this amount from arms aid funds to enable the Yugoslavs to import critically needed raw materials for its armed forces.

Hides for shoes, and cotton and wool for uniforms, are the most urgent needs, officials said. Some machine tools also may be provided, but no military equipment is included. Most of the supplies, officials said, would be obtained in the United States.

Arms Aid Request Pending

Yugoslavia has a request pending for arms assistance like that the United States is supplying other countries resisting threats from Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Mr. Truman announced the grant in a letter to chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs Committees. He explained that the drought of last year, which resulted in a recent $72,000,000 American gift of food, made is impossible for Yugoslavia to export farm products to pay for critical imports of raw materials.

Pact Nations Approve

"This development seriously affects the security of the North Atlantic area," he said.

Before the Chief Executive acted, the other North Atlantic pact countries were consulted and gave their assent to the use of aid funds for the purpose. Approval of Congress was not required, as under terms of the 1949 legislation the President was authorized to take such emergency action where the treaty countries agreed it was needed to cope with developments affecting the security of all.

Conference Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman will hold his weekly news conference this week at 4:30 p. m., (EST), Wednesday.

Truman Will Go On Air Minutes After MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Just by coincidence, President Truman will have a chance to tell the nation right off the bat what he thinks of Gen. MacArthur's address to Congress Thursday. If he wants to, that is.

The President will speak over nationwide radio and television networks just a few minutes after MacArthur quits talking over even bigger radio and TV lineups.

The double-barreled broadcasts seemed to assure one of the biggest national audiences in history.

But no one planned it that way. It's just that Mr. Truman has had a long-standing date to address the American Society of Newspaper Editors at 2 p. m. (EST) here Thursday. MacArthur is scheduled to start his speech about 12:30 p. m.

Nation To Give MacArthur Big Noisy Welcome

Bells, Whistles, Guns Will Mark His Return

By The Associated Press

Gen. Douglas MacArthur returns to his homeland today and his welcome is expected to be one of the biggest and noisiest in American history.

The ousted Far Eastern commander is due to step down from a trans-Pacific plane late in the day at San Francisco—the first time he has set foot in the United States in 14 years.

Even before his first footfall echoes across the nation, bells and whistles and guns and cannon will mark his return in many hamlets and cities.

New York Parade Friday

The keys of many cities are his for the asking as MacArthur then begins a cross-country air journey to Washington, where on Thursday he addresses a joint meeting of Congress shortly after 12:30 p. m., EST.

After that, on Friday, comes the biggest celebration of all—the traditional ticker-tape parade through the canyons of New York City.

San Francisco gives the five-star General his first big hero's welcome sometime Wednesday. It was postponed a day because he gets in after dark Tuesday.

Many communities off the route of MacArthur's return will mark his arrival in their own way.

Special prayers will be offered for the warrior General in many places.

Cincinnati To Celebrate

Bells are to toll and whistles to blow in his honor in Cincinnati.

It will be "MacArthur Day" in Rotterdam, N. Y.

Whistles and horns will sound in the General's birthplace, Little Rock, Ark.

And flags will fly and factory whistles toot by proclamation of the mayor in San Antonio, Tex., where MacArthur went to high school.

Chicago, with a parade and noise-making ready, wants MacArthur to stop there en route east.

Noted Ballet Dancer And Teacher Dies

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (AP)—Adolph Bolm, one of the nation's greatest dancers and teachers of the ballet, died today at the age of 67.

His son, Olaf, said the internationally known dancer succumbed quietly in his sleep. Doctors said his heart "just stopped ticking."

Bolm danced and produced ballets in this country and in Europe for 45 years. His last appearance on the stage was in New York six years ago when he danced the role of the Blackamoor in Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." He was 60 years old then.

General Will Resume Flight To U. S. Today

Entourage Visits Military Cemetery

HONOLULU, April 16 (AP)—Hawaii gave Gen. MacArthur a hero's welcome today on American soil.

It was the first unfolding of America's public fanfare for the General on his flying return home to present his side of the Asiatic policy controversy before Congress Thursday.

The five-star General, relieved from his commands by President Truman, was paraded in Honolulu through crowded streets this evening.

It started more than 12 hours after he arrived with his party by plane from Tokyo where he got a sendoff ovation from the Japanese people and the Allied forces.

Tomorrow he flies on to San Francisco, returning to an American mainland he hasn't seen in 14 years, there he is to be publicly acclaimed Wednesday. Then he proceeds to Washington where he will address a joint meeting of Congress Thursday at 12:30 p. m. (EST).

Pays Tribute To War Dead

His first stop on this afternoon's public appearance was at the Punchbowl National Cemetery. There he placed a wreath in honor of its heroic dead.

The cemetery contains the bodies of men who died in World War II, including some of those who perished in the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack Dec. 7, 1941.

The seven-mile route from Pearl Harbor into the outskirts of Honolulu was lined with cheering men, women and children.

"Here he is! There he is!" the Hawaiian mixed populace shouted.

Gen. MacArthur and his Hawaiian host, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Commander, rode in the first car.

Mrs. MacArthur, 16-year-old Arthur MacArthur and Mrs. Radford were in the next car.

Guardsmen Flank Drive

The public demonstration was the first of many to be accorded the 71-year-old veteran of a half century in the Army. Others await him in San Francisco, Washington and New York.

Hawaiian National Guardsmen flanked the winding drive into the Punchbowl, an extinct crater where more than 13,000 World War II dead are buried.

The General stepped out of his car and walked firmly toward the flagpole. He held an orchid wreath in his right hand.

He stooped and carefully placed it at the foot of a flagpole. Then he stepped back. Rigidly erect, he saluted, then looked up at the American colors stirring slightly in the warm, soft Hawaiian breeze.

MacArthur and Adm. Radford remained at attention for a minute.

Mrs. MacArthur, wearing a red polka dot dress and carrying orchids, was an interested witness of the brief ceremony and of the nearby scene—overlooking the Pacific.

Radio Stations Win Court Fight

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Supreme Court today let stand a lower court decision that radio stations may censor speeches made for political candidates.

Both sides in the hotly disputed case agreed the issue vitally affects the conduct of political campaigns and freedom of speech. There was no argument involved as to speeches by candidates themselves; federal law says stations may not censor their speeches.

The high court gave no formal opinions today but in brief orders it also:

1. By a 6-3 vote decided to let stand a decision that investigating state legislative committees may compel a witness to say whether he is a Communist. The high court's action apparently leaves states with broad powers to investigate Communistic activities.

Lower courts have held a witness in federal proceedings may decline to answer questions as to Communist membership on the grounds he might incriminate himself.

2. Let stand, by refusing to review, a decision upholding New York state's Sunday observance law. Two Jewish citizens attacked the law as a violation of their religious rights.

LeBlanc Seeks "Mac"

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Dudley J. LeBlanc, Democratic state senator from Louisiana, said today he had offered Gen. MacArthur $150,000 a year to serve as vice-president of the Senator's Hadacol firm.

Plan To Keep Radio Contact During Air Attack Outlined

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—In the even of an enemy air attack you still would be able to receive instructions from civilian defense officials on your radio.

A plan to maintain radio contact with the public without enabling enemy bombers to use the broadcasts as homing beams was outlined to broadcasters by government officials today in a closed session.

It was part of a mobilization program at the annual convention of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Details of the plan were labelled classified. However, defense officials have disclosed that a key point in their overall planning is to prevent enemy planes from using electromagnetic radiation—including radio broadcasts—as navigation aids.

With modern electronics devices, planes can use the signals of a radio station in normal operation to pinpoint the location of the craft in the air.

The problem has been to devise a way of keeping radio contact with the public without giving the enemy the benefit of such a valuable navigation aid.

Otherwise all stations would have to go off the air and radio would be lost as a means of giving instructions to residents of an area under air attack or in danger of an attack. The plan outlined here was described as one that would accomplish both objectives effectively.

Reds Continue Slow Retreat

Enemy Troops Continue Smoke Screen Tactics

Communists Give Up Yonchon In West

TOKYO, Tuesday, April 17 (AP)—A smoke screen pall rolled up over a 300-square mile area today in Central Korea where Chinese Reds set fires in efforts to mask what may be either a withdrawal or an impending attack.

A southerly wind at times opened clear spots in the smoke blanket. Allied planes bombed and strafed these openings in support of advancing United Nations troops.

The protecting blanket of enemy-made smoke rolled up over an area about 30 miles wide and 10 miles deep.

The smoke pall extended 15 miles northwest of Yanggu, one of the latest towns inside Red Korea to fall to the advancing Allies.

In Western Korea, the town of Yonchon on the road to Chorwon was abandoned by the Reds. Allied troops had not yet occupied it but held high ground on all sides.

New Censorship Rules

Rigid new censorship regulations ordered by the new supreme Allied commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, forbade all references to the size and location of Chinese and North Korean Reds.

The Reds, however, continued their slow retreat. For the third straight day the Communists burned smudge pots and set forests ablaze to screen their positions from devastating Allied air and artillery attacks.

It was the same device the Chinese used last November to hide their dispositions before slamming into United Nations forces in Northwest Korea.

Chinese and North Koreans lost two key towns and some valuable real estate on the east central front in a two-day fight ending Monday.

Yanggu, six miles north of the 38th parallel and at the eastern tip of the strategic Hwachon reservoir, fell first to Allied tanks and infantry. Then Red units yielded Yachon, on a parallel road three miles northeast of battered Yanggu.

Reds Cling To Dam

The capture of Yanggu eliminated the last Communist pocket on the south shores of the Hwachon reservoir. It ripped up the eastern anchor point for Red lines which had used the 11-mile long lake as a formidable water obstacle against the Allies.

Yanggu was the key to a major Communist buildup area in this sector which now was eliminated.

Eleven miles southeast of Yanggu, South Korean troops drove North Korean troops out of ridges above captured Inje. The heights dominated an important road running eastward to the coast.

The Communists, however, clung desperately to the 275-foot high Hwachon dam on the western end of the reservoir. They fought bitterly against Allied patrols probing toward the town of Hwachon itself.

President's Aide To Greet M'Arthur At Capital Airport

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughn will represent President Truman at the Washington National Airport when Gen. Douglas MacArthur arrives here.

This was announced today by Presidential Press Secretary Joseph Short. Vaughn is the President's Army aide.

Gen. Vaughan and Gen. MacArthur are not strangers.

Vaughn served under MacArthur in Australia. Gen. MacArthur went there to set up headquarters after the fall of the Philippines early in the war with Japan.

Reds, Predicting Victory, Demand U. N. Quit Korea

Assembly, Council Heads Get Cables

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., April 15 (AP)—North Korea, boasting that the Communists are sure to win, demanded today that the United Nations get out of Korea.

In identical cables to Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, president of the General Assembly, and to Holland's Daniel Von Balluseck, president of the Security Council, it also demanded that the U. N. punish what it called "monstrous American atrocities."

It made no mention of the presence of Chinese Communist troops in Korea.

This was the 18th such communication received from North Korean Foreign Minister Pak Hen En. The previous cables have been shrugged off by unimpressed U. N. delegations and officials. The same fate probably awaits this one.

A close comparison with the 17 previous communications—the first dated June 28 and the last Feb. 11—shows no modification in the Red position which might indicate any intention of negotiating peace in good faith.

These newest demands were drafted after the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur and give no evidence that this action influenced the Reds in any way.

Veto Of Harpers Ferry Shrine Bill Is Urged

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 16 (AP) — Maryland's Board of Natural Resources declared today it's still against giving up land for a Harpers Ferry national monument.

A measure authorizing the state to buy some 700 acres for the shrine honoring John Brown, the fiery abolitionist, passed the General Assembly.

The board previously had opposed acquiring land for the monument. It decided today to remind Gov. McKeldin and ask him to veto the act.

Bar Unit Urges Anti-Crime Laws

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—A special commission of the American Bar Association recommended today that the Senate's Crime Investigating Committee be kept alive to press for legislation to cure the evils it has exposed.

Former Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, chairman of the commission, said the group thinks the time is ripe to get effective laws passed.

He added, however, that the commission believes further investigations and hearings are unnecessary, and that the proposed extension of the committee's life should be limited.

Patterson talked with reporters after he and other members of the commission had met for several hours with crime committee members behind closed doors.

The commission was appointed by the bar association at its annual convention here last September and has been cooperating with the Senate committee in working out measures to combat crime.

One of the Senate crime probers, Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo), told newsmen earlier he favors twice-a-year public hearings to turn a spotlight on the underworld and to keep law enforcement officials on their toes.

Plans To Hear "Mac" Rushed By Congress

GOP Senators Call For Policy Probe

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—Congress whipped through formal arrangements today for Gen. Douglas MacArthur to tell his story to a joint meeting—and by radio and television to the nation—shortly after 12:30 p. m., (EST), Thursday.

And Senate Republicans, voicing delight at the prospect of hearing MacArthur, called unanimously for an all-out congressional investigation of the Truman administration's foreign and military policies.

GOP objections to the Truman program mounted to a roar of protest with the President's dismissal of MacArthur last week, and the deposed General's flight to Washington (he's due here early Thursday) fanned the flames of controversy to a new peak.

A kind of "MacArthur fever" swept the capital today. It brought these developments:

House Agrees To Meeting

1—The House agreed unanimously to a joint meeting with the Senate to hear the General on Thursday. Senate agreement to move into the House chamber for the speech is just another formality. It will be voted on tomorrow.

2—Thirty-three Senate Republicans agreed at a closed meeting to back the proposed investigation of Truman policies all over the world "in the light of Gen. MacArthur's dismissal." Backers of the movement said they had a two-house inquiry in mind.

3—Mr. Truman assigned his military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to meet MacArthur at National Airport. It looked as if the President would not see MacArthur unless the General asked for an appointment, and the White House said he hasn't asked for one yet.

4—Plans were rushed for a big civic reception at the Washington Monument. MacArthur messaged the committee that he would be "proud and happy" to take part.

General Willing To Testify

5—MacArthur also wired that he would be willing to testify before the Senate Armed Services Committee some time after his appearance at the joint session. The House Armed Services Committee promptly voted to ask the General to appear before it as well.

In addition, Rep. Adair (R-Ind) introduced a resolution calling for the dismissal of Dean Acheson as secretary of state. And Rep. Bakewell (R-Mo) offered one to give MacArthur a special medal. Rep. Crumpacker (R-Ind) introduced a resolution for the removal of both Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall.

The resolutions were referred to committees. No early action was in prospect.

All told, MacArthur's scheduled visit was stirring up almost as much excitement as the inauguration of a new president. Members of Congress were swamped with requests for tickets to the House gallery for the General's speech. The Statler Hotel dusted off its plush presidential suite for MacArthur.

Russia Reports Latest Five-Year Plan Successful

Production Upped By 73% Over 1940

LONDON, April 16 (AP)—Russia declared tonight she had successfully completed her latest five-year plan for industrial expansion and boosted production by 73 per cent over 1940.

Yugoslavia Gets American Grant Of $29,000,000

Sum Will Be Used For Raw Materials

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The United States gave Yugoslavia a new $29,000,000 grant today to help Marshall Tito's Communist regime stand up against Soviet bloc pressure.

President Truman notified Congress he has authorized the diversion of this amount from arms aid funds to enable the Yugoslavs to import critically needed raw materials for its armed forces.

Hides for shoes, and cotton and wool for uniforms, are the most urgent needs, officials said. Some machine tools also may be provided, but no military equipment is included. Most of the supplies, officials said, would be obtained in the United States.

Arms Aid Request Pending

Yugoslavia has a request pending for arms assistance like that the United States is supplying other countries resisting threats from Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Mr. Truman announced the grant in a letter to chairmen of the Senate and House Armed Services and Foreign Affairs Committees. He explained that the drought of last year, which resulted in a recent $72,000,000 American gift of food, made is impossible for Yugoslavia to export farm products to pay for critical imports of raw materials.

Pact Nations Approve

"This development seriously affects the security of the North Atlantic area," he said.

Before the Chief Executive acted, the other North Atlantic pact countries were consulted and gave their assent to the use of aid funds for the purpose. Approval of Congress was not required, as under terms of the 1949 legislation the President was authorized to take such emergency action where the treaty countries agreed it was needed to cope with developments affecting the security of all.

Conference Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman will hold his weekly news conference this week at 4:30 p. m., (EST), Wednesday.

Truman Will Go On Air Minutes After MacArthur

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — Just by coincidence, President Truman will have a chance to tell the nation right off the bat what he thinks of Gen. MacArthur's address to Congress Thursday, if he wants to, that is.

The President will speak over nationwide radio and television networks just a few minutes after MacArthur quits talking over even bigger radio and TV lineups.

The double-barreled broadcasts seemed to assure one of the biggest national audiences in history.

But no one planned it that way. It's just that Mr. Truman has had a long-standing date to address the American Society of Newspaper Editors at 2 p. m. (EST) here Thursday. MacArthur is scheduled to start his speech about 12:30 p. m.

Nation To Give MacArthur Big Noisy Welcome

Bells, Whistles, Guns Will Mark His Return

[By The Associated Press]

Gen. Douglas MacArthur returns to his homeland today and his welcome is expected to be one of the biggest and noisiest in American history.

The ousted Far Eastern commander is due to step down from a trans-Pacific plane late in the day at San Francisco—the first time he has set foot in the United States in 14 years.

Even before his first footfall echoes across the nation, bells and whistles and guns and cannon will mark his return in many hamlets and cities.

New York Parade Friday

The keys of many cities are his for the asking as MacArthur then begins a cross-country air journey to Washington, where on Thursday he addresses a joint meeting of Congress shortly after 12:30 p. m., EST.

After that, on Friday, comes the biggest celebration of all—the traditional ticker-tape parade through the canyons of New York City.

San Francisco gives the five-star General his first big hero's welcome sometime Wednesday. It was postponed a day because he gets in after dark Tuesday.

Many communities off the route of MacArthur's return will mark his arrival in their own way.

Special prayers will be offered for the warrior General in many places.

Cincinnati To Celebrate

Bells are to toll and whistles to blow in his honor in Cincinnati.

It will be "MacArthur Day" in Rotterdam, N. Y.

Whistles and horns will sound in the General's birthplace, Little Rock, Ark.

And flags will fly and factory whistles toot by proclamation of the mayor in San Antonio, Tex., where MacArthur went to high school.

Chicago, with a parade and noise-making ready, wants MacArthur to stop there en route east.

Noted Ballet Dancer And Teacher Dies

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (AP) — Adolph Bolm, one of the nation's greatest dancers and teachers of the ballet, died today at the age of 67.

His son, Olaf, said the internationally known dancer succumbed quietly in his sleep. Doctors said his heart "just stopped ticking."

Bolm danced and produced ballets in this country and in Europe for 45 years. His last appearance on the stage was in New York six years ago when he danced the role of the Blackamoor in Stravinsky's "Petrouchka." He was 60 years old then.

General Will Resume Flight To U. S. Today

Entourage Visits Military Cemetery

HONOLULU, April 16 (AP)—Hawaii gave Gen. MacArthur a hero's welcome today on American soil.

It was the first unfolding of America's public fanfare for the General on his flying return home to present his side of the Asiatic policy controversy before Congress Thursday.

The five-star General, relieved from his commands by President Truman, was paraded in Honolulu through crowded streets this evening.

It started more than 12 hours after he arrived with his party by plane from Tokyo where he got a sendoff ovation from the Japanese people and the Allied forces.

Tomorrow he flies on to San Francisco, returning to an American mainland he hasn't seen in 14 years, there he is to be publicly acclaimed Wednesday. Then he proceeds to Washington where he will address a joint meeting of Congress Thursday at 12:30 p. m. (EST).

Pays Tribute To War Dead

His first stop on this afternoon's public appearance was at the Punchbowl National Cemetery. There he placed a wreath in honor of its heroic dead.

The cemetery contains the bodies of men who died in World War II, including some of those who perished in the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack Dec. 7, 1941.

The seven-mile route from Pearl Harbor into the outskirts of Honolulu was lined with cheering men, women and children.

"Here he is! There he is!" the Hawaiian mixed populace shouted.

Gen. MacArthur and his Hawaiian host, Adm. Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Commander, rode in the first car.

Mrs. MacArthur, 18-year-old Arthur MacArthur and Mrs. Radford were in the next car.

Guardsmen Flank Drive

The public demonstration was the first of many to be accorded the 71-year-old veteran of a half century in the Army. Others await him in San Francisco, Washington and New York.

Hawaiian National Guardsmen flanked the winding drive into the Punchbowl, an extinct crater where more than 13,000 World War II dead are buried.

The General stepped out of his car and walked firmly toward the flagpole. He held an orchid wreath in his right hand.

He stooped and carefully placed it at the foot of a flagpole. Then he stepped back. Rigidly erect, he saluted, then looked up at the American colors stirring slightly in the warm, soft Hawaiian breeze.

MacArthur and Adm. Radford remained at attention for a minute.

Mrs. MacArthur, wearing a red polka dot dress and carrying orchids, was an interested witness of the brief ceremony and of the nearby scene—overlooking the Pacific.

Radio Stations Win Court Fight

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Supreme Court today let stand a lower court decision that radio stations may censor speeches made for political candidates.

Both sides in the hotly disputed case agreed the issue vitally affects the conduct of political campaigns and freedom of speech. There was no argument involved as to speeches by candidates themselves; federal law says stations may not censor their speeches.

The high court gave no formal opinions today but in brief orders it also:

1. By a 6-3 vote decided to let stand a decision that investigating state legislative committees may compel a witness to say whether he is a Communist. The high court's action apparently leaves states with broad powers to investigate Communistic activities.

Lower courts have held a witness in federal proceedings may decline to answer questions as to Communist membership on the grounds he might incriminate himself.

2. Let stand, by refusing to review, a decision upholding New York state's Sunday observance law. Two Jewish citizens attacked the law as a violation of their religious rights.

LeBlanc Seeks "Mac"

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—Dudley J. LeBlanc, Democratic state senator from Louisiana, said today he had offered Gen. MacArthur $150,000 a year to serve as vice-president of the Senator's Hadacol firm.

Plan To Keep Radio Contact During Air Attack Outlined

CHICAGO, April 16 (AP)—In the even of an enemy air attack you still would be able to receive instructions from civilian defense officials on your radio.

A plan to maintain radio contact with the public without enabling enemy bombers to use the broadcasts as homing beams was outlined to broadcasters by government officials today in a closed session.

It was part of a mobilization program at the annual convention of the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters.

Details of the plan were labelled classified. However, defense officials have disclosed that a key point in their overall planning is to prevent enemy planes from using electromagnetic radiation—including radio broadcasts—as navigation aids.

With modern electronics devices, planes can use the signals of a radio station in normal operation to pinpoint the location of the craft in the air.

The problem has been to devise a way of keeping radio contact with the public without giving the enemy the benefit of such a valuable navigation aid.

Otherwise all stations would have to go off the air and radio would be lost as a means of giving instructions to residents of an area under air attack or in danger of an attack. The plan outlined here was described as one that would accomplish both objectives effectively.

Truman Believes Nation On Right Road To Peace

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — President Truman told the Daughters of the American Revolution tonight he believes the United States has taken the right road to peace by checking aggression in Korea and building defense in Europe.

Welcoming the DAR to Washington for their 60th continental congress, he said "we hope that we and other free nations have checked the first naked military assault of Communist imperialism" in Korea.

"Elsewhere, particularly in Europe, the united free nations are building their defenses at a rate which we trust will discouage further Communist attack," Mr. Truman continued.

"By meeting the assault with fortitude, by continuing calmly and steadfastly to mobilize the forces of freedom, we have taken, I believe, the one road that can lead to a lasting peace. I know that we can continue on our course with confidence in the rightness of assuming these responsibilities."

The President's words were contained in a traditional letter of greeting written March 24 to Mrs. James B. Patton, president general of the DAR, and released by the patriotic organization tonight.

Although they were put down before the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far Eastern commands, they served in a sense to restate the President's position on the controversial question of America's Far Eastern policy.

Members of the DAR board of management, who have invited MacArthur to address the organization when he comes to Washington this week, are reported to have voiced approval of MacArthur's policies and to have frowned on his ouster. They have taken no official action on the question, however, beyond asking the General to talk to them.

Caskie Sent To Prison For Hit-And-Run Death

BALTIMORE, April 16 (AP)—John James Kerr Caskie, Jr., who sometimes drank three quarts of whiskey a day, was sentenced today to two years in prison for the hit-and-run death of a Baltimore policeman.

The 29-year-old gentleman farmer, formerly from Warrenton, Va., was described in court as a spoiled and undisciplined child of wealth.

Patrolman Roland Morgan was killed at a street intersection on the north edge of Baltimore January 4 by a hit-and-run station wagon. Baltimore County police found the damaged station wagon a few hours later at a tavern in the Hunt Country. They arrested Caskie there, still drunk.

Water Hemlock, Not Wild Parsnips, Fatal To Three

COEBURN, Va., April 16 (AP)—Three doctors and an amateur botanist agreed here today it was water hemlock—not wild parsnips—which caused the death yesterday of three Coeburn children.

Water hemlock, a plant of the carrot family, is a poisonous herb. The children died within 4½ hours after eating some of the herb while playing near their homes.

A triple funeral service will be held at the Coeburn Church of God tomorrow for the three dead children—Mumford Smith, 11; Kenneth Jordan, 9; and Judy Jordan, 7.

Southern Textile Mills Up Wages

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Announcement of a two per cent wage increase by two big mills today brought angry charges from leaders of the southern textile strike.

The wage increases were announced by the Dan River Mills of Danville, Va., and the Springs Cotton Mills of Lancaster, S. C. Dan River is one of the nearly 50 companies involved in the southern textile strike of about 41,000 cotton and rayon workers in six states.

The Spring mills chain, which operates seven plants with about 14,000 workers in South Carolina, is not directly affected by the strike. The Spring workers are not unionized.

Emil Rieve, the national president of the striking Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, issued a statement from strike headquarters here attacking the Dan River and Springs Mills raise.

The TWUA has demanded a wage increase of 13 cents an hour, bringing the minimum for the South to $1.14½ an hour.

Rieve said the two per cent raise was a final installment of a wage increase that was due last September rather than an effort to meet current needs of the textile employes.

About 74 per cent of passenger cars in the United States are owned by families with less than $5,000 annual income.

U. S. Chides Belgium For Defense Laxness

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 16 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Robert D. Murphy chided Belgium tonight, indicating the United States expects this country to make a greater rearmament effort.

Murphy, in careful phrases, also indicated a U. S. feeling that the Belgians are not trying hard enough to pevent strategic materials from getting to Soviet Russia and its satellites.

He spoke at a banquet of a flemish businessmen's association. Commenting on his recent trip to Washington, Murphy told the Belgians:

"x x x x There was, quite frankly, doubt that Belgium is making a contribution to Atlantic defense proportionate to its wealth and resources. While some countries are devoting percentages of their gross national product up to 19 per cent for defense purposes, Belgium is spending only about five per cent."

Meyers Is Jailed For Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, April 16 (AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, former Air Force major general, was sentenced today to his second prison term growing out of the double life he led during the last war.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman ordered him confined for a year and a day and fined him $15,000 for evading $61,400 in income taxes.

Meyers pleaded guilty to two indictments covering the six years from 1941 through 1946.

The Air Force career man looked leaner and much grayer than when he was sentenced in 1948 to from 20 months to five years for inducing a former business associate to lie to a Senate investigating committee.

He was paroled last Feb. 1, after serving three years less one month in the federal reformatory at Lorton, Va., and was arrested immediately on the income tax charges.

Meyers was top purchasing agent for the Air Force in Washington and at Wright-Patterson Field near Dayton, O., during World War II.

It was developed by a Senate investigating committee that he also was the hidden owner and operator of the Aviation Electric Co., at Vandalia, O., which worked on extensive war contracts.

The government said Meyers had an income of $209,556 over the six-year period and should have paid income taxes of $90,986. Instead, he reported only $94,076 and paid only $29,585.

Officials Silent On Proposal To 'Dehumanize' Korea Area

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Atomic and military experts may have found deadly radioactive poisons can be put to practical use in war.

That is the conclusion to be drawn from a plea by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) that President Truman order the use of such "cataclysmic" poisons to "dehumanize" a belt of territory across the Korean peninsula.

"We have it. Please consider using it," Gore said in a letter to the President. As a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee, which handles funds for the Atomic Energy Commission, he is in a position to know about atomic developments.

The AEC declined to comment on Gore's suggestion. So did the White House and Pentagon officials.

Radioactive poisons are chemicals which give off dangerous atomic-energy rays, like those given off in the explosion of an atomic bomb. But, theoretically at least, such materials could provide a weapon distinct from an atomic bomb.

The objective would be to spread them in the form of dusts or sprays, contaminating an area with radioactivity without using an a-bomb, and without causing the physical destruction to territory and buildings caused by an a-bomb explosion.

New Type Of Unit Created By Air Force

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Air Force has created a new type of unit, an air resupply and communications wing, the service announced today.

The wing will prepare and disseminate psychological warfare materials. It also will engage in aerial resupply of military units.

The new wing was activated at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Mountain Home, Idaho.

Too many mistakes in children's homework led to the opening of a special class in arithmetic for parents in Stockport, England.

U. S. FINDS OUT HOW MILD A CIGARETTE CAN BE!

After All the Mildness Tests, CAMEL Leads All Others by Billions!

C for Crawford . . . C for Camels. On the stage, "Goodbye, My Fancy" was seen by thousands; the movie version, with Joan Crawford as its brilliant, beautiful star, will be seen by millions! Miss Crawford enjoys the cigarette so many of her fans do—America's most popular cigarette, Camel. "Camels have a wonderful flavor and they agree with my throat."

NOTED THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORT IN COAST-TO-COAST 30-DAY MILDNESS TEST:

Not One Single Case of Throat Irritation due to smoking Camels!

How thorough can a mildness test be? In a coast-to-coast test, hundreds of men and women smoked only Camels for 30 days. Each week, noted throat specialists examined their throats—2,470 examinations in all—and reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

Latest Published Figures Show Camels have Greatest Lead in 25 years!

There have been quick tests, trick tests and the sensible, thorough 30-day test for determining the mildness of a cigarette. The smokers of America, eager to find out which cigarette suits them best, have tried many of these mildness tests.

Now, after all this mildness testing, Camel has its biggest lead in 25 years of cigarette history! More people smoke Camels than any other cigarette by many billions of cigarettes per year! These statements are based on the latest published figures.

Find out for yourself how mild a cigarette can be. Make the thorough test of mildness. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. You'll enjoy every rich, flavorful puff. And you'll have proof of how mild Camels are, how well they get along with your throat!

And you'll discover why Camel is America's most popular cigarette by many billions!

Officials Silent On Proposal To 'Dehumanize' Korea Area

WASHINGTON, April 16. (AP)—Atomic and military experts may have found deadly radioactive poisons can be put to practical use in war.

That is the conclusion to be drawn from a plea by Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) that President Truman order the use of such "cataclysmic" poisons to "dehumanize" a belt of territory across the Korean peninsula.

"We have it. Please consider using it," Gore said in a letter to the President. As a member of the House Appropriations subcommittee, which handles funds for the Atomic Energy Commission, he is in a position to know about atomic developments.

The AEC declined to comment on Gore's suggestion. So did the White House and Pentagon officials.

Radioactive poisons are chemicals which give off dangerous atomic-energy rays, like those given off in the explosion of an atomic bomb. But, theoretically at least, such materials could provide a weapon distinct from an atomic bomb.

The objective would be to spread them in the form of dusts or sprays, contaminating an area with radioactivity without using an a-bomb, and without causing the physical destruction to territory and buildings caused by an a-bomb explosion.

New Type Of Unit Created By Air Force

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The Air Force has created a new type of unit, an air resupply and communications wing, the service announced today.

The wing will prepare and disseminate psychological warfare materials. It also will engage in aerial resupply of military units.

The new wing was activated at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Mountain Home, Idaho.

Truman Believes Nation On Right Road To Peace

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — President Truman told the Daughters of the American Revolution tonight he believes the United States has taken the right road to peace by checking aggression in Korea and building defense in Europe.

Welcoming the DAR to Washington for their 60th continental congress, he said "we hope that we and other free nations have checked the first naked military assault of Communist imperialism" in Korea.

"Elsewhere, particularly in Europe, the united free nations are building their defenses at a rate which we trust will discouage further Communist attack," Mr. Truman continued.

"By meeting the assault with fortitude, by continuing calmly and steadfastly to mobilize the forces of freedom, we have taken, I believe, the one road that can lead to a lasting peace. I know that we can continue on our course with confidence in the rightness of assuming these responsibilities."

The President's words were contained in a traditional letter of greeting written March 24 to Mrs. James B. Patton, president general of the DAR, and released by the patriotic organization tonight.

Although they were put down before the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far Eastern commands, they served in a sense to restate the President's position on the controversial question of America's Far Eastern policy.

Members of the DAR board of management, who have invited MacArthur to address the organization when he comes to Washington this week, are reported to have voiced approval of MacArthur's policies and to have frowned on his ouster. They have taken no official action on the question, however, beyond asking the General to talk to them.

FACTORY FIRE FATAL TO WATCHMAN—Flames consume the wooden walls of the Production Engineering and Manufacturing Corporation in Forest Park, Chicago suburb, as firemen pour water on one end of the structure. A watchman died in the fire. The company manufactures metal flower boxes.

Caskie Sent To Prison For Hit-And-Run Death

BALTIMORE, April 16 (AP)—John James Kerr Caskie, Jr., who sometimes drank three quarts of whiskey a day, was sentenced today to two years in prison for the hit-and-run death of a Baltimore policeman.

The 29-year-old gentleman farmer, formerly from Warrenton, Va., was described in court as a spoiled and undisciplined child of wealth.

Patrolman Roland Morgan was killed at a street intersection on the north edge of Baltimore January 4 by a hit-and-run station wagon. Baltimore County police found the damaged station wagon a few hours later at a tavern in the Hunt Country. They arrested Caskie there, still drunk.

Water Hemlock, Not Wild Parsnips, Fatal To Three

COEBURN, Va., April 16 (AP)—Three doctors and an amateur botanist agreed here today it was water hemlock—not wild parsnips—which caused the death yesterday of three Coeburn children.

Water hemlock, a plant of the carrot family, is a poisonous herb. The children died within 4½ hours after eating some of the herb while playing near their homes.

A triple funeral service will be held at the Coeburn Church of God tomorrow for the three dead children—Mumford Smith, 11; Kenneth Jordan, 9; and Judy Jordan, 7.

Southern Textile Mills Up Wages

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Announcement of a two per cent wage increase by two big mills today brought angry charges from leaders of the southern textile strike.

The wage increases were announced by the Dan River Mills of Danville, Va., and the Springs Cotton Mills of Lancaster, S. C. Dan River is one of the nearly 50 companies involved in the southern textile strike of about 41,000 cotton and rayon workers in six states.

The Spring mills chain, which operates seven plants with about 14,000 workers in South Carolina, is not directly affected by the strike. The Spring workers are not unionized.

Emil Rieve, the national president of the striking Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, issued a statement from strike headquarters here attacking the Dan River and Springs Mills raise.

The TWUA has demanded a wage increase of 13 cents an hour, bringing the minimum for the South to $1.14½ an hour.

Rieve said the two per cent raise was a final installment of a wage increase that was due last September rather than an effort to meet current needs of the textile employes.

About 74 per cent of passenger cars in the United States are owned by families with less than $5,000 annual income.

U. S. Chides Belgium For Defense Laxness

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 16 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Robert D. Murphy chided Belgium tonight, indicating the United States expects this country to make a greater rearmament effort.

Murphy, in careful phrases, also indicated a U. S. feeling that the Belgians are not trying hard enough to pevent strategic materials from getting to Soviet Russia and its satellites.

He spoke at a banquet of a flemish businessmen's association. Commenting on his recent trip to Washington, Murphy told the Belgians: "x x x x There was, quite frankly, doubt that Belgium is making a contribution to Atlantic defense proportionate to its wealth and resources. While some countries are devoting percentages of their gross national product up to 19 per cent for defense purposes, Belgium is spending only about five per cent."

Hard On Clothes

LOS ANGELES, April 16 (AP)—Four times she changed clothes, and four times her husband ripped them off her.

That was Mrs. Ona Lewallen's charge today when she had William Lewallen, 37-year-old ironworker, arrested on charges of assault and battery.

Meyers Is Jailed For Tax Evasion

BALTIMORE, April 16 (AP)—Bennett E. Meyers, former Air Force major general, was sentenced today to his second prison term growing out of the double life he led during the last war.

Federal Judge William C. Coleman ordered him confined for a year and a day and fined him $15,000 for evading $61,400 in income taxes.

Meyers pleaded guilty to two indictments covering the six years from 1941 through 1946.

The Air Force career man looked leaner and much grayer than when he was sentenced in 1948 to from 20 months to five years for inducing a former business associate to lie to a Senate investigating committee.

He was paroled last Feb. 1, after serving three years less one month in the federal reformatory at Lorton, Va., and was arrested immediately on the income tax charges.

Meyers was top purchasing agent for the Air Force in Washington and at Wright-Patterson Field near Dayton, O., during World War II.

It was developed by a Senate investigating committee that he also was the hidden owner and operator of the Aviation Electric Co., at Vandalia, O., which worked on extensive war contracts.

The government said Meyers had an income of $209,556 over the six-year period and should have paid income taxes of $90,986. Instead, he reported only $94,076 and paid only $29,585.

Buying Its Own Stuff

Because U. S. war production was recklessly prodigal it was bound to be wasteful. Disposal of surplus equipment, considered not worth salvaging from the point of view of sound economics, creates opportunities for private profit. That's how it was after World War I, and that's how it was after World War II.

But when surplus goods are sold back to the United States Government at great profit to the entrepreneur and great cost to the government, the public can only wonder what goes on.

Granting that the federal establishment is an enormous, sprawling, ineffective, expensive organization, whose methods no private business would tolerate, it ought to be possible to achieve coordination to prevent absolute waste of public funds, which come out of the citizen's pocket.

The Philippine truck deal is a prime case in point. In 1947 an American dealer heard that the Philippine government was offering surplus United States Army trucks for sale. A representative sent out there bought them for from $200 to $250 each. Transported to the United States and repaired, 358 trucks were sold to the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford (Wash.) plant, some for $3,500, some for $3,900.

In all, 872 trucks left in the Philippines as surplus were sold at a $425,000 profit on a $700,000 investment —and this despite lavish fees and commissions. A man named Freeman, who was indicted with the Garson brothers and former Representative May in 1947 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government on war contracts, but who was acquitted, demanded $100,000 for steering the deals to the "right people" in the Philippines, a claim which his estate compromised for $42,000.

A fee of $98,000 was paid to lawyers, who undertook to negotiate with the Department of Commerce for amendment of regulations that barred sale of the trucks in the United States. Commission of $125,000 was paid for information that led to the $1,200,000 sale of trucks to the AEC.

That is one case. There were others, such as the sale of surplus equipment to the Army's tank arsenal at Detroit. If all this was legal, it was stupid and expensive on the part of government agencies.

Pleas for higher taxes for defense, against a background of such extravagance and incompetence, have a hollow sound.

Peron's Defiance

Shocked reaction of the free world to the seizure of La Prensa, the independent daily of Argentina, at the behest of Dictator Peron who is currently operating on a $125,000,000 "loan" from Washington—will be intensified by the fact he has now indicated its life of independence is at an end.

Peron knows how his flouting of the guaranty of a free press in Argentina's constitution is regarded in the United States and in many parts of Latin America. In an address to the General Confederation of Labor, which had indorsed him for re-election, Peron called La Prensa "one of the bridgeheads left here by capitalism," and continued:

"In this country I must establish once and for all, that those abroad may listen, that here freedom is for the Argentine people and only for the Argentine people. International capitalism has begun a reaction against us."

Peron asserted international capitalism sought "to poison the people by captious and fallacious information," by which he meant any criticism of governmental acts.

A sad state of affairs exists in Argentina, backed by the dollars of the American taxpayers and provided by the government at Washington. One theory is that Peron feels he cannot stand public criticism because of growing unrest among the people of Argentina. What is most perplexing in this situation is by what devious reasoning the defense and security of the United States is thought to be enhanced by giving him money from the U. S. Treasury.

Foreign Students

An all-time high has been reached with 30,000 foreign students enrolled in institutions of higher education in the United States. The Institute of International Education, which keeps close check on the numbers, nations of origin and objectives of these students, discloses that engineering is the subject selected by the largest number, which is not surprising in a world keyed to industrial progress and danger of war. Next come liberal arts and then the social sciences, which seems to be a logical order.

Of the 30,000 students, approximately 13 per cent are financed wholly or in part by the United States Government, 4 per cent of their own governments, 33 per cent by private agencies.

A surprising fact to most Americans is that 50 per cent of these foreign students are paying their own expenses, having come to the United States to obtain the best education available anywhere. Up to a decade ago the foreign students were preponderantly from Europe and Latin America. Today the Near East, Asia and even Africa are sizably represented.

Most of these students under the terms of their admission must return to their homes when their training is completed. Many will be teachers, and almost all, it is presumed, will be exponents in some small degree of the American way of life.

There is no way of calculating to what degree they will be the means of promoting better understanding, but it should be substantial.

Back To Its Origin

The Congress of the United States will be invited to sit in session in Independence Hall next July 3 or 4 as part of Philadelphia's celebration of the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Whether or not Congress meets in Independence Hall, for it to do so would be in the true spirit of American history. It was there that Congress first met, and Philadelphia was the first capital of the nation.

The surroundings might seem strange for some Congressmen, whose precepts of government have strayed far from those held by that first Congress. Their explanation is, of course, that times have changed. But if they sit for a day in that historic hall, the thought might intrude that times have not changed as much as people, and especially Congressmen.

It seems like a good idea to have Congress meet in Independence Hall, if only for a day. Exposure to those historic surroundings should result in making better Americans of many of its members.

Television is said to have brought the American people face to face with the crime situation. With wrestling as a doubtful added attraction

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Feigned Illness

A MALINGERER feigns illness to collect compensation, avoid work, or escape an unpleasant situation. This constitutes a serious offense in war time among members of our armed services and medics hesitate to make the diagnosis unless ample proof exists.

Some malingerers put on an act that is so clumsy as to be obvious. Many years ago a prisoner was admitted to jail and as soon as he saw the prison physician he developed a "fit." He received little attention so he had another. A second one so soon after the first is unusual and this man's case became apparent when he deliberately scratched his head with his fingers while halfway through the seizure. After the physician became stern the man stopped his symptoms immediately, got up, brushed himself off, and said, "You win, doc." He had hoped that by pretending illness he might be sent to the prison hospital where conditions were more pleasant than in the cells.

At the other end of the line we find malingerers so clever they fool the best of physicians. Their performance is so perfect that now and then they permit themselves to be subjected to unnecessary operations provided surgery helps to further their plans. Recently two physicians reported their experience with a middle aged woman. She was a problem patient from the beginning. She complained of chills, fever, abdominnal pain, and jaundice, all of which had the earmarks of gall bladder or liver disease. The previous year her gall bladder had been removed surgically, but her skin remained yellow and for months the cause escaped detection. The results of certain tests were suggestive, however, and she was examined under ultraviolet illumination. To the surprise of the physicians, her skin and even the nails glowed brilliantly with a greenish-yellow color. Similar studies on individuals with bona fide jaundice caused by gall bladder trouble showed no evidence of fluoresence.

The medical men decided to do a bit of detective work. They found that a solution of atabrine exhibited the same fluorescence. This was the anti-malarial medicine so many of our men took in World War II. It produces a temporary yellowish discoloration of the skin resembling jaundice. Special analyses of the patient's urine showed the fluid loaded with atabrine. Confronted with this evidence, she vehemently denied taking the drug but finally admitted the hoax. She had home difficulties and was deliberately feigning illness as a way out.

Malingering also is done to secure narcotics. The addict generally preys on a young and inexperienced physician and claims to have an incurable condition which is causing more pain that he can stand. The scene he puts on is so convincing, he cannot be questioned or examined. The patients in the waiting room also are fooled by the dramatics and are so sympathetic they often lend a helping hand. These addicts are soon detected but not until they have pulled the same trick several times.

We usually think of malingering as a deliberate attempt to feign illness but many of these subjects are mentally ill. Something must be wrong when an individual goes to this extreme to solve his problems. Actually, malingering only adds to his difficulties and this explains why the line between neuroses and malingering is so thin. The manifestations and motives may be the same, but one is conscious and other unconscious.

MEMBRANE PATCHES

Mrs. D. writes: Can bridgework cause leucoplakia on the inside of the cheeks?

REPLY

Yes, if the bridgework is irritating the membranes. Jagged teeth and poorly fitting dentures also play a role in the production of these lesions. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for leaflet on leucoplakia.

POLIO AND PAPERS

Mrs. N. writes: My son was stricken with polio last month. He had been in the habit of collecting old newspapers. Could this be responsible for his contracting this disease?

REPLY

We do not know how polio is spread but the cause you mention seems most unlikely. Only a handful of the thousands of victims of the disease have handled old newspapers.

DIZZY ON MOVEMENT

V. G. T. writes: What causes a swimming sensation when looking up or on turning the head suddenly?

REPLY

This may be due to a disturbance in the middle ear (Meniere's syndrome), in which there is swelling of the structure that help us maintain balance. A circulatory disorder is another possibility; on turning the head or looking up quickly, the flow of blood cannot keep up with the quick movements.

GOP Fears MacArthur Issue May Backfire; Republicans Don't Have Enough Votes To Impeach Truman; McCarthy Has Not Always Supported MacArthur

WASHINGTON—In private caucuses Congressional Republicans haven't been quite as outspoken for General MacArthur, or against President Truman—as in their public statements. Some have feared the MacArthur issue, unless carefully handled, might backfire and give the public the impression that Republican chiefs favor a third world war.

Congressman A. L. (Doc) Miller of Nebraska warned of this at the first caucus of House Republicans.

"We must not leave ourselves open to Democratic charges that we are subscribing to a war policy by defending MacArthur," Miller cautioned. "In inviting the General back here, it should be made clear that we are not necessarily confirming his policy on the Far East until we have heard his story."

Congressman Fred Coudert of New York seconded Miller, as did several others, including Congressman Jack Javits of New York.

"The American people," Javits cautioned, "have a right to hear MacArthur's side of his conflict with Truman and it is right that we should invite him to Washington to express himself. At the same time I think we ought to make it clear that we Republicans do not approve of military leaders dictating to civilian authorities."

No Impeachment

At another closed-door conference with the House GOP Policy Committee, Joe Martin also rejected the idea of trying to impeach the President.

"We don't have the votes," explained the ex-Speaker. "Anyway, it might be difficult to prove illegality in the President's removal of a field commander."

However, some Republicans have expressed concern lest MacArthur himself be subject to court martial if in his speech in Washington he strongly assails his commander-in-chief and the government's Far East policy—and contributes to national disunity by so doing.

They don't believe the Truman Administration would have the courage to initiate such a court martial, however. Also Rep. John Vorys of Ohio, rated an authority on Constitutional law, thinks MacArthur can speak out with impunity.

"No-Night-Owl" Vinson

Georgia's gruff Congressman Carl Vinson got the first news of MacArthur's ouster in a 1 a. m. phone call from General Bradley.

As chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee, Vinson is handled with kid gloves by the brass hats. He has important legislative power over their policies, so Bradley wanted to be sure Vinson got the MacArthur news before reading it in the papers.

"This is General Bradley," he said. "I have called to tell you that President Truman has just removed General MacArthur from command. I'll read you his statement."

"Nobody will read me a statement this time of night," interrupted the Congressman from Georgia.

Then half apologetically he mumbled: "That's fine, that's fine. Thank you, General. Good night."

Most vociferous champion of General MacArthur in the current controversy has been a certain Senator from Wisconsin. He has claimed that the President's firing of MacArthur was influenced by midnight "bourbon and benedictine," at a time when Mr. Truman didn't know any better.

However, here is a letter by the same Senator from Wisconsin, addressed to the people of Wisconsin on March 31, 1948, when General MacArthur was running for President of the United States in the Wisconsin GOP Primary, and when this Senator felt that the most effective way to stop MacArthur was to play up his divorce and his age.

The letter, mimeographed and sent out by the thousands—not at midnight and apparently not under the influence of bourbon and benedictine—was addressed: "Dear Folks." It read:

"General MacArthur has been a great general. But he is now ready for retirement. He would be 72 years old before a term as president ended. Twice before we have had presidents who became physically weakened during their term of office and both times it had very sad results for our country. . .

"On returning to Wisconsin I notice that hundreds of big campaign billboards tell the people to support the General because he is a native son of Wisconsin. The Hearst papers, which are booming the General's candidacy, refer to him as the 'Wisconsin-born General.' This is not true.

"The General was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, on January 26, 1880, and not in Wisconsin. He is not listed on any poll list as a voter in Wisconsin. Neither his first nor his second marriage, or his divorce, took place in Wisconsin. He was first married in Florida to Mrs. Walter Brooks of Baltimore, who now lives in Washington, D. C. After she divorced him in Reno Nevada, he was remarried in New York City. Neither wife ever resided or voted in Wisconsin. In a sworn marriage application for his second marriage he did not claim Wisconsin as his residence, but gave Manila as his residence and Baltimore, Maryland, as the domicile of his former marriage."

That letter was signed by the

Vested Interest In Error

ONE OF THE unnoted phases of the MacArthur dismissal is the danger that he faced from a Russian lend-lease policy that could have made our position in the Pacific untenable. This has to do with a lend-lease operation by which the Russians planned to provide the Chinese Communists with a jet-propelled armament and a large submarine force.

It was the United States that established it as proper international procedure for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent with armaments in time of war and yet remain neutral. This was done in 1940, when the United States exchanged American destroyers for bases in British territory. By this transaction, the United States, a neutral, assisted Great Britain, a belligerent. In Lord Lothian's letter, dated September 2, 1940, the British leased us some bases "freely and without consideration," while in Cordell Hull's letter of the same date, appears:

"In consideration of the declarations above quoted, the Government of the United States will immediately transfer to his majesty's government fifty United States Navy destroyers generally referred to as the twelve hundred-ton type. . ."

The Lend-Lease Act was passed on March 11, 1941. The United States did not become a belligerent by act of Congress until December 8, 1941. Therefore, at the time of the passage of the Lend-Lease Act, the United States was neutral. In World War I, the United States took the position that as a neutral, she would sell her wares to any belligerent that could come here to get them and could pay for them.

However, in World War II, President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins devised a novelty which made it possible for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent and yet remain neutral. The exact words of this law are important at this stage:

"(1) To manufacture in arsenals, factories, and shipyards under their jurisdiction, or otherwise procure, to the extent to which funds are made available therefore, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States.

"(2) To sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend, or otherwise dispose of, to any such government any defense article. . . ."

Few restrictions were placed upon the president:

"(B) The terms and conditions upon which any such foreign government receives any aid authorized under subsection (A) shall be those which the president deems satisfactory, and the benefit to the United States may be payment or repayment in kind or property, or any other direct or indirect benefit which the president deems satisfactory."

Under the terms of the American Lend-Lease Act, it is permissible for Soviet Russia to remain neutral in our Korean War, yet to supply Soviet China with all the arms required, including jet-propelled planes and submarines. In fact, the United States has no grounds for protesting even the employment of Russian experts by the Chinese Communists in the war against the United States. For this is what the Lend-Lease Act has to say on this subject:

"(3) To test, inspect, prove, repair, outfit, recondition, or otherwise to place in good working order, to the extent to which funds are made available therefor, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for any such government, or to procure any or all such services by private contract."

General Douglas MacArthur, as commander of Americans in war—even if they are called United Nations troops, they are Americans—recognized the danger to his men and the untenability of our position if Russia, as a neutral, could lend-lease jet-propelled planes and submarines to the Chinese, who could thus bottle up our fleet and destroy our men, particularly were we caught in a simultaneous action in Asia and Europe. This he tried to convey to the authorities in Washington without success. His letter to Congressman Joe Martin brought the problem into the open.

Old-fashioned international lawyers followed the precedents which had been developed by experience over the centuries. The innovators during the near deal abhorred precedents and established new procedures, which, in themselves, have become precedents. This one is blowing in our faces at this moment. In the MacArthur controversy, this is an important factor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Truman keeps on denying in his speeches that there is any appeasement of the Communists intended but the fact remains that in the Department of State a plan to do what really amounts to an appeasement of Communist China is being hatched.

The first public intimation that appeasement was in the wind came, strangely enough, in a White House release of a message that was sent by the Joint Chiefs of Staff on March 20 to General MacArthur. The real purpose in releasing the message — if it wasn't done accidentally — was to show that General MacArthur jumped the gun, so to speak, when he broadcast directly his appeal to the Chinese Communist military commander to agree to an armistice. The stories have been widely disseminated by Administration supporters that MacArthur stole the thunder of the government back home by making an appeal to his opposite military commander similar to that which the Department of State intended to make through the UN and that he followed the wording closely. It has been asserted, moreover, that the policy in question was cleared with the United Nations and that General MacArthur spilled the beans.

Reports Not True

There is not a scintilla of truth in either of these allegations. The message of March 20 is bound to become a historic document not only because it shows there was no United Nations policy or decision by the American government but because it shows the State Department was telling MacArthur to deploy his troops in some sort of confusing military operation whereby he didn't advance but yet maintained contact with the enemy while the diplomats were to talk for a few weeks.

Here is the text of that message: "To the Commander in Chief, Far East from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

"State (Department) planning Presidential announcement shortly that, with (the) clearing of the bulk of South Korea of aggressors, United Nations (are) now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement in Korea. Strong feeling persists that further diplomatic effort toward settlement should be made before any advance with major forces north of (the) Thirty Eighth Parallel. Time will be required to determine diplomatic reactions and permit new negotiations that may develop. Recognizing that (the 38th) Parallel has no military significance, (the) State (Department) has asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff what authority you should have to permit sufficient freedom of action for (the) next few weeks to provide security for (the) UN forces and maintain contact with (the) enemy. Your recommendations (are) desired."

The foregoing shows how speculative and vague the State Department's plan was. It does not reveal the basis, if any, which the Department of State had for virtually ordering American troops to stand still and be shot at while diplomats talked even though the enemy had not agreed to hold his fire. Every piece of evidence thus far from press dispatches and from Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, reveals that the Communist Chinese government at Peiping has rebuffed every effort to talk peace and has lately refused even to make appointments at the Chinese Foreign Office with diplomatic representatives there from Britain, India and Sweden to talk about the subject. Why was the Department of State so anxious to stop our side from fighting while it did a job of palavering with other governments? The only answer is that an appeasement program is in the works. Here are its details:

"Victory" Line

A "cease fire" line in a zigzag direction a few miles north and also a few miles south of the 38th Parallel is to be the armistice line. This is supposed to be our "victory" line. When we gain that line, as General Ridgway in his political statement on March 12 said, American and the United Nations will have gained a "victory."

The rest, it seems, is to be left to diplomacy. Thus is the Korean republic to be thrown to the Communist wolves. Thus also is the UN to accept the 38th Parallel line as all that it ever achieved since last June against the aggressor even though the UN branded Red China as an aggressor and is supposed to have resolved at one time to liberate all Korea. But the new plan presupposes that no liberation by military means can be achieved and that attainment of the barrier at the 38th Parallel is the substitute.

The legal basis for the plan is that, our "military objective" having been attained, the "political objective" is a matter for UN determination. The idea of an "independent, United Korea" is to be left to diplomatic negotations with Red China presumably over a long period of time. Thus 60,000 casualties will have been suffered by the American government just to maintain the 38th Parallel and to admit that the UN could not push the aggressor out of Korea but must let him stay where he started from last June—ready, perhaps, to jump across the parallel at any time. The Red Chinese have said all foreign troops must be withdrawn and this presumably means the Communist North Koreans of course will remain. That's the appeasement plan. It will of course be denied that this is appeasement. But this was what was planned before General MacArthur was fired. Maybe it will not materialize now because American public opinion may prevent it from being consummated.

Matter Of Fact

The Slow Match

TEHERAN

THE FIRST POINT the American and British negotiators have passed over in their meaningless communique from Washington is the extreme seriousness of the Iranian situation they have been so nervously discussing. By a long course of flaccidity and folly, Iran and the Middle East in general have been brought close to the point of explosion. The decision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Irania oil company is merely the slow match that may touch off the explosion.

The American tendency to assume an air of conscious rectitude, and to hint that this is a nasty imperialist mess with which we are not concerned, can only be compared with the similar (and even less excusable) British tendency in dealing with the Far Eastern crisis in recent months. In fact American interests are as inextricably entangled in this Iranian problem as are British interests.

If no sensible compromise on the oil question is found, the first consequence will be general imitation of the Iranian example throughout the whole Middle East. The American oil properties here will also be involved. What is far worse, loss of control of her Middle Eastern oil, which is all the oil Britain has, will promptly reduce Britain to the status of a secondary power. Thus the whole huge American postwar investment in maintaining Britain as a major power ally will be flushed down the drain. Interruption or reduction of Middle Eastern oil supplies will be crippling, in truth, to the strength of all of Western Europe.

Potentially Serious Situation

Enroute to Teheran, this correspondent touched base in London. There he received the strong impression that the British government will not accept defeat in the long hard struggle to rebuild Britain's power position and economy. Instead, if worst comes to worst, they will dust off the plan the Cabinet actually approved during the previous Iranian crisis of 1946.

At that time, it will be recalled, British occupation of southern Iran was hurriedly prepared for, in order to protect the oil property from the Soviets. If the British now move troops to Iran, Soviet occupation of the rest of the country under the 1921 treaty will become virtually inevitable.

Even if the British shrink back at the last moment from such desperate measures, a general effort by the Middle Eastern governments to take over the oil companies can only lead to political chaos throughout the whole region. The companies are actually larger organizations than the governments themselves. The process of take-over will unleash unimaginable political tensions. One way or another chaos will be unavoidable.

Chaos in the Middle East in turn will compromise the whole position in the eastern Mediterranean. The American Mediterranean fleet, which is now much larger than the British fleet there, and especially the Anglo-American air bases in Cyprus, Syrenaica and Tripoli, are now among the chief deterrents to Soviet aggression. If the airbases alone cease to be available — and the British will hardly be in a mood to permit their use if deserted by us at this juncture — the effect will be the same as losing one-half or more of the American Strategic Air Force.

In short, this business in Iran is potentially more serious for the Western alliance than anything but a naked Soviet aggression in a critical area.

This does not mean that the de-

A young clergyman, about to preach his first sermon, was a bundle of nerves as he waited in the vestry. Would his voice carry? Would he hold his fashionable audience? Above all did he look his best? "Dear me," he reflected aloud, "if only there was a glass here." A moment later the verger tapped him on the shoulder and whispered. "Here's a whole bottle. All I had to do was mention your name."

A fine distinction between acquaintanceship and friendship has been established by such Southern tobacco auctioneers as haven't been exported to New York for radio appearances. Several were convening in a Winston-Salem pub when a newcomer approached. One of the group patted him on the back and said, "Russ, you know Joe Arbuckle, don't you?" Russ grudgingly extended a hand, and allowed, "We've howdied but we ain't shook."

Buying Its Own Stuff

Because U. S. war production was recklessly prodigal it was bound to be wasteful. Disposal of surplus equipment, considered not worth salvaging from the point of view of sound economics, creates opportunities for private profit. That's how it was after World War I, and that's how it was after World War II.

But when surplus goods are sold back to the United States Government at great profit to the entrepreneur and great cost to the government, the public can only wonder what goes on.

Granting that the federal establishment is an enormous, sprawling, ineffective, expensive organization, whose methods no private business would tolerate, it ought to be possible to achieve coordination to prevent absolute waste of public funds, which come out of the citizen's pocket.

The Philippine truck deal is a prime case in point. In 1947 an American dealer heard that the Philippine government was offering surplus United States Army trucks for sale. A representative sent out there bought them for from $200 to $250 each. Transported to the United States and repaired, 358 trucks were sold to the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford (Wash.) plant, some for $3,500, some for $3,900.

In all, 872 trucks left in the Philippines as surplus were sold at a $425,000 profit on a $700,000 investment —and this despite lavish fees and commissions. A man named Freeman, who was indicted with the Garson brothers and former Representative May in 1947 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government on war contracts, but who was acquitted, demanded $100,000 for steering the deals to the "right people" in the Philippines, a claim which his estate compromised for $42,000.

A fee of $98,000 was paid to lawyers, who undertook to negotiate with the Department of Commerce for amendment of regulations that barred sale of the trucks in the United States. Commission of $125,000 was paid for information that led to the $1,200,000 sale of trucks to the AEC.

That is one case. There were others, such as the sale of surplus equipment to the Army's tank arsenal at Detroit. If all this was legal, it was stupid and expensive on the part of government agencies.

Pleas for higher taxes for defense, against a background of such extravagance and incompetence, have a hollow sound.

Peron's Defiance

Shocked reaction of the free world to the seizure of La Prensa, the independent daily of Argentina, at the behest of Dictator Peron who is currently operating on a $125,000,000 "loan" from Washington—will be intensified by the fact he has now indicated its life of independence is at an end.

Peron knows how his flouting of the guaranty of a free press in Argentina's constitution is regarded in the United States and in many parts of Latin America. In an address to the General Confederation of Labor, which had indorsed him for re-election, Peron called La Prensa "one of the bridgeheads left here by capitalism," and continued:

"In this country I must establish once and for all, that those abroad may listen, that here freedom is for the Argentine people and only for the Argentine people. International capitalism has begun a reaction against us."

Peron asserted international capitalism sought "to poison the people by captious and fallacious information," by which he meant any criticism of governmental acts.

A sad state of affairs exists in Argentina, backed by the dollars of the American taxpayers and provided by the government at Washington. One theory is that Peron feels he cannot stand public criticism because of growing unrest among the people of Argentina. What is most perplexing in this situation is by what devious reasoning the defense and security of the United States is thought to be enhanced by giving him money from the U. S. Treasury.

Foreign Students

An all-time high has been reached with 30,000 foreign students enrolled in institutions of higher education in the United States. The Institute of International Education, which keeps close check on the numbers, nations of origin and objectives of these students, discloses that engineering is the subject selected by the largest number, which is not surprising in a world keyed to industrial progress and danger of war. Next come liberal arts and then the social sciences, which seems to be a logical order.

Of the 30,000 students, approximately 13 per cent are financed wholly or in part by the United States Government, 4 per cent of their own governments, 33 per cent by private agencies.

A surprising fact to most Americans is that 50 per cent of these foreign students are paying their own expenses, having come to the United States to obtain the best education available anywhere. Up to a decade ago the foreign students were preponderantly from Europe and Latin America. Today the Near East, Asia and even Africa are sizably represented.

Most of these students under the terms of their admission must return to their homes when their training is completed. Many will be teachers, and almost all, it is presumed, will be exponents in some small degree of the American way of life.

There is no way of calculating to what degree they will be the means of promoting better understanding, but it should be substantial.

Back To Its Origin

The Congress of the United States will be invited to sit in session in Independence Hall next July 3 or 4 as part of Philadelphia's celebration of the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Whether or not Congress meets in Independence Hall, for it to do so would be in the true spirit of American history. It was there that Congress first met, and Philadelphia was the first capital of the nation.

The surroundings might seem strange for some Congressmen, whose precepts of government have strayed far from those held by that first Congress. Their explanation is, of course, that times have changed. But if they sit for a day in that historic hall, the thought might intrude that times have not changed as much as people, and especially Congressmen.

It seems like a good idea to have Congress meet in Independence Hall, if only for a day. Exposure to those historic surroundings should result in making better Americans of many of its members.

Television is said to have brought the American people face to face with the crime situation. With wrestling as a doubtful added attraction

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Feigned Illness

A MALINGERER feigns illness to collect compensation, avoid work, or escape an unpleasant situation. This constitutes a serious offense in war time among members of our armed services and medics hesitate to make the diagnosis unless ample proof exists.

Some malingerers put on an act that is so clumsy as to be obvious. Many years ago a prisoner was admitted to jail and as soon as he saw the prison physician he developed a "fit." He received little attention so he had another. A second one so soon after the first is unusual and this man's case became apparent when he deliberately scratched his head with his fingers while halfway through the seizure. After the physician became stern the man stopped his symptoms immediately, got up, brushed himself off, and said, "You win, doc." He had hoped that by pretending illness he might be sent to the prison hospital where conditions were more pleasant than in the cells.

At the other end of the line we find malingerers so clever they fool the best of physicians. Their performance is so perfect that now and then they permit themselves to be subjected to unnecessary operations provided surgery helps to further their plans. Recently two physicians reported their experience with a middle aged woman. She was a problem patient from the beginning. She complained of chills, fever, abdominnal pain, and jaundice, all of which had the earmarks of gall bladder or liver disease. The previous year her gall bladder had been removed surgically, but her skin remained yellow and for months the cause escaped detection. The results of certain tests were suggestive, however, and she was examined under ultraviolet illumination. To the surprise of the physicians, her skin and even the nails glowed brilliantly with a greenish-yellow color. Similar studies on individuals with bona fide jaundice caused by gall bladder trouble showed no evidence of fluoresence.

The medical men decided to do a bit of detective work. They found that a solution of atabrine exhibited the same fluorescence. This was the anti-malarial medicine so many of our men took in World War II. It produces a temporary yellowish discoloration of the skin resembling jaundice. Special analyses of the patient's urine showed the fluid loaded with atabrine. Confronted with this evidence, she vehemently denied taking the drug but finally admitted the hoax. She had home difficulties and was deliberately feigning illness as a way out.

Malingering also is done to secure narcotics. The addict generally preys on a young and inexperienced physician and claims to have an incurable condition which is causing more pain that he can stand. The scene he puts on is so convincing, he cannot be questioned or examined. The patients in the waiting room also are fooled by the dramatics and are so sympathetic they often lend a helping hand. These addicts are soon detected but not until they have pulled the same trick several times.

We usually think of malingering as a deliberate attempt to feign illness but many of these subjects are mentally ill. Something must be wrong when an individual goes to this extreme to solve his problems. Actually, malingering only adds to his difficulties and this explains why the line between neuroses and malingering is so thin. The manifestations and motives may be the same, but one is conscious and other unconscious.

MEMBRANE PATCHES

Mrs. D. writes: Can bridgework cause leucoplakia on the inside of the cheeks?

REPLY

Yes, if the bridgework is irritating the membranes. Jagged teeth and poorly fitting dentures also play a role in the production of these lesions. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for leaflet on leucoplakia.

POLIO AND PAPERS

Mrs. N. writes: My son was stricken with polio last month. He had been in the habit of collecting old newspapers. Could this be responsible for his contracting this disease?

REPLY

We do not know how polio is spread but the cause you mention seems most unlikely. Only a handful of the thousands of victims of the disease have handled old newspapers.

DIZZY ON MOVEMENT

V. G. T. writes: What causes a swimming sensation when looking up or on turning the head suddenly?

REPLY

This may be due to a disturbance in the middle ear (Meniere's syndrome), in which there is swelling of the structure that help us maintain balance. A circulatory disorder is another possibility; on turning the head or looking up quickly, the flow of blood cannot keep up with the quick movements.

GOP Fears MacArthur Issue May Backfire; Republicans Don't Have Enough Votes To Impeach Truman; McCarthy Has Not Always Supported MacArthur

WASHINGTON—In private caucuses Congressional Republicans haven't been quite as outspoken for General MacArthur, or against President Truman—as in their public statements. Some have feared the MacArthur issue, unless carefully handled, might backfire and give the public the impression that Republican chiefs favor a third world war.

Congressman A. L. (Doc) Miller of Nebraska warned of this at the first caucus of House Republicans.

"We must not leave ourselves open to Democratic charges that we are subscribing to a war policy by defending MacArthur," Miller cautioned. "In inviting the General back here, it should be made clear that we are not necessarily confirming his policy on the Far East until we have heard his story."

Congressman Fred Coudert of New York seconded Miller, as did several others, including Congressman Jack Javits of New York.

"The American people," Javits cautioned, "have a right to hear MacArthur's side of his conflict with Truman and it is right that we should invite him to Washington to express himself. At the same time I think we ought to make it clear that we Republicans do not approve of military leaders dictating to civilian authorities."

No Impeachment

At another closed-door conference with the House GOP Policy Committee, Joe Martin also rejected the idea of trying to impeach the President.

"We don't have the votes," explained the ex-Speaker. "Anyway, it might be difficult to prove illegality in the President's removal of a field commander."

However, some Republicans have expressed concern lest MacArthur himself be subject to court martial if in his speech in Washington he strongly assails his commander-in-chief and the government's Far East policy—and contributes to national disunity by so doing.

They don't believe the Truman Administration would have the courage to initiate such a court martial, however. Also Rep. John Vorys of Ohio, rated an authority on Constitutional law, thinks MacArthur can speak out with impunity.

"No-Night-Owl" Vinson

Georgia's gruff Congressman Carl Vinson got the first news of MacArthur's ouster in a 1 a. m. phone call from General Bradley.

As chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee, Vinson is handled with kid gloves by the brass hats. He has important legislative power over their policies, so Bradley wanted to be sure Vinson got the MacArthur news before reading it in the papers.

"This is General Bradley," he said. "I have called to tell you that President Truman has just removed General MacArthur from command. I'll read you his statement."

"Nobody will read me a statement this time of night," interrupted the Congressman from Georgia.

Then half apologetically he mumbled: "That's fine, that's fine. Thank you, General. Good night."

Most vociferous champion of General MacArthur in the current controversy has been a certain Senator from Wisconsin. He has claimed that the President's firing of MacArthur was influenced by midnight "bourbon and benedictine," at a time when Mr. Truman didn't know any better.

However, here is a letter by the same Senator from Wisconsin, addressed to the people of Wisconsin on March 31, 1948, when General MacArthur was running for President of the United States in the Wisconsin GOP Primary, and when this Senator felt that the most effective way to stop MacArthur was to play up his divorce and his age.

The letter, mimeographed and sent out by the thousands—not at midnight and apparently not under the influence of bourbon and benedictine—was addressed: "Dear Folks." It read:

"General MacArthur has been a great general. But he is now ready for retirement. He would be 72 years old before a term as president ended. Twice before we have had presidents who became physically weakened during their term of office and both times it had very sad results for our country. . .

"On returning to Wisconsin I notice that hundreds of big campaign billboards tell the people to support the General because he is a native son of Wisconsin. The Hearst papers, which are booming the General's candidacy, refer to him as the 'Wisconsin-born General.' This is not true.

"The General was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, on January 26, 1880, and not in Wisconsin. He is not listed on any poll list as a voter in Wisconsin. Neither his first nor his second marriage, or his divorce, took place in Wisconsin. He was first married in Florida to Mrs. Walter Brooks of Baltimore, who now lives in Washington, D. C. After she divorced him in Reno Nevada, he was remarried in New York City. Neither wife ever resided or voted in Wisconsin. In a sworn marriage application for his second marriage he did not claim Wisconsin as his residence, but gave Manila as his residence and Baltimore, Maryland, as the domicile of his former marriage."

Vested Interest In Error

ONE OF THE unnoted phases of the MacArthur dismissal is the danger that he faced from a Russian lend-lease policy that could have made our position in the Pacific untenable. This has to do with a lend-lease operation by which the Russians planned to provide the Chinese Communists with a jet-propelled armament and a large submarine force.

It was the United States that established it as proper international procedure for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent with armaments in time of war and yet remain neutral. This was done in 1940, when the United States exchanged American destroyers for bases in British territory. By this transaction, the United States, a neutral, assisted Great Britain, a belligerent. In Lord Lothian's letter, dated September 2, 1940, the British leased us some bases "freely and without consideration," while in Cordell Hull's letter of the same date, appears:

"In consideration of the declarations above quoted, the Government of the United States will immediately transfer to his majesty's government fifty United States Navy destroyers generally referred to as the twelve hundred-ton type. . ."

The Lend-Lease Act was passed on March 11, 1941. The United States did not become a belligerent by act of Congress until December 8, 1941. Therefore, at the time of the passage of the Lend-Lease Act, the United States was neutral. In World War I, the United States took the position that as a neutral, she would sell her wares to any belligerent that could come here to get them and could pay for them.

However, in World War II, President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins devised a novelty which made it possible for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent and yet remain neutral. The exact words of this law are important at this stage:

"(1) To manufacture in arsenals, factories, and shipyards under their jurisdiction, or otherwise procure, to the extent to which funds are made available therefore, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States.

"(2) To sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend, or otherwise dispose of, to any such government any defense article. . . ."

Few restrictions were placed upon the president:

"(B) The terms and conditions upon which any such foreign government receives any aid authorized under subsection (A) shall be those which the president deems satisfactory, and the benefit to the United States may be payment or repayment in kind or property, or any other direct or indirect benefit which the president deems satisfactory."

Under the terms of the American Lend-Lease Act, it is permissible for Soviet Russia to remain neutral in our Korean War, yet to supply Soviet China with all the arms required, including jet-propelled planes and submarines. In fact, the United States has no grounds for protesting even the employment of Russian experts by the Chinese Communists in the war against the United States. For this is what the Lend-Lease Act has to say on this subject:

"(3) To test, inspect, prove, repair, outfit, recondition, or otherwise to place in good working order, to the extent to which funds are made available therefor, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for any such government, or to procure any or all such services by private contract."

General Douglas MacArthur, as commander of Americans in war—even if they are called United Nations troops, they are Americans—recognized the danger to his men and the untenability of our position if Russia, as a neutral, could lend-lease jet-propelled planes and submarines to the Chinese, who could thus bottle up our fleet and destroy our men, particularly were we caught in a simultaneous action in Asia and Europe. This he tried to convey to the authorities in Washington without success. His letter to Congressman Joe Martin brought the problem into the open.

Old-fashioned international lawyers followed the precedents which had been developed by experience over the centuries. The innovators during the near deal abhorred precedents and established new procedures, which, in themselves, have become precedents. This one is blowing in our faces at this moment. In the MacArthur controversy, this is an important factor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Truman keeps on denying in his speeches that there is any appeasement of the Communists intended but the fact remains that in the Department of State a plan to do what really amounts to an appeasement of Communist China is being hatched.

The first public intimation that appeasement was in the wind came, strangely enough, in a White House release of a message that was sent by the Joint Chiefs of Staff on March 20 to General MacArthur. The real purpose in releasing the message — if it wasn't done accidentally — was to show that General MacArthur jumped the gun, so to speak, when he broadcast directly his appeal to the Chinese Communist military commander to agree to an armistice. The stories have been widely disseminated by Administration supporters that MacArthur stole the thunder of the government back home by making an appeal to his opposite military commander similar to that which the Department of State intended to make through the UN and that he followed the wording closely. It has been asserted, moreover, that the policy in question was cleared with the United Nations and that General MacArthur spilled the beans.

Reports Not True

There is not a scintilla of truth in either of these allegations. The message of March 20 is bound to become a historic document not only because it shows there was no United Nations policy or decision by the American government but because it shows the State Department was telling MacArthur to deploy his troops in some sort of confusing military operation whereby he didn't advance but yet maintained contact with the enemy while the diplomats were to talk for a few weeks.

Here is the text of that message:

"To the Commander in Chief, Far East from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

"State (Department) planning Presidential announcement shortly that, with (the) clearing of the bulk of South Korea of aggressors, United Nations (are) now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement in Korea. Strong feeling persists that further diplomatic effort toward settlement should be made before any advance with major forces north of (the) Thirty Eighth Parallel. Time will be required to determine diplomatic reactions and permit new negotiations that may develop. Recognizing that (the 38th) Parallel has no military significance, (the) State (Department) has asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff what authority you should have to permit sufficient freedom of action for (the) next few weeks to provide security for (the) UN forces and maintain contact with (the) enemy. Your recommendations (are) desired."

The foregoing shows how speculative and vague the State Department's plan was. It does not reveal the basis, if any, which the Department of State had for virtually ordering American troops to stand still and be shot at while diplomats talked even though the enemy had not agreed to hold his fire. Every piece of evidence thus far from press dispatches and from Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, reveals that the Communist Chinese government at Peiping has rebuffed every effort to talk peace and has lately refused even to make appointments at the Chinese Foreign Office with diplomatic representatives there from Britain, India and Sweden to talk about the subject. Why was the Department of State so anxious to stop our side from fighting while it did a job of palavering with other governments? The only answer is that an appeasement program is in the works. Here are its details:

"Victory" Line

A "cease fire" line in a zigzag direction a few miles north and also a few miles south of the 38th Parallel is to be the armistice line. This is supposed to be our "victory" line. When we gain that line, as General Ridgway in his political statement on March 12 said, American and the United Nations will have gained a "victory."

The rest, it seems, is to be left to diplomacy. Thus is the Korean republic to be thrown to the Communist wolves. Thus also is the UN to accept the 38th Parallel line as all that it ever achieved since last June against the aggressor even though the UN branded Red China as an aggressor and is supposed to have resolved at one time to liberate all Korea. But the new plan presupposes that no liberation by military means can be achieved and that attainment of the barrier at the 38th Parallel is the substitute.

The legal basis for the plan is that, our "military objective" having been attained, the "political objective" is a matter for UN determination. The idea of an "independent, United Korea" is to be left to diplomatic negotiations with Red China presumably over a long period of time. Thus 60,000 casualties will have been suffered by the American government just to maintain the 38th Parallel and to admit that the UN could not push the aggressor out of Korea but must let him stay where he started from last June—ready, perhaps, to jump across the parallel at any time. The Red Chinese have said all foreign troops must be withdrawn and this presumably means the Communist North Koreans of course will remain. That's the appeasement plan. It will of course be denied that this is appeasement. But this was what was planned before General MacArthur was fired. Maybe it will not materialize now because American public opinion may prevent it from being consummated.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Slow Match

TEHERAN

THE FIRST POINT the American and British negotiators have passed over in their meaningless communique from Washington is the extreme seriousness of the Iranian situation they have been so nervously discussing. By a long course of flaccidity and folly, Iran and the Middle East in general have been brought close to the point of explosion. The decision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Irania oil company is merely the slow match that may touch off the explosion.

The American tendency to assume an air of conscious rectitude, and to hint that this is a nasty imperialist mess with which we are not concerned, can only be compared with the similar (and even less excusable) British tendency in dealing with the Far Eastern crisis in recent months. In fact American interests are as inextricably entangled in this Iranian problem as are British interests.

If no sensible compromise on the oil question is found, the first consequence will be general imitation of the Iranian example throughout the whole Middle East. The American oil properties here will also be involved. What is far worse, loss of control of her Middle Eastern oil, which is all the oil Britain has, will promptly reduce Britain to the status of a secondary power. Thus the whole huge American postwar investment in maintaining Britain as a major power ally will be flushed down the drain. Interruption or reduction of Middle Eastern oil supplies will be crippling, in truth, to the strength of all of Western Europe.

Potentially Serious Situation

Enroute to Teheran, this correspondent touched base in London. There he received the strong impression that the British government will not accept defeat in the long hard struggle to rebuild Britain's power position and economy. Instead, if worst comes to worst, they will dust off the plan the Cabinet actually approved during the previous Iranian crisis of 1946.

At that time, it will be recalled, British occupation of southern Iran was hurriedly prepared for, in order to protect the oil property from the Soviets. If the British now move troops to Iran, Soviet occupation of the rest of the country under the 1921 treaty will become virtually inevitable.

Even if the British shrink back at the last moment from such desperate measures, a general effort by the Middle Eastern governments to take over the oil companies can only lead to political chaos throughout the whole region. The companies are actually larger organizations than the governments themselves. The process of take-over will unleash unimaginable political tensions. One way or another chaos will be unavoidable.

Chaos in the Middle East in turn will compromise the whole position in the eastern Mediterranean. The American Mediterranean fleet, which is now much larger than the British fleet there, and especially the Anglo-American air bases in Cyprus, Syrenaica and Tripoli, are now among the chief deterrents to Soviet aggression. If the airbases alone cease to be available — and the British will hardly be in a mood to permit their use if deserted by us at this juncture — the effect will be the same as losing one-half or more of the American Strategic Air Force.

In short, this business in Iran is potentially more serious for the Western alliance than anything but a naked Soviet aggression in a critical area.

This does not mean that the de-

Buying Its Own Stuff

Because U. S. war production was recklessly prodigal it was bound to be wasteful. Disposal of surplus equipment, considered not worth salvaging from the point of view of sound economics, creates opportunities for private profit. That's how it was after World War I, and that's how it was after World War II.

But when surplus goods are sold back to the United States Government at great profit to the entrepreneur and great cost to the government, the public can only wonder what goes on.

Granting that the federal establishment is an enormous, sprawling, ineffective, expensive organization, whose methods no private business would tolerate, it ought to be possible to achieve coordination to prevent absolute waste of public funds, which come out of the citizen's pocket.

The Philippine truck deal is a prime case in point. In 1947 an American dealer heard that the Philippine government was offering surplus United States Army trucks for sale. A representative sent out there bought them for from $200 to $250 each. Transported to the United States and repaired, 358 trucks were sold to the Atomic Energy Commission's Hanford (Wash.) plant, some for $3,500, some for $3,900.

In all, 872 trucks left in the Philippines as surplus were sold at a $425,000 profit on a $700,000 investment —and this despite lavish fees and commissions. A man named Freeman, who was indicted with the Garson brothers and former Representative May in 1947 on charges of conspiring to defraud the government on war contracts, but who was acquitted, demanded $100,000 for steering the deals to the "right people" in the Philippines, a claim which his estate compromised for $42,000.

A fee of $98,000 was paid to lawyers, who undertook to negotiate with the Department of Commerce for amendment of regulations that barred sale of the trucks in the United States. Commission of $125,000 was paid for information that led to the $1,200,000 sale of trucks to the AEC.

That is one case. There were others, such as the sale of surplus equipment to the Army's tank arsenal at Detroit. If all this was legal, it was stupid and expensive on the part of government agencies.

Pleas for higher taxes for defense, against a background of such extravagance and incompetence, have a hollow sound.

Peron's Defiance

Shocked reaction of the free world to the seizure of La Prensa, the independent daily of Argentina, at the behest of Dictator Peron who is currently operating on a $125,000,000 "loan" from Washington—will be intensified by the fact he has now indicated its life of independence is at an end.

Peron knows how his flouting of the guaranty of a free press in Argentina's constitution is regarded in the United States and in many parts of Latin America. In an address to the General Confederation of Labor, which had indorsed him for re-election, Peron called La Prensa "one of the bridgeheads left here by capitalism," and continued:

"In this country I must establish once and for all, that those abroad may listen, that here freedom is for the Argentine people and only for the Argentine people. International capitalism has begun a reaction against us."

Peron asserted international capitalism sought "to poison the people by captious and fallacious information," by which he meant any criticism of governmental acts.

A sad state of affairs exists in Argentina, backed by the dollars of the American taxpayers and provided by the government at Washington. One theory is that Peron feels he cannot stand public criticism because of growing unrest among the people of Argentina. What is most perplexing in this situation is by what devious reasoning the defense and security of the United States is thought to be enhanced by giving him money from the U. S. Treasury.

Foreign Students

An all-time high has been reached with 30,000 foreign students enrolled in institutions of higher education in the United States. The Institute of International Education, which keeps close check on the numbers, nations of origin and objectives of these students, discloses that engineering is the subject selected by the largest number, which is not surprising in a world keyed to industrial progress and danger of war. Next come liberal arts and then the social sciences, which seems to be a logical order.

Of the 30,000 students, approximately 13 per cent are financed wholly or in part by the United States Government, 4 per cent of their own governments, 33 per cent by private agencies.

A surprising fact to most Americans is that 50 per cent of these foreign students are paying their own expenses, having come to the United States to obtain the best education available anywhere. Up to a decade ago the foreign students were preponderantly from Europe and Latin America. Today the Near East, Asia and even Africa are sizably represented.

Most of these students under the terms of their admission must return to their homes when their training is completed. Many will be teachers, and almost all, it is presumed, will be exponents in some small degree of the American way of life.

There is no way of calculating to what degree they will be the means of promoting better understanding, but it should be substantial.

Back To Its Origin

The Congress of the United States will be invited to sit in session in Independence Hall next July 3 or 4 as part of Philadelphia's celebration of the 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

Whether or not Congress meets in Independence Hall, for it to do so would be in the true spirit of American history. It was there that Congress first met, and Philadelphia was the first capital of the nation.

The surroundings might seem strange for some Congressmen, whose precepts of government have strayed far from those held by that first Congress. Their explanation is, of course, that times have changed. But if they sit for a day in that historic hall, the thought might intrude that times have not changed as much as people, and especially Congressmen.

It seems like a good idea to have Congress meet in Independence Hall, if only for a day. Exposure to those historic surroundings should result in making better Americans of many of its members.

Television is said to have brought the American people face to face with the crime situation. With wrestling as a doubtful added attraction

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Feigned Illness

A MALINGERER feigns illness to collect compensation, avoid work, or escape an unpleasant situation. This constitutes a serious offense in war time among members of our armed services and medics hesitate to make the diagnosis unless ample proof exists.

Some malingerers put on an act that is so clumsy as to be obvious. Many years ago a prisoner was admitted to jail and as soon as he saw the prison physician he developed a "fit." He received little attention so he had another. A second one so soon after the first is unusual and this man's case became apparent when he deliberately scratched his head with his fingers while halfway through the seizure. After the physician became stern the man stopped his symptoms immediately, got up, brushed himself off, and said, "You win, doc." He had hoped that by pretending illness he might be sent to the prison hospital where conditions were more pleasant than in the cells.

At the other end of the line we find malingerers so clever they fool the best of physicians. Their performance is so perfect that now and then they permit themselves to be subjected to unnecessary operations provided surgery helps to further their plans. Recently two physicians reported their experience with a middle aged woman. She was a problem patient from the beginning. She complained of chills, fever, abdominnal pain, and jaundice, all of which had the earmarks of gall bladder or liver disease. The previous year her gall bladder had been removed surgically, but her skin remained yellow and for months the cause escaped detection. The results of certain tests were suggestive, however, and she was examined under ultraviolet illumination. To the surprise of the physicians, her skin and even the nails glowed brilliantly with a greenish-yellow color. Similar studies on individuals with bona fide jaundice caused by gall bladder trouble showed no evidence of fluoresence.

The medical men decided to do a bit of detective work. They found that a solution of atabrine exhibited the same fluorescence. This was the anti-malarial medicine so many of our men took in World War II. It produces a temporary yellowish discoloration of the skin resembling jaundice. Special analyses of the patient's urine showed the fluid loaded with atabrine. Confronted with this evidence, she vehemently denied taking the drug but finally admitted the hoax. She had home difficulties and was deliberately feigning illness as a way out.

Malingering also is done to secure narcotics. The addict generally preys on a young and inexperienced physician and claims to have an incurable condition which is causing more pain that he can stand. The scene he puts on is so convincing, he cannot be questioned or examined. The patients in the waiting room also are fooled by the dramatics and are so sympathetic they often lend a helping hand. These addicts are soon detected but not until they have pulled the same trick several times.

We usually think of malingering as a deliberate attempt to feign illness but many of these subjects are mentally ill. Something must be wrong when an individual goes to this extreme to solve his problems. Actually, malingering only adds to his difficulties and this explains why the line between neuroses and malingering is so thin. The manifestations and motives may be the same, but one is conscious and other unconscious.

MEMBRANE PATCHES

Mrs. D. writes: Can bridgework cause leucoplakia on the inside of the cheeks?

REPLY

Yes, if the bridgework is irritating the membranes. Jagged teeth and poorly fitting dentures also play a role in the production of these lesions. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for leaflet on leucoplakia.

POLIO AND PAPERS

Mrs. N. writes: My son was stricken with polio last month. He had been in the habit of collecting old newspapers. Could this be responsible for his contracting this disease?

REPLY

We do not know how polio is spread but the cause you mention seems most unlikely. Only a handful of the thousands of victims of the disease have handled old newspapers.

DIZZY ON MOVEMENT

V. G. T. writes: What causes a swimming sensation when looking up or on turning the head suddenly?

REPLY

This may be due to a disturbance in the middle ear (Meniere's syndrome), in which there is swelling of the structure that help us maintain balance. A circulatory disorder is another possibility; on turning the head or looking up quickly, the flow of blood cannot keep up with the quick movements.

GOP Fears MacArthur Issue May Backfire; Republicans Don't Have Enough Votes To Impeach Truman; McCarthy Has Not Always Supported MacArthur

WASHINGTON—In private caucuses Congressional Republicans haven't been quite as outspoken for General MacArthur, or against President Truman—as in their public statements. Some have feared the MacArthur issue, unless carefully handled, might backfire and give the public the impression that Republican chiefs favor a third world war.

Congressman A. L. (Doc) Miller of Nebraska warned of this at the first caucus of House Republicans.

"We must not leave ourselves open to Democratic charges that we are subscribing to a war policy by defending MacArthur," Miller cautioned. "In inviting the General back here, it should be made clear that we are not necessarily confirming his policy on the Far East until we have heard his story."

Congressman Fred Coudert of New York seconded Miller, as did several others, including Congressman Jack Javits of New York.

"The American people," Javits cautioned, "have a right to hear MacArthur's side of his conflict with Truman and it is right that we should invite him to Washington to express himself. At the same time I think we ought to make it clear that we Republicans do not approve of military leaders dictating to civilian authorities."

No Impeachment

At another closed-door conference with the House GOP Policy Committee, Joe Martin also rejected the idea of trying to impeach the President.

"We don't have the votes," explained the ex-Speaker. "Anyway, it might be difficult to prove illegality in the President's removal of a field commander."

However, some Republicans have expressed concern lest MacArthur himself be subject to court martial if in his speech in Washington he strongly assails his commander-in-chief and the government's Far East policy—and contributes to national disunity by so doing.

They don't believe the Truman Administration would have the courage to initiate such a court martial, however. Also Rep. John Vorys of Ohio, rated an authority on Constitutional law, thinks MacArthur can speak out with impunity.

"No-Night-Owl" Vinson

Georgia's gruff Congressman Carl Vinson got the first news of MacArthur's ouster in a 1 a. m. phone call from General Bradley.

As chairman of the powerful House Armed Services Committee, Vinson is handled with kid gloves by the brass hats. He has important legislative power over their policies, so Bradley wanted to be sure Vinson got the MacArthur news before reading it in the papers.

"This is General Bradley," he said. "I have called to tell you that President Truman has just removed General MacArthur from command. I'll read you his statement."

"Nobody will read me a statement this time of night," interrupted the Congressman from Georgia.

Then half apologetically he mumbled: "That's fine, that's fine. Thank you, General. Good night."

Most vociferous champion of General MacArthur in the current controversy has been a certain Senator from Wisconsin. He has claimed that the President's firing of MacArthur was influenced by midnight "bourbon and benedictine," at a time when Mr. Truman didn't know any better.

However, here is a letter by the same Senator from Wisconsin, addressed to the people of Wisconsin on March 31, 1948, when General MacArthur was running for President of the United States in the Wisconsin GOP Primary, and when this Senator felt that the most effective way to stop MacArthur was to play up his divorce and his age.

The letter, mimeographed and sent out by the thousands—not at midnight and apparently not under the influence of bourbon and benedictine—was addressed: "Dear Folks." It read:

"General MacArthur has been a great general. But he is now ready for retirement. He would be 72 years old before a term as president ended. Twice before we have had presidents who became physically weakened during their term of office and both times it had very sad results for our country. . .

"On returning to Wisconsin I notice that hundreds of big campaign billboards tell the people to support the General because he is a native son of Wisconsin. The Hearst papers, which are booming the General's candidacy, refer to him as the 'Wisconsin-born General.' This is not true.

"The General was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, on January 26, 1880, and not in Wisconsin. He is not listed on any poll list as a voter in Wisconsin. Neither his first nor his second marriage, or his divorce, took place in Wisconsin. He was first married in Florida to Mrs. Walter Brooks of Baltimore, who now lives in Washington, D. C. After she divorced him in Reno Nevada, he was remarried in New York City. Neither wife ever resided or voted in Wisconsin. In a sworn marriage application for his second marriage he did not claim Wisconsin as his residence, but gave Manila as his residence and Baltimore, Maryland, as the domicile of his former marriage."

That letter was signed by the

Vested Interest In Error

ONE OF THE unnoted phases of the MacArthur dismissal is the danger that he faced from a Russian lend-lease policy that could have made our position in the Pacific untenable. This has to do with a lend-lease operation by which the Russians planned to provide the Chinese Communists with a jet-propelled armament and a large submarine force.

It was the United States that established it as proper international procedure for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent with armaments in time of war and yet remain neutral. This was done in 1940, when the United States exchanged American destroyers for bases in British territory. By this transaction, the United States, a neutral, assisted Great Britain, a belligerent. In Lord Lothian's letter, dated September 2, 1940, the British leased us some bases "freely and without consideration," while in Cordell Hull's letter of the same date, appears:

"In consideration of the declarations above quoted, the Government of the United States will immediately transfer to his majesty's government fifty United States Navy destroyers generally referred to as the twelve hundred-ton type. . ."

The Lend-Lease Act was passed on March 11, 1941. The United States did not become a belligerent by act of Congress until December 8, 1941. Therefore, at the time of the passage of the Lend-Lease Act, the United States was neutral. In World War I, the United States took the position that as a neutral, she would sell her wares to any belligerent that could come here to get them and could pay for them.

However, in World War II, President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins devised a novelty which made it possible for a neutral nation to supply a belligerent and yet remain neutral. The exact words of this law are imporiant at this stage:

"(1) To manufacture in arsenals, factories, and shipyards under their jurisdiction, or otherwise procure, to the extent to which funds are made available therefore, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for the government of any country whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States.

"(2) To sell, transfer title to, exchange, lease, lend, or otherwise dispose of, to any such government any defense article. . . ."

Few restrictions were placed upon the president:

"(B) The terms and conditions upon which any such foreign government receives any aid authorized under subsection (A) shall be those which the president deems satisfactory, and the benefit to the United States may be payment or repayment in kind or property, or any other direct or indirect benefit which the president deems satisfactory."

Under the terms of the American Lend-Lease Act, it is permissible for Soviet Russia to remain neutral in our Korean War, yet to supply Soviet China with all the arms required, including jet-propelled planes and submarines. In fact, the United States has no grounds for protesting even the employment of Russian experts by the Chinese Communists in the war against the United States. For this is what the Lend-Lease Act has to say on this subject:

"(3) To test, inspect, prove, repair, outfit, recondition, or otherwise to place in good working order, to the extent to which funds are made available therefor, or contracts are authorized from time to time by the Congress, or both, any defense article for any such government, or to procure any or all such services by private contract."

General Douglas MacArthur, as commander of Americans in war—even if they are called United Nations troops, they are Americans—recognized the danger to his men and the untenability of our position if Russia, as a neutral, could lend-lease jet-propelled planes and submarines to the Chinese, who could thus bottle up our fleet and destroy our men, particularly were we caught in a simultaneous action in Asia and Europe. This he tried to convey to the authorities in Washington without success. His letter to Congressman Joe Martin brought the problem into the open.

Old-fashioned international lawyers followed the precedents which had been developed by experience over the centuries. The innovators during the near deal abhorred precedents and established new procedures, which, in themselves, have become precedents. This one is blowing in our faces at this moment. In the MacArthur controversy, this is an important factor.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 16—President Truman keeps on denying in his speeches that there is any appeasement of the Communists intended but the fact remains that in the Department of State a plan to do what really amounts to an appeasement of Communist China is being hatched.

The first public intimation that appeasement was in the wind came, strangely enough, in a White House release of a message that was sent by the Joint Chiefs of Staff on March 20 to General MacArthur. The real purpose in releasing the message — if it wasn't done accidentally — was to show that General MacArthur jumped the gun, so to speak, when he broadcast directly his appeal to the Chinese Communist military commander to agree to an armistice. The stories have been widely disseminated by Administration supporters that MacArthur stole the thunder of the government back home by making an appeal to his opposite military commander similar to that which the Department of State intended to make through the UN and that he followed the wording closely. It has been asserted, moreover, that the policy in question was cleared with the United Nations and that General MacArthur spilled the beans.

Reports Not True

There is not a scintilla of truth in either of these allegations. The message of March 20 is bound to become a historic document not only because it shows there was no United Nations policy or decision by the American government but because it shows the State Department was telling MacArthur to deploy his troops in some sort of confusing military operation whereby he didn't advance but yet maintained contact with the enemy while the diplomats were to talk for a few weeks.

Here is the text of that message:

"To the Commander in Chief, Far East from the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

"State (Department) planning Presidential announcement shortly that, with (the) clearing of the bulk of South Korea of aggressors, United Nations (are) now prepared to discuss conditions of settlement in Korea. Strong feeling persists that further diplomatic effort toward settlement should be made before any advance with major forces north of (the) Thirty Eighth Parallel. Time will be required to determine diplomatic reactions and permit new negotiations that may develop. Recognizing that (the 38th) Parallel has no military significance, (the) State (Department) has asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff what authority you should have to permit sufficient freedom of action for (the) next few weeks to provide security for (the) UN forces and maintain contact with (the) enemy. Your recommendations (are) desired."

The foregoing shows how speculative and vague the State Department's plan was. It does not reveal the basis, if any, which the Department of State had for virtually ordering American troops to stand still and be shot at while diplomats talked even though the enemy had not agreed to hold his fire. Every piece of evidence thus far from press dispatches and from Trygve Lie, secretary-general of the United Nations, reveals that the Communist Chinese government at Peiping has rebuffed every effort to talk peace and has lately refused even to make appointments at the Chinese Foreign Office with diplomatic representatives there from Britain, India and Sweden to talk about the subject. Why was the Department of State so anxious to stop our side from fighting while it did a job of palavering with other governments? The only answer is that an appeasement program is in the works. Here are its details:

"Victory" Line

A "cease fire" line in a zigzag direction a few miles north and also a few miles south of the 38th Parallel is to be the armistice line. This is supposed to be our "victory" line. When we gain that line, as General Ridgway in his political statement on March 12 said, American and the United Nations will have gained a "victory."

The rest, it seems, is to be left to diplomacy. Thus is the Korean republic to be thrown to the Communist wolves. Thus also is the UN to accept the 38th Parallel line as all that it ever achieved since last June against the aggressor even though the UN branded Red China as an aggressor and is supposed to have resolved at one time to liberate all Korea. But the new plan presupposes that no liberation by military means can be achieved and that attainment of the barrier at the 38th Parallel is the substitute.

The legal basis for the plan is that, our "military objective" having been attained, the "political objective" is a matter for UN determination. The idea of an "independent, United Korea" is to be left to diplomatic negotations with Red China presumably over a long period of time. Thus 60,000 casualties will have been suffered by the American government just to maintain the 38th Parallel and to admit that the UN could not push the aggressor out of Korea but must let him stay where he started from last June—ready, perhaps, to jump across the parallel at any time. The Red Chinese have said all foreign troops must be withdrawn and this presumably means the Communist North Koreans of course will remain. That's the appeasement plan. It will of course be denied that this is appeasement. But this was what was planned before General MacArthur was fired. Maybe it will not materialize now because American public opinion may prevent it from being consummated.

The Slow Match

TEHERAN

IN THE FIRST POINT the American and British negotiators have passed over in their meaningless communique from Washington is the extreme seriousness of the Iranian situation they have been so nervously discussing. By a long course of flaccidity and folly, Iran and the Middle East in general have been brought close to the point of explosion. The decision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Irania oil company is merely the slow match that may touch off the explosion.

The American tendency to assume an air of conscious rectitude, and to hint that this is a nasty imperialist mess with which we are not concerned, can only be compared with the similar (and even less excusable) British tendency in dealing with the Far Eastern crisis in recent months. In fact American interests are as inextricably entangled in this Iranian problem as are British interests.

If no sensible compromise on the oil question is found, the first consequence will be general imitation of the Iranian example throughout the whole Middle East. The American oil properties here will also be involved. What is far worse, loss of control of her Middle Eastern oil, which is all the oil Britain has, will promptly reduce Britain to the status of a secondary power. Thus the whole huge American postwar investment in maintaining Britain as a major power ally will be flushed down the drain. Interruption or reduction of Middle Eastern oil supplies will be crippling, in truth, to the strength of all of Western Europe.

Potentially Serious Situation

Enroute to Teheran, this correspondent touched base in London. There he received the strong impression that the British government will not accept defeat in the long hard struggle to rebuild Britain's power position and economy. Instead, if worst comes to worst, they will dust off the plan the Cabinet actually approved during the previous Iranian crisis of 1946.

At that time, it will be recalled, British occupation of southern Iran was hurriedly prepared for, in order to protect the oil property from the Soviets. If the British now move troops to Iran, Soviet occupation of the rest of the country under the 1921 treaty will become virtually inevitable.

Even if the British shrink back at the last moment from such desperate measures, a general effort by the Middle Eastern governments to take over the oil companies can only lead to political chaos throughout the whole region. The companies are actually larger organizations than the governments themselves. The process of take-over will unleash unimaginable political tensions. One way or another chaos will be unavoidable.

Chaos in the Middle East in turn will compromise the whole position in the eastern Mediterranean. The American Mediterranean fleet, which is now much larger than the British fleet there, and especially the Anglo-American air bases in Cyprus, Syrenaica and Tripoli, are now among the chief deterrents to Soviet aggression. If the airbases alone cease to be available — and the British will hardly be in a mood to permit their use if deserted by us at this juncture — the effect will be the same as losing one-half or more of the American Strategic Air Force.

In short, this business in Iran is potentially more serious for the Western alliance than anything but a naked Soviet aggression in a critical area.

This does not mean that the de-

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A young clergyman, about to preach his first sermon, was a bundle of nerves as he waited in the vestry. Would his voice carry? Would he hold his fashionable audience? Above all did he look his best? "Dear me," he reflected aloud, "if only there was a glass here." A moment later the verger tapped him on the shoulder and whispered. "Here's a whole bottle. All I had to do was mention your name."

A fine distinction between acquaintanceship and friendship has been established by such Southern tobacco auctioneers as haven't been exported to New York for radio appearances. Several were convening in a Winston-Salem pub when a newcomer approached. One of the group patted him on the back and said, "Russ, you know Joe Arbuckle, don't you?" Russ grudgingly extended a hand, and allowed, "We've howdied but we ain't shook."

Barger And Herath Named To New Kelly Positions

Charles L. Herath, 210 Avirett Avenue, has been appointed chief engineer at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, it was announced yesterday.

Herath replaces John R. Connelly who resigned March 15 to accept the position of engineer with the New Jersey Zinc Company, Palmerton, Pa.

The Kelly firm also announced the promotion of William G. Barger, LaVale, to Herath's former position as senior staff engineer.

Herath, a native of Cumberland, attended Allegany High School, Georgetown University and the Cook School of Architecture, Chicago. He has been with Kelly-Springfield since 1942.

Prior to accepting employment with Kelly he was in the Engineering Department of the Amcelle plant here for six and a half years.

Married to the former Grace Haines, Parsons, W. Va., Herath is the father of a 14-year-old daughter and a 30-month-old son.

He is a member of the executive board of the Cumberland Engineers Club, a past master of Fort Cumberland Lodge A. F. and A. M., a member of the Cumberland Consistory and Ali Ghan Shrine and a life member and past prelate of the Moose Lodge.

Barger, a native of Sewickley, Pa., was graduated from Penn State College with a mechanical engineering degree.

He served in the Engineer Corps as a second lieutenant in World War 2 and has been with Kelly since 1946.

He was recently appointed director of Civil Defense for Allegany county and is commanding officer of the explosive ordnance disposal detachment of the local Army Reserve.

He is a member of the Engineers Club and Scoutmaster for Troop 7, Boy Scouts of America.

Married to the former Daisy Hall, Thomasville, N. C., Barger is the father of two sons.

Foreman At Dam Overcome By Gas

Clifton O. Jones, labor foreman at the Savage river dam, was overcome by carbon monoxide yesterday morning while working in the control chamber of the structure.

Respirator squads of the Piedmont and Westernport fire companies answered the call and Jones was later admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., for observation.

Three other men were working with Jones at the time of the mishap. His condition is not considered serious.

Suits Removed To Hagerstown

Three damage suits involving claims for $32,000 as a result of the death of a mine picket, Thomas Robertson, 43, Lonaconing, and injury to Melvin Cuthbertson, also of Lonaconing, have been removed to Washington County Circuit Court, Hagerstown, for a hearing.

William C. Walsh and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorneys for the defendants, asked for a change in venue claiming they could not get a fair and impartial trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit for $25,000 was brought by the State of Maryland for the use of Ora K. Robertson, widow of the deceased, and her four children, against John F. Hughes, Francis J. Hughes and Mrs. John F. Hughes, trading as the Hughes Coal Company, and William J. Hughes. The latter was the driver of the truck which struck Robertson and Cuthbertson.

The second suit is for $2,000 and was brought by Mrs. Robertson as administrator of the estate of her husband. The suit is for the cost of medical and funeral expenses. The third suit was brought by Cuthbertson and he is asking $5,000 for injuries received as a result of the mishap.

William J. Hughes, 25, driver of the truck in the mishap, was tried in court here last week on a charge of manslaughter. Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish and Associate Judge George Henderson have reserved a decision to file written opinions in the case.

Robertson and Cuthbertson were two of a group of pickets patrolling the Old Cemetery Road near Lonaconing at the time the Hughes truck ran into them in May 1950.

Local Men To Speak In Washington County

Two Cumberland men are scheduled to speak in Washington County's "Citizenship Day" program, scheduled from May 3 to May 14.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris will talk May 8 at 8 p. m. at Sharpsburg, while William A. Gunter, local attorney, is slated for an address May 7 at Hancock at 8 p. m.

The program will be climaxed May 14 with a speech by Governor McKeldin at Hagerstown.

County Business Figures For 1948 Given In Report

The 1,090 retail outlets in Allegany county did $73,364,000 worth of business in 1948, final figures released by the U. S. Census of Business revealed yesterday.

Payrolls in the establishments amounted to $7,289,000, the report said, and the total of employes was 4,166 of whom 3,518 worked full-time.

Of the total business, Cumberland accounted for $54,808,000. The ...2 establishments in the county's food group led in sales with $22,473,000.

227 Firms In Garrett

The overall figures include food, apparel, automotive, gasoline service stations, lumber building and hardware, drug and proprietary stores and other retail outlets.

Garrett county's 227 establishments had sales of $12,260,000 and the payroll was $896,000. Total employes were 544 of whom 461 were full-time.

The 18 outlets in the automotive group led Garrett county in sales, however, with $3,680,000. Food outlets accounted for $2,596,000.

In nearby West Virginia, Mineral county's 266 establishments had sales of $9,582,000, the census shows. The payroll amounted to $744,000. The number of employes was 527 of whom 426 were full-time.

Of the Mineral county total, Keyser accounted for 108 establishment and sales of $5,896,000. The Keyser's payroll was $524,000. Piedmont's 59 establishments had sales of $1,645,000 and a payroll of $132,000.

Hampshire Had 154

Hampshire county had 154 establishments with sales of $4,743,000, the survey revealed. The payroll for 230 employes, 189 of whom were full time, was $327,000.

Hardy county reported 105 establishments and sales of $4,249,000. The payroll was $231,000 for 181 employes of whom 148 were full-time.

Sales of $2,921,000 were reported by Morgan county's 102 business places. Payrolls totaled $141,000 for the 128 employes, 99 of them full-time.

Tucker county with 142 establishments had sales of $4,956,000 and a payroll of $354,000. There were 253 employes of whom 201 were full-time.

Barger And Herath Named To New Kelly Positions

Charles L. Herath, 210 Avirett Avenue, has been appointed chief engineer at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, it was announced yesterday.

Herath replaces John R. Connelly who resigned March 15 to accept the position of engineer with the New Jersey Zinc Company, Palmerton, Pa.

The Kelly firm also announced the promotion of William G. Barger, LaVale, to Herath's former position as senior staff engineer.

Herath, a native of Cumberland, attended Allegany High School, Georgetown University and the Cook School of Architecture, Chicago. He has been with Kelly-Springfield since 1942.

Prior to accepting employment with Kelly he was in the Engineering Department of the Amcelle plant here for six and a half years.

Married to the former Grace Haines, Parsons, W. Va., Herath is the father of a 14-year-old daughter and a 30-month-old son.

He is a member of the executive board of the Cumberland Engineers Club, a past master of Fort Cumberland Lodge A. F. and A. M., a member of the Cumberland Consistory and Ali Ghan Shrine and a life member and past prelate of the Moose Lodge.

Barger, a native of Sewickley, Pa., was graduated from Penn State College with a mechanical engineering degree.

He served in the Engineer Corps as a second lieutenant in World War 2 and has been with Kelly since 1946.

He was recently appointed director of Civil Defense for Allegany county and is commanding officer of the explosive ordnance disposal detachment of the local Army Reserve.

He is a member of the Engineers Club and Scoutmaster for Troop 7, Boy Scouts of America.

Married to the former Daisy Hall, Thomasville, N. C., Barger is the father of two sons.

Foreman At Dam Overcome By Gas

Clifton O. Jones, labor foreman at the Savage river dam, was overcome by carbon monoxide yesterday morning while working in the control chamber of the structure.

Respirator squads of the Piedmont and Westernport fire companies answered the call and Jones was later admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va., for observation.

Three other men were working with Jones at the time of the mishap. His condition is not considered serious.

Suits Removed To Hagerstown

Three damage suits involving claims for $32,000 as a result of the death of a mine picket, Thomas Robertson, 43, Lonaconing, and injury to Melvin Cuthbertson, also of Lonaconing, have been removed to Washington County Circuit Court, Hagerstown, for a hearing.

William C. Walsh and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., attorneys for the defendants, asked for a change in venue claiming they could not get a fair and impartial trial in Allegany County Circuit Court.

One suit for $25,000 was brought by the State of Maryland for the use of Ora K. Robertson, widow of the deceased, and her four children, against John F. Hughes, Francis J. Hughes and Mrs. John F. Hughes, trading as the Hughes Coal Company, and William J. Hughes. The latter was the driver of the truck which struck Robertson and Cuthbertson.

The second suit is for $2,000 and was brought by Mrs. Robertson as administrator of the estate of her husband. The suit is for the cost of medical and funeral expenses. The third suit was brought by Cuthbertson and he is asking $5,000 for injuries received as a result of the mishap.

William J. Hughes, 25, driver of the truck in the mishap, was tried in court here last week on a charge of manslaughter. Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish and Associate Judge George Henderson have reserved a decision to file written opinions in the case.

Robertson and Cuthbertson were two of a group of pickets patrolling the Old Cemetery Road near Lonaconing at the time the Hughes truck ran into them in May 1950.

Local Men To Speak In Washington County

Two Cumberland men are scheduled to speak in Washington County's "Citizenship Day" program, scheduled from May 3 to May 14.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris will talk May 8 at 8 p. m. at Sharpsburg, while William A. Gunter, local attorney, is slated for an address May 7 at Hancock at 8 p. m.

The program will be climaxed May 14 with a speech by Governor McKeldin at Hagerstown.

County Business Figures For 1948 Given In Report

The 1,090 retail outlets in Allegany county did $73,364,000 worth of business in 1948, final figures released by the U. S. Census of Business revealed yesterday.

Payrolls in the establishments amounted to $7,289,000, the report said, and the total of employes was 4,166 of whom 3,518 worked full-time.

Of the total business, Cumberland accounted for $54,808,000. The 182 establishments in the county's food group led in sales with $22,473,000.

227 Firms In Garrett

The overall figures include food, apparel, automotive, gasoline service stations, lumber building and hardware, drug and proprietary stores and other retail outlets.

Garrett county's 227 establishments had sales of $12,260,000 and the payroll was $896,000. Total employes were 544 of whom 461 were full-time.

The 18 outlets in the automotive group led Garrett county in sales, however, with $3,680,000. Food outlets accounted for $2,596,000.

In nearby West Virginia, Mineral county's 266 establishments had sales of $9,582,000, the census shows. The payroll amounted to $744,000. The number of employes was 527 of whom 426 were full-time.

Of the Mineral county total, Keyser accounted for 108 establishment and sales of $5,896,000. The Keyser's payroll was $524,000. Piedmont's 59 establishments had sales of $1,645,000 and a payroll of $132,000.

Hampshire Had 154

Hampshire county had 154 establishments with sales of $4,743,000, the survey revealed. The payroll for 230 employes, 189 of whom were full time, was $327,000.

Hardy county reported 105 establishments and sales of $4,249,000. The payroll was $231,000 for 181 employes of whom 148 were full-time.

Sales of $2,921,000 were reported by Morgan county's 102 business places. Payrolls totaled $141,000 for the 128 employes, 99 of them full-time.

Tucker county with 142 establishments had sales of $4,956,000 and a payroll of $354,000. There were 253 employes of whom 201 were full-time.

Young Business Women Plan To Make Two Trips

Names Committee For Contest

Plans for two trips were discussed at the meeting of the Young Business Women's Club, recently at Central YMCA. Miss Virginia Lee Beall presided.

April 25 the members will make a tour of the Celanese plant. Members are to take the 8 o'clock bus to the plant.

Sometime in June the group will visit Hershey, Pa. to see the "Rose Gardens" swim and hear one of the name bands.

It was decided to enter the S. T. Little table setting contest, which is being held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, the latter part of the month. A committee was named. It consists of Miss Beverly Smith, chairman; Miss Ellen Newman, Miss Mary Collins, Miss Mary Riggleman and Miss Hannah Drubeck. The group is to arrange a luncheon table.

Social Chart

The Sewing Group of First Presbyterian Church will meet at 10 a. m., tomorrow in the lecture hall.

Young Business Women Plan To Make Two Trips

Names Committee For Contest

Plans for two trips were discussed at the meeting of the Young Business Women's Club, recently at Central YMCA. Miss Virginia Lee Beall presided.

April 25 the members will make a tour of the Celanese plant. Members are to take the 8 o'clock bus to the plant.

Sometime in June the group will visit Hershey, Pa. to see the "Rose Gardens" swim and hear one of the name bands.

It was decided to enter the S. T. Little table setting contest, which is being held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, the latter part of the month. A committee was named. It consists of Miss Beverly Smith, chairman; Miss Ellen Newman, Miss Mary Collins, Miss Mary Riggleman and Miss Hannah Drubeck. The group is to arrange a luncheon table.

Cookie Campership Awards Announced By Girl Scouts

Council Acknowledges Two Large Gifts

The Girl Scout Council announced winners of the annual Girl Scout cookie sale and announced donations which have been received by the council at the monthly meeting yesterday afternoon at the scout house. Mrs. Lester Millenson, commissioner, presided.

Cookie campership awards were awarded in the Intermediate Girl Scout group to Joan Page, Troop 22, first prize for selling 550 boxes; and Charlene Hornbrook, Troop 13, second prize for selling 424 boxes.

In the Brownie group, first prize was won by Marjory Nicklin, Troop 35, selling 60 boxes and second prize, Virginia Holzshu, Troop 33, selling 57 boxes.

A motion was made to send a letter of appreciation to R. A. J. Morrison, Reading, Pa., for the Girl Scouts' share of the donation made to them, the Allegany County Crippled Children's League and the Keating Memorial Day Nursery, instead of having a testimonial dinner. The Council appointed Mrs. William Somerville and Mrs. A. M. Spioch a committee to study the most useful way of spending the gift.

A note of thanks was also sent to Fred T. Small, New York, former plant manager of the Celanese plant, for the radio-victrola combination given to the council.

Announcement was made by Miss Catherine Lippold that Established camp will be held at Green Ridge July 15-29. It also was announced that a Senior Conference is to be held April 20-21 in Waynesboro, Pa.

Centre Street PTA To Hold Card Party

Soldier Killed In Auto Crash

Car Hits Truck Near Romney, W. Va.

Cpl. Dewey Franklin Edwards, Jr., 23, of Phenix City, Ala., was instantly killed Sunday night in an accident near Romney, according to an Associated Press release last night.

Officials of Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington, D. C., said that Edwards was a member of the 1050th Air Base Group at Andrews and was on his way to Washington in an automobile with three civilians.

Their car was reported to have crashed into a truck on a sharp curve near Romney, W. Va.

The names of the civilians were not available and officials said they were reported injured and taken to a hospital at Winchester, Va.

In another accident Sunday afternoon, Cleo Loy Jr., Rio, W. Va., was seriously injured in a motorcycle mishap on Cooper Mountain, about four miles west of Capon Bridge on Route 50.

State Police, who are investigating, last night said Loy crashed into an automobile and was thrown from the motorcycle. He was taken to Memorial Hospital at Winchester. According to State Police, Loy suffered two broken hips and deep lacerations about the body. Hospital attaches said "he had a good chance."

The driver of the automobile was not known last night, police stated.

Youngest 25-Year Employe Honored

The youngest employe to be presented a 25-year service award was honored yesterday morning at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Does the sound of your voice match the meaning of what you are saying? You can make it do so!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

MOST women who want to improve their voices ask me how they can make theirs sound more colorful and expressive.

That is easy! You can attain the flexibility necessary for interesting and expressive speech just by following these suggestions:

It's the tone of your voice that transmits to the listening world your current state of mind and emotions. If your voice is to sound alive and vital, you're going to have to think about what you are saying while you are saying it!

How's Your Voice?

I'm sure you think that's exactly what you do — but if that is always the case, you are unusual. Test yourself the next time you greet a friend with whatever you usually say . . . probably: "Hello, how are you?" While you're saying it, my guess is that your mind will actually be on what you are going to say next! And so your greeting probably sounds commonplace, stilted or just plain disinterested. That's a small example, but it proves that the first step toward more colorful speech is to think consciously of the meaning behind your words.

If you're serious about wanting to improve your voice, here's the second step — an exercise. You know that you can say a word in several ways to convey several different meanings. Try saying "no" to imply successively doubt, a question, and authority. Notice how your voice changes pitch and inflection? The greater the range and flexibility of pitch, the more color your voice will have.

Never Monotonous

Now count to ten, going up the scale. Don't sing; speak the numbers. Next, count to ten going down the scale. This will widen the range of your voice if you do it three or four times a day, trying each time to get a little higher and a little lower.

Then practice reading aloud, using as much range as possible. It will sound strange and a little silly to you at first, but you'll soon discover that when your voice is flexible enough to follow your feelings, you'll no longer be speaking in a drab or uninteresting manner!

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE
You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading my new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Soldier Killed In Auto Crash

Car Hits Truck Near Romney, W. Va.

Cpl. Dewey Franklin Edwards, Jr., 23, of Phenix City, Ala., was instantly killed Sunday night in an accident near Romney, according to an Associated Press release last night.

Officials of Andrews Air Force Base, near Washington, D. C., said that Edwards was a member of the 1050th Air Base Group at Andrews and was on his way to Washington in an automobile with three civilians.

Their car was reported to have crashed into a truck on a sharp curve near Romney, W. Va.

The names of the civilians were not available and officials said they were reported injured and taken to a hospital at Winchester, Va.

In another accident Sunday afternoon, Cleo Loy Jr., Rio, W. Va., was seriously injured in a motorcycle mishap on Cooper Mountain, about four miles west of Capon Bridge on Route 50.

State Police, who are investigating, last night said Loy crashed into an automobile and was thrown from the motorcycle. He was taken to Memorial Hospital at Winchester. According to State Police, Loy suffered two broken hips and deep lacerations about the body. Hospital attaches said "he had a good chance."

The driver of the automobile was not known last night, police stated.

Youngest 25-Year Employe Honored

The youngest employe to be presented a 25-year service award was honored yesterday morning at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

Does the sound of your voice match the meaning of what you are saying? You can make it do so!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

MOST women who want to improve their voices ask me how they can make theirs sound more colorful and expressive.

That is easy! You can attain the flexibility necessary for interesting and expressive speech just by following these suggestions:

It's the tone of your voice that transmits to the listening world your current state of mind and emotions. If your voice is to sound alive and vital, you're going to have to think about what you are saying while you are saying it!

How's Your Voice?

I'm sure you think that's exactly what you do — but if that is always the case, you are unusual. Test yourself the next time you greet a friend with whatever you usually say . . . probably: "Hello, how are you?" While you're saying it, my guess is that your mind will actually be on what you are going to say next! And so your greeting probably sounds commonplace, stilted or just plain disinterested. That's a small example, but it proves that the first step toward more colorful speech is to think consciously of the meaning behind your words.

If you're serious about wanting to improve your voice, here's the second step — an exercise. You know that you can say a word in several ways to convey several different meanings. Try saying "no" to imply successively doubt, a question, and authority. Notice how your voice changes pitch and inflection? The greater the range and flexibility of pitch, the more color your voice will have.

Never Monotonous

Now count to ten, going up the scale. Don't sing; speak the numbers. Next, count to ten going down the scale. This will widen the range of your voice if you do it, three or four times a day, trying each time to get a little higher and a little lower.

Then practice reading aloud, using as much range as possible. It will sound strange and a little silly to you at first, but you'll soon discover that when your voice is flexible enough to follow your feelings, you'll no longer be speaking in a drab or uninteresting manner!

P. S. from J. R. P.

Tri-State Crops Endangered By Threat Of Frost

Cold Wave Due In Area Tonight

The Weather Bureau last night issued a frost warning for Tuesday night and early Wednesday in Western Maryland, saying "It is possible that tender vegetation may be affected."

The coldest part of a cold wave moving into the state will come at that time, the bureau said.

It predicted that a movement of cool air into Western Maryland tonight may be accompanied by snow flurries in Garrett and western Allegany counties, with partial clearing by early Tuesday.

Night temperatures were expected to be between 30 and 35 degrees in the western fruit growing areas, but with winds strong enough to prevent damage to fruit buds.

"Some scattered frosts may become likely by early Wednesday morning with the clearing of skies and the diminishing of winds," the advisory continued, "and it is possible that tender vegetation may be affected."

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park station, said last night that a light frost was expected here during the night and that temperatures had dropped sharply before midnight. He said a drop of ten degrees could be expected before morning.

Many fruit trees in this area are already in bloom and a frost could cause considerable damage.

Not much danger of a killing frost exists after April 23, Golden, stated, but with a week to go, there is still danger.

Golden reported a strong wind last night, however, and said that as long as it continued the danger was considerably less.

Play Group To Meet

The West Side Playground Association will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Moose Home. Louis C. Soethe, president, said plans for opening West Side Playground will be discussed.

Two Jailed For Stealing Cars

HANCOCK, Md., April 16—(AP)—Two youths from the Baltimore area who went on a car stealing spree that finally ended when they crashed into a tavern were sentenced today to 30 days in jail.

A third youth, who State Police say abandoned another stolen vehicle at the crash scene, was picked up at his Baltimore home.

James Edward Farley of Baltimore and Robert G. Black of Brooklyn Park pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of an automobile. Magistrate J. Ross Fite sentenced them to 30 days in the county jail at Hagerstown when they could not pay a $30 fine.

State Police identified the third boy as Robert Paul. He was taken to Cumberland to face a similar charge of unauthorized use of a car.

All three youths are 16 years old.

State Trooper Frank Badger said the trio began their wild, escapade in Baltimore Saturday, drove some 150 miles to Frostburg, then abandoned the first stolen car for another vehicle.

Badger said they started back to Baltimore but paused in Hancock long enough to take a third car.

The boys split up, two in the Frostburg automobile and the other in the Hancock car.

Badger said he spotted one of the stolen autos on Route 40. He gave chase in a patrol car. It ended when the fleeing vehicle rammed into a tavern seven miles west of Ellicott City. Farley and Black were picked up at the scene, uninjured.

Their companion, Paul, told State Police he had not driven an automobile before Saturday. He said the trio took the cars "just to drive around."

Ross Shaw Receives Washington Coin

A letter from S. J. Phillips of the Booker T. Washington Memorial Association has been received by Ross F. Shaw of Oldtown thanking him for a recent donation to the association.

Shaw sent $5 in Roosevelt dimes to the Memorial group and in return received a Booker T. Washington half dollar which contains a portrait of Washington on one face of the coin and a log cabin on the other face with the slogan "From Slave Cabin To Hall Of Fame."

The great Negro educator died in 1915 after dedicating most of his life to the service of his fellow man. In 1940 a U. S. postage stamp was issued in his honor and in 1946 his bust was placed in the Hall of Fame.

Burkholder Named State Truck Head

Fred D. Burkholder, president of the Tri-State Motor Truck Sales, Inc., Hagerstown, was appointed secretary of the Maryland Motor Truck Association at a meeting of the board of directors at the Stafford Hotel, Baltimore, April 11.

Burkholder is now serving as president of the Western Maryland Chapter of the Maryland Motor Truck Association which has as its members a large number of representatives of the Motor Truck industry and other business connections interested in the welfare of the motor truck industry's problems. The local chapter functions in Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties in Maryland.

Chiropractic Unit Elects Officers

Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, was elected president of the Auxiliary of the Maryland Chiropractic Association at a meeting Sunday at the Alexander Hotel, Hagerstown. Mrs. E. A. Thompson, Baltimore, retiring president, presided.

The unit approved a donation of $50 to the Chiropractic Research Foundation and adopted the promotion of the sale of the national auxiliary cookbook as the project for the coming year.

Others elected were Mrs. Arnold Tolley, Chevy Chase, vice president; Mrs. G. Frank Malin, Cumberland, secretary, and Mrs. Roger Fiery, Hagerstown, treasurer.

Red Men To Plan For Great Council

All past Sachems of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, are urged to attend a meeting tonight, when last minute plans for the Great Council session will be discussed and approved.

The 1951 Great Council sessions will be held in Baltimore Thursday through Saturday.

Wilmington Man Transferred To Pinto

Robert W. Phillips, Jr., formerly of the Analytical Division of the Experiment Station of Hercules Powder Company in Wilmington, Del. has been transferred to the Hercules-operated Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Pinto. Phillips earned both B. S. and M. S. degrees in chemistry from Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Higher Farm Output Urged

Heaps Speaks To County Bureau

"Production is a better answer than price ceilings in controlling inflation in the United States," Wilson A. Heaps told area farmers at a meeting of the Allegany County Farm Bureau last night at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Heaps, president of the State Farm Bureau, continued to say that the price of hogs today is below the price of 1948 because of increased production on the farm. The reason for the high price of beef and lambs is due to the scarcity of such livestock.

He remarked that the American public today is buying more meat than ever before because of high wages now being paid. His answer to the high price is "production."

Legislation affecting the county farmers was also discussed at last night's meeting attended by over 100 area farmers.

Also speaking on the program was Wilbert Smith, field representative from the Baltimore office of the state unit.

The newly elected president of the Associated Farm Women, Miss Ruth Blauson, Hazen Road, was introduced to the group. She was presented with a corsage. Wm. R. Welsh, LaVale, exhibited a flower and plant display and gave a short talk. His showing of hybrid plants was an interesting feature of the evening.

A motion picture "The Closed Book" was shown

Cold Wave Due In Area Tonight

The Weather Bureau last night issued a frost warning for Tuesday night and early Wednesday in Western Maryland, saying "It is possible that tender vegetation may be affected."

The coldest part of a cold wave moving into the state will come at that time, the bureau said.

It predicted that a movement of cool air into Western Maryland tonight may be accompanied by snow flurries in Garrett and western Allegany counties, with partial clearing by early Tuesday.

Night temperatures were expected to be between 30 and 35 degrees in the western fruit growing areas, but with winds strong enough to prevent damage to fruit buds.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park station, said last night that a light frost was expected here during the night and that temperatures had dropped sharply before midnight. He said a drop of ten degrees could be expected before morning.

Many fruit trees in this area are already in bloom and a frost could cause considerable damage.

Not much danger of a killing frost exists after April 23, Golden, stated, but with a week to go, there is still danger.

Golden reported a strong wind last night, however, and said that as long as it continued the danger was considerably less.

Tri-State Crops Endangered By Threat Of Frost

Cold Wave Due In Area Tonight

The Weather Bureau last night issued a frost warning for Tuesday night and early Wednesday in Western Maryland, saying "It is possible that tender vegetation may be affected."

The coldest part of a cold wave moving into the state will come at that time, the bureau said.

It predicted that a movement of cool air into Western Maryland tonight may be accompanied by snow flurries in Garrett and western Allegany counties, with partial clearing by early Tuesday.

Night temperatures were expected to be between 30 and 35 degrees in the western fruit growing areas, but with winds strong enough to prevent damage to fruit buds.

"Some scattered frosts may become likely by early Wednesday morning with the clearing of skies and the diminishing of winds," the advisory continued, "and it is possible that tender vegetation may be affected."

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park station, said last night that a light frost was expected here during the night and that temperatures had dropped sharply before midnight. He said a drop of ten degrees could be expected before morning.

Many fruit trees in this area are already in bloom and a frost could cause considerable damage.

Not much danger of a killing frost exists after April 23, Golden, stated, but with a week to go, there is still danger.

Golden reported a strong wind last night, however, and said that as long as it continued the danger was considerably less.

Play Group To Meet

The West Side Playground Association will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Moose Home. Louis C. Soethe, president, said plans for opening West Side Playground will be discussed.

Two Jailed For Stealing Cars

HANCOCK, Md., April 16—(AP)—Two youths from the Baltimore area who went on a car stealing spree that finally ended when they crashed into a tavern were sentenced today to 30 days in jail.

A third youth, who State Police say abandoned another stolen vehicle at the crash scene, was picked up at his Baltimore home.

James Edward Farley of Baltimore and Robert G. Black of Brooklyn Park pleaded guilty to unauthorized use of an automobile. Magistrate J. Ross Fite sentenced them to 30 days in the county jail at Hagerstown when they could not pay a $30 fine.

State Police identified the third boy as Robert Paul. He was taken to Cumberland to face a similar charge of unauthorized use of a car.

All three youths are 16 years old.

State Trooper Frank Badger said the trio began their wild, escapade in Baltimore Saturday, drove some 150 miles to Frostburg, then abandoned the first stolen car for another vehicle.

Badger said they started back to Baltimore but paused in Hancock long enough to take a third car.

The boys split up, two in the Frostburg automobile and the other in the Hancock car.

Badger said he spotted one of the stolen autos on Route 40. He gave chase in a patrol car. It ended when the fleeing vehicle rammed into a tavern seven miles west of Ellicott City. Farley and Black were picked up at the scene, uninjured.

Their companion, Paul, told State Police he had not driven an automobile before Saturday. He said the trio took the cars "just to drive around."

Ross Shaw Receives Washington Coin

A letter from S. J. Philips of the Booker T. Washington Memorial Association has been received by Ross P. Shaw of Oldtown thanking him for a recent donation to the association.

Shaw sent $5 in Roosevelt dimes to the Memorial group and in return received a Booker T. Washington half dollar which contains a portrait of Washington on one face of the coin and a log cabin on the other face with the slogan "From Slave Cabin To Hall Of Fame."

The great Negro educator died in 1915 after dedicating most of his life to the service of his fellow man. In 1940 a U. S. postage stamp was issued in his honor and in 1946 his bust was placed in the Hall of Fame.

Burkholder Named State Truck Head

Fred D. Burkholder, president of the Tri-State Motor Truck Sales, Inc., Hagerstown, was appointed secretary of the Maryland Motor Truck Association at a meeting of the board of directors at the Stafford Hotel, Baltimore, April 11.

Burkholder is now serving as president of the Western Maryland Chapter of the Maryland Motor Truck Association which has as its members a large number of representatives of the Motor Truck industry and other business connections interested in the welfare of the motor truck industry's problems. The local chapter functions in Allegany, Frederick, Garrett and Washington counties in Maryland.

Chiropractic Unit Elects Officers

Mrs. Adam Baer, Frostburg, was elected president of the Auxiliary of the Maryland Chiropractic Association at a meeting Sunday at the Alexander Hotel, Hagerstown. Mrs. E. A. Thompson, Baltimore, retiring president, presided.

The unit approved a donation of $50 to the Chiropractic Research Foundation and adopted the promotion of the sale of the national auxiliary cookbook as the project for the coming year.

Others elected were Mrs. Arnold Tolley, Chevy Chase, vice president; Mrs. G. Frank Malin, Cumberland, secretary, and Mrs. Roger Fiery, Hagerstown, treasurer.

Red Men To Plan For Great Council

All past Sachems of Tonkaway Tribe No. 120, Improved Order of Red Men, are urged to attend a meeting tonight, when last minute plans for the Great Council session will be discussed and approved.

The 1951 Great Council sessions will be held in Baltimore Thursday through Saturday.

Past Sachems who have not signified their intentions of attending must contact Joseph Spinetta before tonight's meeting.

Phillips earned both B. S. and M. S. degrees in chemistry from Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Higher Farm Output Urged

Heaps Speaks To County Bureau

"Production is a better answer than price ceilings in controlling inflation in the United States," Wilson A. Heaps told area farmers at a meeting of the Allegany County Farm Bureau last night at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Heaps, president of the State Farm Bureau, continued to say that the price of hogs today is below the price of 1948 because of increased production on the farm. The reason for the high price of beef and lambs is due to the scarcity of such livestock.

He remarked that the American public today is buying more meat than ever before because of high wages now being paid. His answer to the high price is "production."

Legislation affecting the county farmers was also discussed at last night's meeting attended by over 100 area farmers.

Also speaking on the program was Wilbert Smith, field representative from the Baltimore office of the state unit.

The newly elected president of the Associated Farm Women, Miss Ruth Blauson, Hazen Road, was introduced to the group. She was presented with a corsage. Wm. R. Welsh, LaVale, exhibited a flower and plant display and gave a short talk. His showing of hybrid plants was an interesting feature of the evening.

A motion picture "The Closed Book" was shown

Pittsburgh Scores Frigid 4-3 Victory Over Cincinnati

Yanks-Bosox, Dodgers-Phils Games Take Spotlight Today

Buccos Play St. Louis; Ceremonies At Capital Are Reset For Friday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Snow flurries swirled around 30,441 blanketed Cincinnati fans today as Pittsburgh racked up Ewell Blackwell for a 4-3 victory that opened the baseball season a day early.

Rain washed out the other half of the special ceremonial opening at Washington.

Given a better break from the weatherman, all 16 clubs will be busy tomorow when about 242,000 customers are expected to attend an eight-game schedule. It had better be warmer at Philadelphia where they're daring the elements with a night game, the first arc-light opener in American League history.

At least for one day, Rickey's Pirates are leading the league—a sharp reversal of their dreary cellar finish of 1950.

The miserable weather conditions were not confined to Cincinnati. It rained in Washington where President Truman was due to toss out the first ball before the New York Yankee-Washington opener.

With the postponement of the Yankee-Senators game, the National League had the field all to itself. It was the first time in many a long, chilly year the National beat the American to the opening punch.

Play Two Games Friday

The Washington washout set up the earliest day-night doubleheader in major league history. Clark Griffith wasted little time rescheduling the opening game and ceremonies for 2:00 p. m. (EST) Friday. The clubs will play their regularly scheduled game at 8:30 p. m. (EST) that night as planned.

Before returning to New York for tomorrow's opener with the Boston Red Sox, Manager Casey Stengel outlined Yankee pitching plans for the next five days. It was a bold, unprecedented move by old Case, shooting for his third straight pennant. Stengel named all four world series pitcher in advance last fall, too. He got away with it.

"It's Raschi tomorrow," he said. "Lopat Wednesday and Byrne Thursday against Boston. When we come back here Friday, Frank Shea will pitch the afternoon game and Morgan at night.

Tom Morgan, an accomplished rookie grad from the Binghamton, N. Y. farm, was to have worked against the Senators today.

The Yankee-Red Sox opener with Raschi (21-8) facing Lefty Bill Wight (10-16), Boston's winter acquisition from Chicago, shares top billing with the Brooklyn-Philadelphia feature in the National.

In addition to watching their world champs wrestle with Ted Williams and Co., Yankee fans will get their first look at Mickey Mantle, 19-year-old rookie phenom. Some $5,000 are expected.

Roberts Faces Newcombe

Robin Roberts, (20-11), the handsome righthander who pitched the Phils' pennant clincher on the last day of the '50 season, will hurl for the National League champs at Ebbets Field. Because Don Newcombe's elbow has been acting up, Carl Erskine (7-6) will be the Dodger pitcher.

With a break in the weather, the new Dodger owners expect 30,000 fans. It's about the same club as last year, except for rookie Rocky Bridges on third and Don Thompson in left field. The Phils present the same lineup that won the pennant.

Larry Jansen (19-13) is Leo Durocher's hope to get the New York Giants away fast at Boston against Vern Bickford (19-14) of the Braves. The Giants are pennant-happy this spring on the strength of their fine finish last season. Billy Southworth of the Braves still is looking for that No. 4 pitcher behind Bickford, Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn. The Braves count on 20,000 paid.

Pirates Battle Cards

Fresh from their opening victory at Cincinnati, the Pirates rush home where 30,000 will watch them bow in against Marty Marion's St. Louis Cards. It will be Murry Dickson (10-15) for the Bucs, and Tom Poholsky (0-0), a brilliant rookie from Rochester, for the Cards. Marion, placed on the disabled list today, definitely will be a bench manager.

Cincinnati at Chicago's Wrigley Field will round out the National League schedule. Some 28,000 are expected to see Kenny Raffensberger (14-19), the Reds' softball expert, against Frank Hiller (12-5). The Cubs are raring to go after topping the league in exhibition games.

Detroit will give New York a close race for attendance honors with 54,000 due to watch the Tigers open at home against Cleveland. Hal Newhouser (15-13) for the Tigers and Bob Lemon (23-11) will be the pitchers as Al Lopez makes his debut as Tribe manager.

Opener Is Night Game

The night opener brings Washington to Philadelphia with Bob Kuzava (9-10), who was supposed to work for Washington today, opposing the A's Bobby Shantz (8-14). A turnout of 10,000 is due to watch the A's make their first start without Connie Mack as manager. Jimmy Dykes replaced the old gentleman during the winter.

Chicago's new manager, Paul Richards, takes his Grapefruit League champs to St. Louis where Billy Pierce (12-16) is due to oppose the Browns' ace, Ned Garver (13-18) before 15,000.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Virginia at Maryland (rain)
Davidson 8, North Carolina 7
Bridgewater 11, Mt. Sa. Mary's 4.

MUST WAIT — Rookie Tom Morgan, above, who was the surprise selection of Manager Casey Stengel to pitch the opener for the Yankees against Washington yesterday must wait until Friday night to face the Senators because rain caused postponement of yesterday's contest at the capital. Morgan won 17 and lost 8 for Binghamton last season.

Nats And Yanks Tangle Friday

Play Day, Night Tilts Opener Is Washed Out

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman—and 30,000 other people—didn't get to see the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators open the American League baseball season today after all.

A gentle but steady rain that began before noon finally brought a postponement.

The two teams now are scheduled to meet Friday at 2 p. m. EST. in Washington's delayed opening day game.

The Yanks and Senators already had been scheduled to meet that day, at 8:30 p. m. that game will remain on the schedule, so the two teams will meet twice Friday.

All the razz-ma-tazz that goes with an opening game will be put on Friday.

Mr. Truman said he wouldn't miss it for anything. He said he was sorry about the rain today.

Mangrum Noses Out Jim Ferrier For Top Money Honors

Ferrier collected $11,254.16. Lew Worsham was third with $6,404.50.

Mangrum and Ferrier, who won three tournaments apiece on the winter swing, also are locked in a fight for Vardon trophy honors. Ferrier is leading with an average of 69.78 strokes in 51 competitive rounds. Mangrum is second with 69.94 in 48.

Sam Snead still is far ahead in Ryder Cup standings with 1,045 11/12 points while Mangrum is second with 845 43/60. Ben Hogan made the biggest gain in Ryder Cup points, picking up 95 by winning the Masters to bring his total to 287½. He moved from 11th to seventh place.

Teams Meet Today

The Kelly Retail Store and Cunningham's Grocery softball teams will play a practice game today at 5:30 p. m. at Fort Hill field.

Grace Pinmen Annex Church League Title

Score Over Central, John Hull Hits 856

Captain Harold Brown's Grace Methodist pinmen won the championship of the City Church Bowling League for the 1950-51 season by defeating Central Methodist last night by the margin of 182 pins in the finals of the circuit's Shaughnessy roll-offs on Kelso's alleys.

Leading the attack for the winners in the championship match was 74-year-old John Hull who posted an 856 for the five games.

Other members of Grace Methodist's team are Walter Hull, son of John Hull, Leroy Owens, Harold Brown and Bill Stevenson.

B. Porter turned in a high set of 731 for Central.

Grace Methodist finished second in the 10-team race during the regular season and in the semi-finals of the playoffs defeated St. Luke's. Central eliminated Trinity Methodist.

The league's banquet will be held at St. Luke's Lutheran Church Monday, April 23 at 6:30 p. m. Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, will be toastmaster. Last night's scores:

Murphy Loses Bout On Foul

BOSTON, April 16 (AP)—Joe Rindone of Boston, a 10-3 underdog, was awarded a decision over Irish Bob Murphy of San Diego, Calif., after the latter felled him with a low blow in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout tonight at packed Boston Garden.

The decision was announced about 20 minutes after Rindone was dropped in his own corner by the mauling Californian. Dr. Morris Sandler of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission gave Rindone first-aid treatment in the ring and then ordered him removed to his dressing room.

There Dr. Sandler was joined by Dr. Thomas Kelley, official Boston Garden physician, and, after a thorough 15-minutes examination they refused to permit Rindone to return to the ring.

Marion Is Placed On Disabled List

ST. LOUIS, April 16 —(INS)—Manager Marty Marion formally placed himself on the St. Louis Cardinal's disabled list today, meaning he will not be a playing manager for at least thirty days.

At the end of that period the Cardinals have the option of returning him to active duty or keeping him on the list.

Doris Hart Wins Rome Singles Title

ROME, April 16— (INS) —Doris Hart of Miami defeated her fellow countrywoman, Shirley Fry of Akron, O., by 6-3, 8-6 today to win the women's singles title of the Rome international tennis championships.

Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., teamed with Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt to defeat Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello of Italy in the men's doubles finale, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3.

Benton Harbor Kegler Takes Lead In ABC

ST. PAUL, April 16 —(INS)—Joe Zawillan a 38-year-old pattern maker from Benton Harbor, Mich., rolled into the all-events lead of the American Bowling Congress Tournament today with a total of 1,908.

Zawillan compiled 660 in the doubles and 653 in the singles to add to his previous team event tally of 595 to displace Louis Frantz of Louisville, Ky., who has held the lead since the tourney began a week ago with 1,907.

Bobby Dykes Scores

MIAMI, Fla., April 16 (AP)—Bobby Dykes, 152¾, San Antonio, Tex., tonight punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Billy Kilgore, 162¾, Birmingham, Ala., in the Coliseum.

There were no knockdowns but Dykes outboxed his heavier foe and had the edge on counterpunching. In the final round Kilgore was wobbly but Dykes couldn't put over the clincher and the Birmingham boxer held on.

Turner Whips Jack

The 20-year-old Philadelphian, victorious in 16 of his fights by knockouts, weighed 142¼ pounds to Jack's 142.

'NUTHER 'PARSON' IN TRACK GLARE

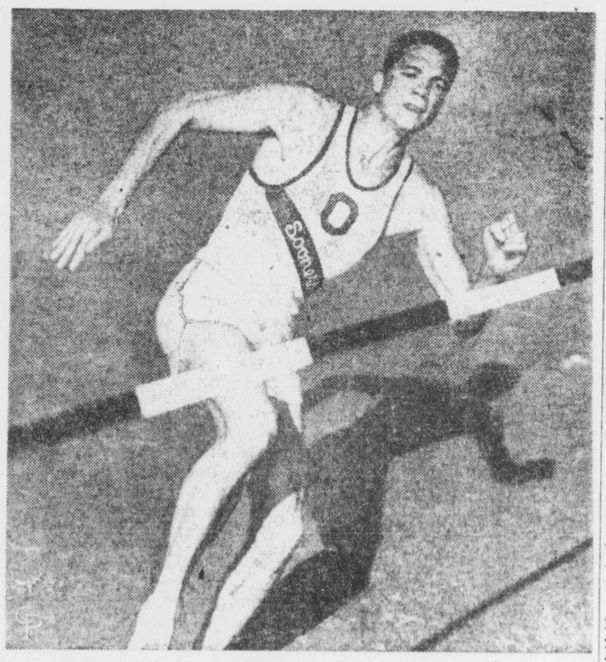

POLE VAULTING feats of the Flying Parson, the Rev. Robert Richards, during the indoor season, monopolized the sports spotlight. And now, as the outdoor season is here, another "parson," Dick Jones, University of Oklahoma high jumper, may grab most of the glare as he seeks conference and national titles. Dick, who jumps with one bare foot, cleared 6'7" at the recent Oklahoma Aggie relays. (International)

Mickey Mantle, Rookie Sensation, Has Lot To Learn, Henrich Opines

Tom Fears Publicity Could Hurt Youngster

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Just how good is Mickey Mantle?

For the benefit of those who have been too engrossed in the President Truman - Gen. MacArthur rhubarb to read the sports pages lately, Mantle is the sensational youngster who has made the big jump from Class C to the New York Yankees in one season.

Nearly all who have seen the 19-year-old lad from Commerce, Okla., have hailed him as the rookie of the generation. Those who haven't seen him can't believe what they've heard. Those who have, find it hard to believe their eyes.

An opinion worth considering is that of Tommy Henrich, the Yankee outfield coach who was something of a slugger in his own right. Henrich has been handed the assignment of teaching Mantle, a natural shortstop, all the tricks of the outfield.

"I hate to disillusion you," the ever-frank Henrich said. "Mantle is a rare youngster. He has great potential. He is one of the finest looking kids I have ever seen. But this stuff about his being another Joe DiMaggio at the plate, another Ty Cobb on the bases and a future Tris Speaker in the outfield is just so much bunk.

"It just goes to show you what publicity can do. Only a few months ago, Mantle was playing at Joplin. He was doing the same things he is doing today. But nobody ever heard of him. Just because he's with the Yankees, he becomes the marvel of the age. Such stuff may hurt the youngster.

"Sure, Mickey has a lot of power and he runs like a scared rabbit. But nobody knows how good he is. Why not wait until he faces big league pitching when it counts. What everybody forgets is that he hasn't played a major league game yet.

"Mantle has lots to learn. He hits with amazing power but he can be fooled by certain pitches. Maybe not too often, though. And he has more to learn about outfielding. He must learn how to adapt himself to different situations. When we started he knew nothing about playing the outfield. He thought all we outfielders had to do was stand out there and wait to catch a fly ball. He knows differently now. He learns fast."

How does Mantle compare to DiMaggio when Joe broke in 15 years ago?

"There is no comparison," answered Henrich. "Mantle is a raw youngster who appears to have a great future. Joe was a finished player when he came up. Not only in the field but at the plate. There was only one Joe DiMaggio."

Mantle finished the exhibition season with a .402 average in 30 games. His hits included nine homers, a triple and seven doubles.

City Loop's Roll-Offs To Open Sunday

Eight Teams Engage In Six-Game Matches

Roll-offs in the National and American Divisions of the Men's City Bowling League will get under way Sunday.

In the National Division, the Club Recreation will meet Liberty Lanes and Roxy Juniors will oppose Capital. Six games will be rolled, three on each alley.

Spa Bar wil oppose Roxy and Savoy will meet Kelso's in the American Division. The Spa Bar-Roxy series will be rolled on the Club and Roxy alleys while Savoy and Kelso's will split six games on each of the team's home lanes.

The hihgest score on the final day of the season Sunday was Ed (Pie) Conley's 243-600 for the Club team which won three from McIntryre's. Roxy Juniors, Liberty Lanes and Harbaugh's scored 3-0 wins over Kelso Juniors, Capital and Diamond.

High scores in the American Division were Oscar Leasure (Savoy) 241-576; John Bender (Spa Bar) 219-562 and "Bub" Porter (Roxy) 542.

Spa Bar beat the Eagles, 3-0, Savoy topped Kelso's 3-0 and Roxy and Yellow Top Cab scored 2-1 wins over Tommy's and Bowling Green. Final standings:

AMERICAN—Spa Bar 70-14, Savoy 60-24; Roxy 54-30; Kelso's 46-38; Bowling Green 29-55; Tommy's 28-56; Eagles 25-59; Yellow Top 24-60.

Morey's 69 Leads North, South Golf

PINEHURST, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Dale Morey, 29-year-old Southern amateur titleholder from Dallas, Tex., posted a three-under par 69 to win the qualifying medal today in the 51st North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Morey, the only player in the 148-man field to better par on each nine, turned in a 34-35 card for the 36-36 Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course, a 6,800-yard layout.

He finished one stroke ahead of Howard Everitt, Atlantic City, N. J., automobile dealer, who scored 34-36—70. Morey and Everitt are playing in the tournament for the first time.

Only two other players broke par as intermittent showers and wind raised scores well over standard figures. Harvie Ward, Southern Pines, N. C., insurance man, who won the 1948 tournament, and Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., each posted 71.

Bridgewater College Tops Mt. St. Mary's

BRIDGEWATER, Va., April 16 (AP) — Bridgewater College's Eagles blasted out nine hits and took advantage of 12 walks here today to defeat Mt. St. Mary's, 12-4, in a Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game.

The Eagles held a slender 5-4 lead going into the bottom half of the eighth inning, but they erupted in that frame for seven runs, the feature being a long home run by second baseman Vance with two men on base.

Catcher Jim Utterback contributed three hits and Shortstop Bob Barnhart collected two bingles for the winners, whose pitcher Harold Trumbo went all the way, scattering eight hits effectively.

Teams To Practice

The Sport Shoppe softball team, Tuesday and Thursday at 5:30 p. m., Taylor Field.

The Optimist Club of the Hot Stove League will practice today at 5 p. m. at Community Park. Earl Nonnenmann and Billy Underdonk are co-managers of the team.

Chambers, Werle Prove Best Polar Bears Before 30,441

Bucs Beat Blackwell, Strickland, Metkovich Star; Usher Is "Goat"

BY HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, April 16—(AP)—A pair of southpaws—Cliff Chambers and Willie Werle—were the best polar bears today as they hurled Pittsburgh to a frigid 4-3 victory over Cincinnati in the opening game of the National League's 75th season.

An overflow crowd of 30,441, overcoated and blanketed, saw the Pirates tee off on Ewell Blackwell in a hurry and then nurse their margin all the way.

The temperature was in the low forties but a brisk wind made it seem even colder. There were snow flurries and the only time the sun peeped through the clouds was just before Bobby Usher, the game's "goat," flied out to end the contest with two Redlegs on base.

Chambers had the Reds well subdued through the first four innings but he began to weaken—or maybe it was freeze up—in the fifth. He finally had to be relieved by Werle in the seventh when the Reds pulled within one run of a tie.

Werle's only trouble came in the ninth when the Reds had those two men on base with two out.

Bucs Shell Blackwell

On the other side of the picture, Blackwell, who the Reds count on for 20 victories this season, just didn't have it. He was shelled for a run in the second and three in the third before being taken out for a pinch hitter.

The game marked the unveiling of home-run hitting Ralph Kiner as a first baseman. He did all right at the job except for one play. That was on one of those difficult hard smashes to the first baseman in which he has to time his toss to the pitcher at first perfectly. Kiner didn't do that.

His throw was high to Chambers and pulled him off the bag to let Ted Kluszewski arrive safely. It didn't hurt in the scoring column, however.

Newcomers Stand Out

Aside from the two pitchers, other standouts were two newcomers in the Pirate line-up — Shortstop George Strickland and center fielder George Metkovich.

Strickland, who rode the Pirate bench all last season, got two hits in four times up and played a brilliant game at short. Metkovich whose draft from Oakland aroused a storm of protest from the Pacific Coast League last winter, got three hits in five at bats. He, too, played a brilliant game afield. He reached into the overflow crowd to stab a towering drive by Joe Adcock in the fourth inning.

After getting their first run in the second inning on three singles, the Pirates locked up the ball game in the third. That was Usher's downfall.

Usher Blows Up

Metkovich's single and a walk to Gus Bell put two men on. Kiner popped out but Wally Westlake singled to center and Usher committed two errors on the same play.

The single was good enough to register Metkovich and Bell went on to third when Usher bobbled the ball. Then the sophomore center fielder threw the ball away and Bell scored. Strickland's double brought in the final run.

From there on Harry Perkowski, Howard Fox and Frank Smith held the Corsairs.

Consecutive doubles by Bob Scheffing and Grady Hatton punctured Chambers for a Cincinnati run in the fifth and he was driven to cover in the seventh.

Another double by Hatton, a walk to pinch hitter Connie Ryan and a double by Usher brought in two runs and brought Werle to the rescue.

Today's Meet Is Postponed

Fort Hill To Vie In Handley Events

The opening track and field meet of the season scheduled for today between Fort Hill High School and the combined forces of Ridgeley, Keyser, Fort Ashby and Piedmont has been postponed on account of cold weather, Coach William P. Hahn of the Sentinels announced last night.

The Mineral County schools requested that the meet be postponed until a later date.

Rainy weather of the past two weeks has hindered both squads in training.

Hahn will take his squad to Winchester, Va., for the annual Handley High Invitational Meet on Saturday at 1 p. m.

East Palestine (Ohio) won the Handley meet last year with Fort Hill second and Handley third. The winning team receives a trophy and the winners of individual events are presented ribbons.

There are 16 events on the program, namely: TRACK—100, 220, 440, 880 and mile run, high and low hurdles, shuttle hurdle relay, medley relay, mile relay and 880 relay. FIELD—high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put and discus.

Pittsburgh Scores Frigid 4-3 Victory Over Cincinnati

Yanks-Bosox, Dodgers-Phils Games Take Spotlight Today

Buccos Play St. Louis; Ceremonies At Capital Are Reset For Friday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Snow flurries swirled around 30,441 blanketed Cincinnati fans today as Pittsburgh racked up Ewell Blackwell for a 4-3 victory that opened the baseball season a day early.

Rain washed out the other half of the special ceremonial opening at Washington.

Given a better break from the weatherman, all 16 clubs will be busy tomorow when about 242,000 customers are expected to attend an eight-game schedule. It had better be warmer at Philadelphia where they're daring the elements with a night game, the first arc-light opener in American League history.

At least for one day, Rickey's Pirates are leading the league—a sharp reversal of their dreary cellar finish of 1950.

The miserable weather conditions were not confined to Cincinnati. It rained in Washington where President Truman was due to toss out the first ball before the New York Yankee-Washington opener.

With the postponement of the Yankee-Senators game, the National League had the field all to itself. It was the first time in many a long, chilly year the National beat the American to the opening punch.

Play Two Games Friday

The Washington washout set up the earliest day-night doubleheader in major league history. Clark Griffith wasted little time rescheduling the opening game and ceremonies for 2:00 p. m. (EST) Friday. The clubs will play their regularly scheduled game at 8:30 p. m. (EST) that night as planned.

Before returning to New York for tomorrow's opener with the Boston Red Sox, Manager Casey Stengel outlined Yankee pitching plans for the next five days. It was a bold, unprecedented move by old Case, shooting for his third straight pennant. Stengel named all four world series pitcher in advance last fall, too. He got away with it.

"It's Raschi tomorrow," he said. "Lopat Wednesday and Byrne Thursday against Boston. When we come back here Friday, Frank Shea will pitch the afternoon game and Morgan at night.

Tom Morgan, an accomplished rookie grad from the Binghamton, N. Y. farm, was to have worked against the Senators today.

The Yankee-Red Sox opener with Raschi (21-8) facing Lefty Bill Wight (10-16), Boston's winter acquisition from Chicago, shares top billing with the Brooklyn-Philadelphia feature in the National.

In addition to watching their world champs wrestle with Ted Williams and Co., Yankee fans will get their first look at Mickey Mantle, 19-year-old rookie phenom. Some 65,000 are expected.

Roberts Faces Newcombe

Robin Roberts, (20-11), the handsome righthander who pitched the Phils' pennant clincher on the last day of the '50 season, will hurl for the National League champs at Ebbets Field. Because Don Newcombe's elbow has been acting up, Carl Erskine (7-6) will be the Dodger pitcher.

With a break in the weather, the new Dodger owners expect 30,000 fans. It's about the same club as last year, except for rookie Rocky Bridges on third and Don Thompson in left field. The Phils present the same lineup that won the pennant.

Larry Jansen (19-13) is Leo Durocher's hope to get the New York Giants away fast at Boston against Vern Bickford (19-14) of the Braves. The Giants are pennant-happy this spring on the strength of their fine finish last season. Billy Southworth of the Braves still is looking for that No. 4 pitcher behind Bickford, Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn. The Braves count on 20,000 paid.

Pirates Battle Cards

Fresh from their opening victory at Cincinnati, the Pirates rush home where 30,000 will watch them bow in against Marty Marion's St. Louis Cards. It will be Murry Dickson (10-15) for the Bucs, and Tom Poholsky (0-0), a brilliant rookie from Rochester, for the Cards. Marion, placed on the disabled list today, definitely will be a bench manager.

Cincinnati at Chicago's Wrigley Field will round out the National League schedule. Some 28,000 are expected to see Kenny Raffensberger (14-19), the Reds' softball expert, against Frank Hiller (12-5). The Cubs are raring to go after topping the league in exhibition games.

Detroit will give New York a close race for attendance honors with 54,000 due to watch the Tigers open at home against Cleveland. Hal Newhouser (15-13) for the Tigers and Bob Lemon (23-11) will be the pitchers as Al Lopez makes his debut as Tribe manager.

Opener Is Night Game

The night opener brings Washington to Philadelphia with Bob Kuzava (9-10), who was supposed to work for Washington today, opposing the A's Bobby Shantz (8-14). A turnout of 10,000 is due to watch the A's make their first start without Connie Mack as manager. Jimmy Dykes replaced the old gentleman during the winter.

Chicago's new manager, Paul Richards, takes his Grapefruit League champs to St. Louis where Billy Pierce (12-16) is due to oppose the Browns' ace, Ned Garver (13-18) before 15,000.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

Virginia at Maryland (rain)
Bridgewater 11, Mt. Sa. Mary's 4.

MUST WAIT — Rookie Tom Morgan, above, who was the surprise selection of Manager Casey Stengel to pitch the opener for the Yankees against Washington yesterday must wait until Friday night to face the Senators because rain caused postponement of yesterday's contest at the capital. Morgan won 17 and lost 8 for Binghamton last season.

Nats And Yanks Tangle Friday

Play Day, Night Tilts Opener Is Washed Out

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—President Truman—and 30,000 other people—didn't get to see the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators open the American League baseball season today after all.

A gentle but steady rain that began before noon finally brought a postponement.

The two teams now are scheduled to meet Friday at 2 p. m. EST. in Washington's delayed opening day game.

The Yanks and Senators already had been scheduled to meet that day, at 8:30 p. m. that game will remain on the schedule, so the two teams will meet twice Friday.

All the razz-ma-tazz that goes with an opening game will be put on Friday.

Mr. Truman said he wouldn't miss it for anything. He said he was sorry about the rain today.

Mangrum Noses Out Jim Ferrier For Top Money Honors

Ferrier collected $11,254.16. Lew Worsham was third with $6,404.50.

Mangrum and Ferrier, who won three tournaments apiece on the winter swing, also are locked in a fight for Vardon trophy honors. Ferrier is leading with an average of 69.78 strokes in 51 competitive rounds. Mangrum is second with 69.94 in 48.

Sam Snead still is far ahead in Ryder Cup standings with 1,045 11/12 points while Mangrum is second with 845 43/60. Ben Hogan made the biggest gain in Ryder Cup points, picking up 95 by winning the Masters to bring his total to 287½. He moved from 11th to seventh place.

Teams Meet Today

The Kelly Retail Store and Cunningham's Grocery softball teams will play a practice game today at 5:30 p. m. at Fort Hill field.

Grace Pinmen Annex Church League Title

Score Over Central, John Hull Hits 856

Captain Harold Brown's Grace Methodist pinmen won the championship of the City Church Bowling League for the 1950-51 season by defeating Central Methodist last night by the margin of 182 pins in the finals of the circuit's Shaughnessy roll-offs on Kelso's alleys.

Leading the attack for the winners in the championship match was 74-year-old John Hull who posted an 856 for the five games.

Other members of Grace Methodist's team are Walter Hull, son of John Hull, Leroy Owens, Harold Brown and Bill Stevenson.

B. Porter turned in a high set of 731 for Central.

Grace Methodist finished second in the 10-team race during the regular season and in the semi-finals of the playoffs defeated St. Luke's. Central eliminated Trinity Methodist.

The league's banquet will be held at St. Luke's Lutheran Church Monday, April 23 at 6:30 p. m. Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, will be toastmaster. Last night's scores:

Murphy Loses Bout On Foul

BOSTON, April 16 (AP)—Joe Rindone of Boston, a 10-3 underdog, was awarded a decision over Irish Bob Murphy of San Diego, Calif., after the latter felled him with a low blow in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout tonight at packed Boston Garden.

The decision was announced about 20 minutes after Rindone was dropped in his own corner by the mauling Californian. Dr. Morris Sandler of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission gave Rindone first-aid treatment in the ring and then ordered him removed to his dressing room.

There Dr. Sandler was joined by Dr. Thomas Kelley, official Boston Garden physician, and, after a thorough 15-minutes examination they refused to permit Rindone to return to the ring.

Marion Is Placed On Disabled List

ST. LOUIS, April 16 —(INS)—Manager Marty Marion formally placed himself on the St. Louis Cardinal's disabled list today, meaning he will not be a playing manager for at least thirty days.

At the end of that period the Cardinals have the option of returning him to active duty or keeping him on the list.

Benton Harbor Kegler Takes Lead In ABC

ST. PAUL, April 16 —(INS)—Joe Zawillan a 38-year-old pattern maker from Benton Harbor, Mich., rolled into the all-events lead of the American Bowling Congress Tournament today with a total of 1,908.

Zawillan compiled 660 in the doubles and 653 in the singles to add to his previous team event tally of 595 to displace Louis Frantz of Louisville, Ky., who has held the lead since the tourney began a week ago with 1,907.

Bobby Dykes Scores

MIAMI, Fla., April 16 (AP)—Bobby Dykes, 152¾, San Antonio, Tex., tonight punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Billy Kilgore, 162¾, Birmingham, Ala., in the Coliseum.

There were no knockdowns but Dykes outboxed his heavier foe and had the edge on counterpunching. In the final round Kilgore was wobbly but Dykes couldn't put over the clincher and the Birmingham boxer held on.

Turner Whips Jack

The 20-year-old Philadelphian, victorious in 16 of his fights by knockouts, weighed 142¼ pounds to Jack's 142.

Mickey Mantle, Rookie Sensation, Has Lot To Learn, Henrich Opines

Tom Fears Publicity Could Hurt Youngster

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Just how good is Mickey Mantle?

For the benefit of those who have been too engrossed in the President Truman - Gen. MacArthur rhubarb to read the sports pages lately, Mantle is the sensational youngster who has made the big jump from Class C to the New York Yankees in one season.

Nearly all who have seen the 19-year-old lad from Commerce, Okla., have hailed him as the rookie of the generation. Those who haven't seen him can't believe what they've heard. Those who have, find it hard to believe their eyes.

An opinion worth considering is that of Tommy Henrich, the Yankee outfield coach who was something of a slugger in his own right. Henrich has been handed the assignment of teaching Mantle, a natural shortstop, all the tricks of the outfield.

"I hate to disillusion you," the ever-frank Henrich said. "Mantle is a rare youngster. He has great potential. He is one of the finest looking kids I have ever seen. But this stuff about his being another Joe DiMaggio at the plate, another Ty Cobb on the bases and a future Tris Speaker in the outfield is just so much bunk.

"It just goes to show you what publicity can do. Only a few months ago, Mantle was playing at Joplin. He was doing the same things he is doing today. But nobody ever heard of him. Just because he's with the Yankees, he becomes the marvel of the age. Such stuff may hurt the youngster.

"Sure, Mickey has a lot of power and he runs like a scared rabbit. But nobody knows how good he is. Why not wait until he faces big league pitching when it counts. What everybody forgets is that he hasn't played a major league game yet.

"Mantle has lots to learn. He hits with amazing power but he can be fooled by certain pitches. Maybe not too often, though. And he has more to learn about outfielding. He must learn how to adapt himself to different situations. When we started he knew nothing about playing the outfield. He thought all we outfielders had to do was stand out there and wait to catch a fly ball. He knows differently now. He learns fast."

How does Mantle compare to DiMaggio when Joe broke in 15 years ago?

"There is no comparison," answered Henrich. "Mantle is a raw youngster who appears to have a great future. Joe was a finished player when he came up. Not only in the field but at the plate. There was only one Joe DiMaggio."

Mantle finished the exhibition season with a .402 average in 30 games. His hits included nine homers, a triple and seven doubles.

Vulcan's Forge, 1949 Santa Anita 'Cap Winner, Dies

City Loop's Roll-Offs To Open Sunday

Eight Teams Engage In Six-Game Matches

Roll-offs in the National and American Divisions of the Men's City Bowling League will get under way Sunday.

In the National Division, the Club Recreation will meet Liberty Lanes and Roxy Juniors will oppose Capital. Six games will be rolled, three on each alley.

Spa Bar wil oppose Roxy and Savoy will meet Kelso's in the American Division. The Spa Bar-Roxy series will be rolled on the Club and Roxy alleys while Savoy and Kelso's will split six games on each of the team's home lanes.

The hihgest score on the final day of the season Sunday was Ed (Pie) Conley's 243-600 for the Club team which won three from McIntryre's. Roxy Juniors, Liberty Lanes and Harbaugh's scored 3-0 wins over Kelso Juniors, Capital and Diamond.

High scores in the American Division were Oscar Leasure (Savoy) 241-576; John Bender (Spa Bar) 219-562 and "Bub" Porter (Roxy) 542.

Spa Bar beat the Eagles, 3-0, Savoy topped Kelso's 3-0 and Roxy and Yellow Top Cab scored 2-1 wins over Tommy's and Bowling Green. Final standings:

AMERICAN—Spa Bar 70-14; Savoy 60-24; Roxy 54-30; Kelso's 46-38; Bowling Green 29-55; Tommy's 28-56; Eagles 25-59; Yellow Top 24-60.

Morey's 69 Leads North, South Golf

PINEHURST, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Dale Morey, 29-year-old Southern amateur titleholder from Dallas, Tex., posted a three-under par 69 to win the qualifying medal today in the 51st North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Morey, the only player in the 148-man field to better par on each nine, turned in a 34-35 card for the 36-36 Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course, a 6,900-yard layout.

He finished one stroke ahead of Howard Everitt, Atlantic City, N. J., automobile dealer, who scored 34-36—70. Morey and Everitt are playing in the tournament for the first time.

Only two other players broke par as intermittent showers and wind raised scores well over standard figures. Harvie Ward, Southern Pines, N. C., insurance man, who won the 1948 tournament, and Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., each posted 71.

Bridgewater College Tops Mt. St. Mary's

BRIDGEWATER, Va., April 16 (AP)—Bridgewater College's Eagles blasted out nine hits and took advantage of 12 walks here today to defeat Mt. St. Mary's, 12-4, in a Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game.

The Eagles held a slender 5-4 lead going into the bottom half of the eighth inning, but they erupted in that frame for seven runs, the feature being a long home run by second baseman Vance with two men on base.

Catcher Jim Utterback contributed three hits and Shortstop Bob Barnhart collected two bingles for the winners, whose pitcher Harold Trumbo went all the way, scattering eight hits effectively.

Teams To Practice

The Sport Shoppe softball team, Tuesday and Thursday at 5:30 p. m., Taylor Field.

The Optimist Club of the Hot Stove League will practice today at 5 p. m. at Community Park. Earl Nonnenmann and Billy Underdonk are co-managers of the team.

Chambers, Werle Prove Best Polar Bears Before 30,441

Bucs Beat Blackwell, Strickland, Metkovich Star; Usher Is "Goat"

BY HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, April 16—(AP)—A pair of southpaws—Cliff Chambers and Willie Werle—were the best polar bears today as they hurled Pittsburgh to a frigid 4-3 victory over Cincinnati in the opening game of the National League's 75th season.

An overflow crowd of 30,441, overcoated and blanketed, saw the Pirates tee off on Ewell Blackwell in a hurry and then nurse their margin all the way.

The temperature was in the low forties but a brisk wind made it seem even colder. There were snow flurries and the only time the sun peeped through the clouds was just before Bobby Usher, the game's "goat," flied out to end the contest with two Redlegs on base.

Chambers had the Reds well subdued through the first four innings but he began to weaken—or maybe it was freeze up—in the fifth. He finally had to be relieved by Werle in the seventh when the Reds pulled within one run of a tie.

Werle's only trouble came in the ninth when the Reds had those two men on base with two out.

Bucs Shell Blackwell

On the other side of the picture, Blackwell, who the Reds count on for 20 victories this season, just didn't have it. He was shelled for a run in the second and three in the third before being taken out for a pinch hitter.

The game marked the unveiling of home-run hitting Ralph Kiner as a first baseman. He did all right at the job except for one play. That was on one of those difficult hard smashes to the first baseman in which he has to time his toss to the pitcher at first perfectly. Kiner didn't do that.

His throw was high to Chambers and pulled him off the bag to let Ted Kluszewski arrive safely. It didn't hurt in the scoring column, however.

Newcomers Stand Out

Aside from the two pitchers, other standouts were two newcomers in the Pirate line-up — Shortstop George Strickland and center fielder George Metkovich.

Strickland, who rode the Pirate bench all last season, got two hits in four times up and played a brilliant game at short. Metkovich whose draft from Oakland aroused a storm of protest from the Pacific Coast League last winter, got three hits in five at bats. He, too, played a brilliant game afield. He reached into the overflow crowd to stab a towering drive by Joe Adcock in the fourth inning.

After getting their first run in the second inning on three singles, the Pirates locked up the ball game in the third. That was Usher's downfall.

Usher Blows Up

Metkovich's single and a walk to Gus Bell put two men on. Kiner popped out but Wally Westlake singled to center and Usher committed two errors on the same play.

The single was good enough to register Metkovich and Bell went on to third when Usher bobbled the ball. Then the sophomore center fielder threw the ball away and Bell scored. Strickland's double brought in the final run.

From there on Harry Perkowski, Howard Fox and Frank Smith held the Corsairs.

Consecutive doubles by Bob Scheffing and Grady Hatton punctured Chambers for a Cincinnati run in the fifth and he was driven to cover in the seventh.

Another double by Hatton, a walk to pinch hitter Connie Ryan and a double by Usher brought in two runs and brought Werle to the rescue.

Today's Meet Is Postponed

Fort Hill To Vie In Handley Events

The opening track and field meet of the season scheduled for today between Fort Hill High School and the combined forces of Ridgeley, Keyser, Fort Ashby and Piedmont has been postponed on account of cold weather, Coach William P. Hahn of the Sentinels announced last night.

The Mineral County schools requested that the meet be postponed until a later date.

Rainy weather of the past two weeks has hindered both squads in training.

Hahn will take his squad to Winchester, Va., for the annual Handley High Invitational Meet on Saturday at 1 p. m.

East Palestine (Ohio) won the Handley meet last year with Fort Hill second and Handley third. The winning team receives a trophy and the winners of individual events are presented ribbons.

There are 16 events on the program, namely: TRACK—100, 220, 440, 880 and mile run, high and low hurdles, shuttle hurdle relay, medley relay, mile relay and 880 relay. FIELD—high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put and discus.

Pittsburgh Scores Frigid 4-3 Victory Over Cincinnati

Yanks-Bosox, Dodgers-Phils Games Take Spotlight Today

Buccos Play St. Louis; Ceremonies At Capital Are Reset For Friday

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Snow flurries swirled around 30,441 blanketed Cincinnati fans today as Pittsburgh racked up Ewell Blackwell for a 4-3 victory that opened the baseball season a day early.

Rain washed out the other half of the special ceremonial opening at Washington.

Given a better break from the weatherman, all 16 clubs will be busy tomorow when about 242,000 customers are expected to attend an eight-game schedule. It had better be warmer at Philadelphia where they're daring the elements with a night game, the first arc-light opener in American League history.

At least for one day, Rickey's Pirates are leading the league—a sharp reversal of their dreary cellar finish of 1950.

The miserable weather conditions were not confined to Cincinnati. It rained in Washington where President Truman was due to toss out the first ball before the New York Yankee-Washington opener.

With the postponement of the Yankee-Senators game, the National League had the field all to itself. It was the first time in many a long, chilly year the National beat the American to the opening punch.

Play Two Games Friday

The Washington washout set up the earliest day-night doubleheader in major league history. Clark Griffith wasted little time rescheduling the opening game and ceremonies for 2:00 p. m. (EST) Friday. The clubs will play their regularly scheduled game at 8:30 p. m. (EST) that night as planned.

Before returning to New York for tomorrow's opener with the Boston Red Sox, Manager Casey Stengel outlined Yankee pitching plans for the next five days. It was a bold, unprecedented move by old Case, shooting for his third straight pennant. Stengel named all four world series pitcher in advance last fall, too. He got away with it.

"It's Raschi tomorrow," he said. "Lopat Wednesday and Byrne Thursday against Boston. When we come back here Friday, Frank Shea will pitch the afternoon game and Morgan at night.

Tom Morgan, an accomplished rookie grad from the Binghamton, N. Y. farm, was to have worked against the Senators today.

The Yankee-Red Sox opener with Raschi (21-8) facing Lefty Bill Wight (10-16), Boston's winter acquisition from Chicago, shares top billing with the Brooklyn-Philadelphia feature in the National.

In addition to watching their world champs wrestle with Ted Williams and Co., Yankee fans will get their first look at Mickey Mantle, 19-year-old rookie phenom. Some $5,000 are expected.

Roberts Faces Newcombe

Robin Roberts, (20-11), the handsome righthander who pitched the Phils' pennant clincher on the last day of the '50 season, will hurl for the National League champs at Ebbets Field. Because Don Newcombe's elbow has been acting up, Carl Erskine (7-6) will be the Dodger pitcher.

With a break in the weather, the new Dodger owners expect 30,000 fans. It's about the same club as last year, except for rookie Rocky Bridges on third and Don Thompson in left field. The Phils present the same lineup that won the pennant.

Larry Jansen (19-13) is Leo Durocher's hope to get the New York Giants away fast at Boston against Vern Bickford (19-14) of the Braves. The Giants are pennant-happy this spring on the strength of their fine finish last season. Billy Southworth of the Braves still is looking for that No. 4 pitcher behind Bickford, Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn. The Braves count on 20,000 paid.

Pirates Battle Cards

Fresh from their opening victory at Cincinnati, the Pirates rush home where 30,000 will watch them bow in against Marty Marion's St. Louis Cards. It will be Murry Dickson (10-15) for the Bucs, and Tom Poholsky (0-0), a brilliant rookie from Rochester, for the Cards. Marion, placed on the disabled list today, definitely will be a bench manager.

Cincinnati at Chicago's Wrigley Field will round out the National League schedule. Some 28,000 are expected to see Kenny Raffensberger (14-19), the Reds' softball expert, against Frank Hiller (12-5). The Cubs are raring to go after topping the league in exhibition games.

Detroit will give New York a close race for attendance honors with 54,000 due to watch the Tigers open at home against Cleveland. Hal Newhouser (15-13) for the Tigers and Bob Lemon (23-11) will be the pitchers as Al Lopez makes his debut as Tribe manager.

Opener Is Night Game

The night opener brings Washington to Philadelphia with Bob Kuzava (9-10), who was supposed to work for Washington today, opposing the A's Bobby Shantz (8-14). A turnout of 10,000 is due to watch the A's make their first start without Connie Mack as manager. Jimmy Dykes replaced the old gentleman during the winter.

Chicago's new manager, Paul Richards, takes his Grapefruit League champs to St. Louis where Billy Pierce (12-16) is due to oppose the Browns' ace, Ned Garver (13-18) before 15,000.

Morgan won 17 and lost 8 for Binghamton last season.

Nats And Yanks Tangle Friday

Play Day, Night Tilts Opener Is Washed Out

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP) — President Truman—and 30,000 other people—didn't get to see the New York Yankees and the Washington Senators open the American League baseball season today after all.

A gentle but steady rain that began before noon finally brought a postponement.

The two teams now are scheduled to meet Friday at 2 p. m. EST. in Washington's delayed opening day game.

The Yanks and Senators already had been scheduled to meet that day, at 8:30 p. m. that game will remain on the schedule, so the two teams will meet twice Friday.

All the razz-ma-tazz that goes with an opening game will be put on Friday.

Mr. Truman said he wouldn't miss it for anything. He said he was sorry about the rain today.

Mangrum Noses Out Jim Ferrier For Top Money Honors

Ferrier collected $11,254.16. Lew Worsham was third with $6,404.50.

Mangrum and Ferrier, who won three tournaments apiece on the winter swing, also are locked in a fight for Vardon trophy honors. Ferrier is leading with an average of 69.78 strokes in 51 competitive rounds. Mangrum is second with 69.94 in 48.

Sam Snead still is far ahead in Ryder Cup standings with 1,045 11/12 points while Mangrum is second with 845 43/60. Ben Hogan made the biggest gain in Ryder Cup points, picking up 95 by winning the Masters to bring his total to 287½. He moved from 11th to seventh place.

Grace Pinmen Annex Church League Title

Score Over Central, John Hull Hits 856

Captain Harold Brown's Grace Methodist pinmen won the championship of the City Church Bowling League for the 1950-51 season by defeating Central Methodist last night by the margin of 182 pins in the finals of the circuit's Shaughnessy roll-offs on Kelso's alleys.

Leading the attack for the winners in the championship match was 74-year-old John Hull who posted an 856 for the five games.

Other members of Grace Methodist's team are Walter Hull, son of John Hull, Leroy Owens, Harold Brown and Bill Stevenson.

B. Porter turned in a high set of 731 for Central.

Grace Methodist finished second in the 10-team race during the regular season and in the semi-finals of the playoffs defeated St. Luke's. Central eliminated Trinity Methodist.

The league's banquet will be held at St. Luke's Lutheran Church Monday, April 23 at 6:30 p. m. Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney, will be toastmaster. Last night's scores:

Murphy Loses Bout On Foul

BOSTON, April 16 (AP)—Joe Rindone of Boston, a 10-3 underdog, was awarded a decision over Irish Bob Murphy of San Diego, Calif., after the latter felled him with a low blow in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round feature boxing bout tonight at packed Boston Garden.

The decision was announced about 20 minutes after Rindone was dropped in his own corner by the mauling Californian. Dr. Morris Sandler of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission gave Rindone first-aid treatment in the ring and then ordered him removed to his dressing room.

There Dr. Sandler was joined by Dr. Thomas Kelley, official Boston Garden physician, and, after a thorough 15-minutes examination they refused to permit Rindone to return to the ring.

Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., teamed with Jaroslav Drobny of Egypt to defeat Gianni Cucelli and Marcello Del Bello of Italy in the men's doubles finale, 6-2, 7-9, 6-3, 6-3.

Benton Harbor Kegler Takes Lead In ABC

ST. PAUL, April 16 —(INS)—Joe Zawillan a 38-year-old pattern maker from Benton Harbor, Mich., rolled into the all-events lead of the American Bowling Congress Tournament today with a total of 1,908.

Zawillan compiled 660 in the doubles and 653 in the singles to add to his previous team event tally of 595 to displace Louis Frantz of Louisville, Ky., who has held the lead since the tourney began a week ago with 1,907.

Bobby Dykes Scores

MIAMI, Fla., April 16 (AP)—Bobby Dykes, 152¾, San Antonio, Tex., tonight punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Billy Kilgore, 162¾, Birmingham, Ala., in the Coliseum.

There were no knockdowns but Dykes outboxed his heavier foe and had the edge on counterpunching. In the final round Kilgore was wobbly but Dykes couldn't put over the clincher and the Birmingham boxer held on.

Turner Whips Jack

The 20-year-old Philadelphian, victorious in 16 of his fights by knockouts, weighed 142¼ pounds to Jack's 142.

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—Just how good is Mickey Mantle?

For the benefit of those who have been too engrossed in the President Truman - Gen. MacArthur rhubarb to read the sports pages lately, Mantle is the sensational youngster who has made the big jump from Class C to the New York Yankees in one season.

Nearly all who have seen the 19-year-old lad from Commerce, Okla., have hailed him as the rookie of the generation. Those who haven't seen him can't believe what they've heard. Those who have, find it hard to believe their eyes.

An opinion worth considering is that of Tommy Henrich, the Yankee outfield coach who was something of a slugger in his own right. Henrich has been handed the assignment of teaching Mantle, a natural shortstop, all the tricks of the outfield.

"I hate to disillusion you," the ever-frank Henrich said. "Mantle is a rare youngster. He has great potential. He is one of the finest looking kids I have ever seen. But this stuff about his being another Joe DiMaggio at the plate, another Ty Cobb on the bases and a future Tris Speaker in the outfield is just so much bunk.

"It just goes to show you what publicity can do. Only a few months ago, Mantle was playing at Joplin. He was doing the same things he is doing today. But nobody ever heard of him. Just because he's with the Yankees, he becomes the marvel of the age. Such stuff may hurt the youngster.

"Sure, Mickey has a lot of power and he runs like a scared rabbit. But nobody knows how good he is. Why not wait until he faces big league pitching when it counts. What everybody forgets is that he hasn't played a major league game yet.

"Mantle has lots to learn. He hits with amazing power but he can be fooled by certain pitches. Maybe not too often, though. And he has more to learn about outfielding. He must learn how to adapt himself to different situations. When we started he knew nothing about playing the outfield. He thought all we outfielders had to do was stand out there and wait to catch a fly ball. He knows differently now. He learns fast."

How does Mantle compare to DiMaggio when Joe broke in 15 years ago?

"There is no comparison," answered Henrich. "Mantle is a raw youngster who appears to have a great future. Joe was a finished player when he came up. Not only in the field but at the plate. There was only one Joe DiMaggio."

Mantle finished the exhibition season with a .402 average in 30 games. His hits included nine homers, a triple and seven doubles.

Morey's 69 Leads North, South Golf

PINEHURST, N. C., April 16 (AP)—Dale Morey, 29-year-old Southern amateur titleholder from Dallas, Tex., posted a three-under par 69 to win the qualifying medal today in the 51st North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

Morey, the only player in the 148-man field to better par on each nine, turned in a 34-35 card for the 36-36 Pinehurst Country Club No. 2 course, a 6,900-yard layout.

He finished one stroke ahead of Howard Everitt, Atlantic City, N. J., automobile dealer, who scored 34-36—70. Morey and Everitt are playing in the tournament for the first time.

Only two other players broke par as intermittent showers and wind raised scores well over standard figures. Harvie Ward, Southern Pines, N. C., insurance man, who won the 1948 tournament, and Jack Coyle, Springfield, Ill., each posted 71.

Bridgewater College Tops Mt. St. Mary's

BRIDGEWATER, Va., April 16 (AP) — Bridgewater College's Eagles blasted out nine hits and took advantage of 12 walks here today to defeat Mt. St. Mary's, 12-4, in a Mason-Dixon Conference baseball game.

The Eagles held a slender 5-4 lead going into the bottom half of the eighth inning, but they erupted in that frame for seven runs, the feature being a long home run by second baseman Vance with two men on base.

Catcher Jim Utterback contributed three hits and Shortstop Bob Barnhart collected two bingles for the winners, whose pitcher Harold Trumbo went all the way, scattering eight hits effectively.

Teams To Practice

The Sport Shoppe softball team, Tuesday and Thursday at 5:30 p. m., Taylor Field.

The Optimist Club of the Hot Stove League will practice today at 5 p. m. at Community Park. Earl Nonnenmann and Billy Underdonk are co-managers of the team.

Chambers, Werle Prove Best Polar Bears Before 30,441

Bucs Beat Blackwell, Strickland, Metkovich Star; Usher Is "Goat"

BY HAROLD HARRISON

CINCINNATI, April 16—(AP)—A pair of southpaws—Cliff Chambers and Willie Werle—were the best polar bears today as they hurled Pittsburgh to a frigid 4-3 victory over Cincinnati in the opening game of the National League's 75th season.

An overflow crowd of 30,441, overcoated and blanketed, saw the Pirates tee off on Ewell Blackwell in a hurry and then nurse their margin all the way.

The temperature was in the low forties but a brisk wind made it seem even colder. There were snow flurries and the only time the sun peeped through the clouds was just before Bobby Usher, the game's "goat," flied out to end the contest with two Redlegs on base.

Chambers had the Reds well subdued through the first four innings but he began to weaken—or maybe it was freeze up—in the fifth. He finally had to be relieved by Werle in the seventh when the Reds pulled within one run of a tie.

Werle's only trouble came in the ninth when the Reds had those two men on base with two out.

Bucs Shell Blackwell

On the other side of the picture, Blackwell, who the Reds count on for 20 victories this season, just didn't have it. He was shelled for a run in the second and three in the third before being taken out for a pinch hitter.

The game marked the unveiling of home-run hitting Ralph Kiner as a first baseman. He did all right at the job except for one play. That was on one of those difficult hard smashes to the first baseman in which he has to time his toss to the pitcher at first perfectly. Kiner didn't do that.

His throw was high to Chambers and pulled him off the bag to let Ted Kluszewski arrive safely. It didn't hurt in the scoring column, however.

Newcomers Stand Out

Aside from the two pitchers, other standouts were two newcomers in the Pirate line-up — Shortstop George Strickland and center fielder George Metkovich.

Strickland, who rode the Pirate bench all last season, got two hits in four times up and played a brilliant game at short. Metkovich whose draft from Oakland aroused a storm of protest from the Pacific Coast League last winter, got three hits in five at bats. He, too, played a brilliant game afield. He reached into the overflow crowd to stab a towering drive by Joe Adcock in the fourth inning.

After getting their first run in the second inning on three singles, the Pirates locked up the ball game in the third. That was Usher's downfall.

Usher Blows Up

Metkovich's single and a walk to Gus Bell put two men on. Kiner popped out but Wally Westlake singled to center and Usher committed two errors on the same play.

The single was good enough to register Metkovich and Bell went on to third when Usher bobbled the ball. Then the sophomore center fielder threw the ball away and Bell scored. Strickland's double brought in the final run.

From there on Harry Perkowski, Howard Fox and Frank Smith held the Corsairs.

Consecutive doubles by Bob Scheffing and Grady Hatton punctured Chambers for a Cincinnati run in the fifth and he was driven to cover in the seventh.

Another double by Hatton, a walk to pinch hitter Connie Ryan and a double by Usher brought in two runs and brought Werle to the rescue.

Today's Meet Is Postponed

Fort Hill To Vie In Handley Events

The opening track and field meet of the season scheduled for today between Fort Hill High School and the combined forces of Ridgeley, Keyser, Fort Ashby and Piedmont has been postponed on account of cold weather, Coach William P. Hahn of the Sentinels announced last night.

The Mineral County schools requested that the meet be postponed until a later date.

Rainy weather of the past two weeks has hindered both squads in training.

Hahn will take his squad to Winchester, Va., for the annual Handley High Invitational Meet on Saturday at 1 p. m.

East Palestine (Ohio) won the Handley meet last year with Fort Hill second and Handley third. The winning team receives a trophy and the winners of individual events are presented ribbons.

There are 16 events on the program, namely: TRACK—100, 220, 440, 880 and mile run, high and low hurdles, shuttle hurdle relay, medley relay, mile relay and 880 relay. FIELD—high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put and discus.

Keyser Winner As Householder Hurls 5-Hitter

Clarkmen Defeat Petersburg, 9-3

KEYSER, April 16—Southpaw Jimmy Householder tossed a five-hitter and struck out seven today as Keyser High School registered its second straight victory of the season at the expense of Petersburg High School in a game played today at Newcome Field. The score was 9-3.

Keyser sewed up the game in the first two innings by taking advantage of the wildness of Moomau to score eight runs. Petersburg's starting pitcher issued seven walks, three hits and eight runs in the first and second frames. Reel, his successor, yielded only one run in four frames.

Stickley smacked a two-run double in the opening frame and Householder pounded in two runs with a timely single in the second stanza.

Lee of Keyser and Reel of Petersburg led the stickers with two hits each.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyserites will play at Fort Ashby on Wednesday. Box:

Draft Evasion Charge Against Hill Dismissed

DETROIT, April 16 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Frank A. Picard today dismissed a draft evasion charge against David Hill, 20-year-old University of Michigan substitute halfback.

Judge Picard expressed sympathy as he listened to the negro's story of running away from home because he failed to make the Rose Bowl football squad last December.

"I didn't mean to dodge the draft," Hill said. "I didn't even think of the draft. I was unhappy. I got counted out of that Rose Bowl squad and was unhappy. x x x

"I thought that all college students were deferred until June. I didn't know the draft board was after me until Thursday when I saw a friend of mine in Montreal. x x x I came right home."

Hill promised to report to his draft board Tuesday.

He missed three previous notices, one of them setting up a special induction for him two weeks ago, while he was away in Canada.

"I can understand your disappointment at missing that (Rose Bowl) trip," said Judge Picard, a Michigan quarterback in 1910-11. "I sat on the bench so much myself out there at Ann Arbor that they made me a judge."

Hill said he had been in Canada since he ran away. He was arrested by FBI agents when he returned home today.

Hill disappeared Dec. 18, apparently miffed because he was left off the California-bound football squad. His family thought he had gone to Pasadena for the California-Michigan Rose Bowl Game, and when he failed to return they asked police to search for him.

He was a sophomore and saw limited football service.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 16 (INS)—Hot off the grill today we have . . . our old World War I commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur . . . who would make a wonderful baseball commissioner . . . if he would take the job . . . which we doubt . . .

Ford Frick . . . National League prexy . . . noting that betting is up 20 percent at New York race tracks . . . hopes the baseball fans have as much fresh scratch as the two buck punters . . .

Rex Barney . . . wildest man outside of Borneo . . . and Johnny Vandermeer. Who have no-hit games to their credit . . . may wind up in the bushes . . . Dodgers wont let any but a second division rival get Barney . . . they fear some other first division outfit might learn how to tame him . . .

Maybe Lindy Fraser could do something with Barney . . . Fraser is the reinsman who took Dr. Stanton . . . a broken down trotter . . . and turned him into the second richest pacer in history . . . with earnings of $127,175 . . . and the nine year old nag is still going strong . . .

And Del Webb . . . Yankee owner . . . remembering the old saying . . . horses for courses . . . thinks baseball commissioners should vary with the game's needs . . . Del says . . . "Landis was okay for his day . . . and Chandler for his . . . but now we need a different type . . ."

But it seems to us all that baseball ever needed was somebody with a little horse sense and fairness.

Leo Durocher refuses to predict a pennant for his Giants . . . but we happen to know that the little pilot thinks this is his year . . . and baseball men generaly think Lou Boudreau will finally get the lead out of the Red Sox shoes . . .

The 57th annual Penn Relays will be bigger and better than ever . . . April 27-28 . . . with more than 3000 athletes from 500 colleges and schools . . .

And you may see a new world mile relay record set at the Seton Hall Games in Newark Saturday . . . Johnny Gibson . . . Seton Hall College's track coach . . . thinks he has the four fastest humans in the world on his team.

These are Andy Stanfield, Bob Carter, Maurice Curotta and Charley Slade . . .

Ed Hurt, Morgan State's coach . . . whose boys are the defending champions . . . agrees with Gibson that the Stonians are fully capable of breaking the world's record of 3:09.4 . . . however, we don't think they can do it over the Newark track . . .

We like the crack made by Marlene Cahill . . . pretty 17-year-old swimming star . . . asked when she was going to try to cross the English Channel . . . she replied . . . "when they build a bridge . . ."

And Hedley Woodhouse still thinks he is going to have a floral horseshoe draped around his neck May 4 . . . and have a check for $10,000 handed him . . . that's the day he will ride Uncle Miltie in the Kentucky Derby . . . and the 10 G's is the winning jockey's bit . . .

But Trainer Max Hirsch warns . . . "watch my horse Long Bow" . . . selah . . .

Hal Rice, outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, was seriously injured in military service when a land mine exploded beneath a jeep he was driving.

Jones Is Sent Back To Minors

Rochester Obtains Cards' 1st Sacker

ST. LOUIS, April 16 (AP)—First baseman Nippy Jones, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals during exhibition games, is being returned to Rochester, the club announced today.

Nippy Jones

The Cardinals indicated that Jones might be added to the Redbird roster if he does well with the farm club. Jones had a back operation in December, 1949, and showed great recovery during spring training.

Steve Bilko is expected to handle the first base job, assisted by Don Bollweg and Glenn Nelson.

At the same time the Cardinals announced that manager Marty Marion is being placed on the disabled list. This means that Marion, who underwent a knee operation last September, wont be able to play for at least 30 days.

Keyser Winner As Householder Hurls 5-Hitter

Clarkmen Defeat Petersburg, 9-3

KEYSER, April 16—Southpaw Jimmy Householder tossed a five-hitter and struck out seven today as Keyser High School registered its second straight victory of the season at the expense of Petersburg High School in a game played today at Newcome Field. The score was 9-3.

Keyser sewed up the game in the first two innings by taking advantage of the wildness of Moomau to score eight runs. Petersburg's starting pitcher issued seven walks, three hits and eight runs in the first and second frames. Reel, his successor, yielded only one run in four frames.

Stickley smacked a two-run double in the opening frame and Householder pounded in two runs with a timely single in the second stanza.

Lee of Keyser and Reel of Petersburg led the stickers with two hits each.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyserites will play at Fort Ashby on Wednesday. Box:

TEAMMATES ON HAND AS STAR YANK ROOKIE WEDS

DETROIT, April 16 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Frank A. Picard today dismissed a draft evasion charge against David Hill, 20-year-old University of Michigan substitute halfback.

Judge Picard expressed sympathy as he listened to the negro's story of running away from home because he failed to make the Rose Bowl football squad last December.

"I didn't mean to dodge the draft," Hill said. "I didn't even think of the draft. I was unhappy. I got counted out of that Rose Bowl squad and was unhappy. x x x

"I thought that all college students were deferred until June. I didn't know the draft board was after me until Thursday when I saw a friend of mine in Montreal. x x x I came right home."

Hill promised to report to his draft board Tuesday.

He missed three previous notices, one of them setting up a special induction for him two weeks ago, while he was away in Canada.

"I can understand your disappointment at missing that (Rose Bowl) trip," said Judge Picard, a Michigan quarterback in 1910-11. "I sat on the bench so much myself out there at Ann Arbor that they made me a judge."

Hill said he had been in Canada since he ran away. He was arrested by FBI agents when he returned home today.

Hill disappeared Dec. 18, apparently miffed because he was left off the California-bound football squad. His family thought he had gone to Pasadena for the California-Michigan Rose Bowl Game, and when he failed to return they asked police to search for him.

He was a sophomore and saw limited football service.

HERRING LANDS A TROUT—Ronald Herring, 16, of 32 West First Street, hooked a four-pound brown trout while angling in Evitt's Creek near Minke's on the opening day of the season Sunday. The speckled beauty was 22 inches long.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 16 (INS)—Hot off the grill today we have . . . our old World War I commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur . . . who would make a wonderful baseball commissioner . . . if he would take the job . . . which we doubt . . .

Ford Frick . . . National League prexy . . . noting that betting is up 20 percent at New York race tracks . . . hopes the baseball fans have as much fresh scratch as the two buck punters . . .

Rex Barney . . . wildest man outside of Borneo . . . and Johnny Vandermeer. Who have no-hit games to their credit . . . may wind up in the bushes . . . Dodgers wont let any but a second division rival get Barney . . . they fear some other first division outfit might learn how to tame him . . .

Maybe Lindy Fraser could do something with Barney . . . Fraser is the reinsman who took Dr. Stanton . . . a broken down trotter . . . and turned him into the second richest pacer in history . . . with earnings of $127,175 . . . and the nine year old nag is still going strong . . .

And Del Webb . . . Yankee owner . . . remembering the old saying . . . horses for courses . . . thinks baseball commissioners should vary with the game's needs . . . Del says . . . "Landis was okay for his day . . . and Chandler for his . . . but now we need a different type . . ."

But it seems to us all that baseball ever needed was somebody with a little horse sense and fairness.

Leo Durocher refuses to predict a pennant for his Giants . . . but we happen to know that the little pilot thinks this is his year . . . and baseball men generaly think Lou Boudreau will finally get the lead out of the Red Sox shoes . . .

The 57th annual Penn Relays will be bigger and better than ever . . . April 27-28 . . . with more than 3000 athletes from 500 colleges and schools . . .

And you may see a new world mile relay record set at the Seton Hall Games in Newark Saturday . . . Johnny Gibson . . . Seton Hall College's track coach . . . thinks he has the four fastest humans in the world on his team.

These are Andy Stanfield, Bob Carter, Maurice Curotta and Charley Slade . . .

Ed Hurt, Morgan State's coach . . . whose boys are the defending champions . . . agrees with Gibson that the Stonians are fully capable of breaking the world's record of 3:09.4 . . . however, we don't think they can do it over the Newark track . . .

We like the crack made by Marlene Cahill . . . pretty 17-year-old swimming star . . . asked when she was going to try to cross the English Channel . . . she replied . . . "when they build a bridge . . ."

And Hedley Woodhouse still thinks he is going to have a floral horseshoe draped around his neck May 4 . . . and have a check for $10,000 handed him . . . that's the day he will ride Uncle Miltie in the Kentucky Derby . . . and the 10 G's is the winning jockey's bit . . .

But Trainer Max Hirsch warns . . . "watch my hrose Long Bow" . . . selah . . .

Hal Rice, outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, was seriously injured in military service when a land mine exploded beneath a jeep he was driving.

Jones Is Sent Back To Minors

Rochester Obtains Cards' 1st Sacker

ST. LOUIS, April 16 (AP)—First baseman Nippy Jones, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals during exhibition games, is being returned to Rochester, the club announced today.

Nippy Jones

The Cardinals indicated that Jones might be added to the Redbird roster if he does well with the farm club. Jones had a back operation in December, 1949, and showed great recovery during spring training.

Steve Bilko is expected to handle the first base job, assisted by Don Bollweg and Glenn Nelson.

At the same time the Cardinals announced that manager Marty Marion is being placed on the disabled list. This means that Marion, who underwent a knee operation last September, wont be able to play for at least 30 days.

Keyser Winner As Householder Hurls 5-Hitter

Clarkmen Defeat Petersburg, 9-3

KEYSER, April 16—Southpaw Jimmy Householder tossed a five-hitter and struck out seven today as Keyser High School registered its second straight victory of the season at the expense of Petersburg High School in a game played today at Newcome Field. The score was 9-3.

Keyser sewed up the game in the first two innings by taking advantage of the wildness of Moomau to score eight runs. Petersburg's starting pitcher issued seven walks, three hits and eight runs in the first and second frames. Reel, his successor, yielded only one run in four frames.

Stickley smacked a two-run double in the opening frame and Householder pounded in two runs with a timely single in the second stanza.

Lee of Keyser and Reel of Petersburg led the stickers with two hits each.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyserites will play at Fort Ashby on Wednesday. Box:

TEAMMATES ON HAND AS STAR YANK ROOKIE WEDS

DETROIT, April 16 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Frank A. Picard today dismissed a draft evasion charge against David Hill, 20-year-old University of Michigan substitute halfback.

Judge Picard expressed sympathy as he listened to the negro's story of running away from home because he failed to make the Rose Bowl football squad last December.

"I didn't mean to dodge the draft," Hill said. "I didn't even think of the draft. I was unhappy. I got counted out of that Rose Bowl squad and was unhappy. x x x

"I thought that all college students were deferred until June. I didn't know the draft board was after me until Thursday when I saw a friend of mine in Montreal. x x x I came right home."

Hill promised to report to his draft board Tuesday.

He missed three previous notices, one of them setting up a special induction for him two weeks ago, while he was away in Canada.

"I can understand your disappointment at missing that (Rose Bowl) trip," said Judge Picard, a Michigan quarterback in 1910-11. "I sat on the bench so much myself out there at Ann Arbor that they made me a judge."

Hill said he had been in Canada since he ran away. He was arrested by FBI agents when he returned home today.

Hill disappeared Dec. 18, apparently miffed because he was left off the California-bound football squad. His family thought he had gone to Pasadena for the California-Michigan Rose Bowl Game, and when he failed to return they asked police to search for him.

He was a sophomore and saw limited football service.

Allegany Insulation of the City Rec League, Sunday, 2 p. m., at Alegany High Field. All players from last year and others desiring tryouts are asked to be present.

HERRING LANDS A TROUT—Ronald Herring, 16, of 32 West First Street, hooked a four-pound brown trout while angling in Evitt's Creek near Minke's on the opening day of the season Sunday. The speckled beauty was 22 inches long.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 16 (INS)—Hot off the grill today we have . . . our old World War I commander, Gen. Douglas MacArthur . . . who would make a wonderful baseball commissioner . . . if he would take the job . . . which we doubt . . .

Ford Frick . . . National League prexy . . . noting that betting is up 20 percent at New York race tracks . . . hopes the baseball fans have as much fresh scratch as the two buck punters . . .

Rex Barney . . . wildest man outside of Borneo . . . and Johnny Vandermeer. Who have no-hit games to their credit . . . may wind up in the bushes . . . Dodgers wont let any but a second division rival get Barney . . . they fear some other first division outfit might learn how to tame him . . .

Maybe Lindy Fraser could do something with Barney . . . Fraser is the reinsman who took Dr. Stanton . . . a broken down trotter . . . and turned him into the second richest pacer in history . . . with earnings of $127,175 . . . and the nine year old nag is still going strong . . .

And Del Webb . . . Yankee owner . . . remembering the old saying . . . horses for courses . . . thinks baseball commissioners should vary with the game's needs . . . Del says . . . "Landis was okay for his day . . . and Chandler for his . . . but now we need a different type . . ."

But it seems to us all that baseball ever needed was somebody with a little horse sense and fairness.

Leo Durocher refuses to predict a pennant for his Giants . . . but we happen to know that the little pilot thinks this is his year . . . and baseball men generaly think Lou Boudreau will finally get the lead out of the Red Sox shoes . . .

The 57th annual Penn Relays will be bigger and better than ever . . . April 27-28 . . . with more than 3000 athletes from 500 colleges and schools . . .

And you may see a new world mile relay record set at the Seton Hall Games in Newark Saturday . . . Johnny Gibson . . . Seton Hall College's track coach . . . thinks he has the four fastest humans in the world on his team.

These are Andy Stanfield, Bob Carter, Maurice Curotta and Charley Slade . . .

Ed Hurt, Morgan State's coach . . . whose boys are the defending champions . . . agrees with Gibson that the Stonians are fully capable of breaking the world's record of 3:09.4 . . . however, we don't think they can do it over the Newark track . . .

We like the crack made by Marlene Cahill . . . pretty 17-year-old swimming star . . . asked when she was going to try to cross the English Channel . . . she replied . . . "when they build a bridge . . ."

And Hedley Woodhouse still thinks he is going to have a floral horseshoe draped around his neck May 4 . . . and have a check for $10,000 handed him . . . that's the day he will ride Uncle Miltie in the Kentucky Derby . . . and the 10 G's is the winning jockey's bit . . .

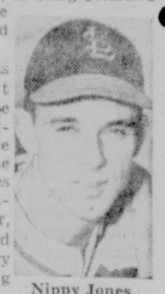
But Trainer Max Hirsch warns . . . "watch my horse Long Bow" . . . selah . . .

Hal Rice, outfielder with the St. Louis Cardinals, was seriously injured in military service when a land mine exploded beneath a jeep he was driving.

Jones Is Sent Back To Minors

Rochester Obtains Cards' 1st Sacker

ST. LOUIS, April 16 (AP)—First baseman Nippy Jones, who played with the St. Louis Cardinals during exhibition games, is being returned to Rochester, the club announced today.



Nippy Jones

The Cardinals indicated that Jones might be added to the Redbird roster if he does well with the farm club. Jones had a back operation in December, 1949, and showed great recovery during spring training.

Steve Bilko is expected to handle the first base job, assisted by Don Bollweg and Glenn Nelson.

At the same time the Cardinals announced that manager Marty Marion is being placed on the disabled list. This means that Marion, who underwent a knee operation last September, wont be able to play for at least 30 days.

Sgt. Richard Harper Again Wounded In Korean War

Master Sgt. Richard Harper, 26, brother of Mrs. Ruth Phillips, 545 Fairview Avenue, is the fourth Cumberland soldier to be wounded a second time in the Korean war.

Other casualties reported yesterday by the Department of Defense include:

Pfc. Marvin L. Borror, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Borror, Landes, Grant county, W. Va., (previously missing in action), killed; Pvt. Oliver J. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Swick, 44 North F Street, Keyser, W. Va., and Cpl. Wilbur A. Rinker, son of Earl E. Rinker, also of Keyser, both wounded.

Sgt. James W. Adams, son of Mrs. Dorothy Lee Adams, 34 Orchard Street, Keyser, injured; Cpl. Frederick J. Miller, brother of Oley C. Burns, Bayard, W. Va., (previously wounded), returned to duty.

Among the first United Nations troops to enter Korea, Sgt. Harper was hit the second time March 16. He was shot in the shoulder August 15 but returned to the frontlines September 30.

Sgt. Harper, a native of Pierce, W. Va., graduated from elementary school there and attended high school for two years in Thomas, W. Va. After coming here he worked at odd jobs for several years and entered the Army in 1943.

Completing his basic training in Louisiana, he went overseas and spent 18 months in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Sgt. Harper was wounded in the leg while serving with the Mars Task Force in Burma.

At the end of World War II, he returned to work in coal mines near Pierce but re-enlisted in the Army April 24, 1949. After a brief assignment at Fort Knox, Ky., he was sent to Japan.

Sgt. Harper recently wrote his sister he was on a hospital ship but did not know where he was going.

Outsiders Walk Away With Bridge Tournament Honors

Hagerstown and Uniontown, Pa., players carried off honors Sunday in the top open pair event of the Western Maryland sectional championship bridge tournament sponsored by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club at the Cumberland Country Club under sanction of the American Contract Bridge League.

The Times-News open pair trophy, major prize of the two-day event, will be shared for the coming year by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johns, of Uniontown, Pa., and Mrs. J. O. Funkhouser and Christy E. McEwen, of Hagerstown, who finished in a tie for first place. Runnerup open pair honors went to Dr. A. J. Steinberg and James G. Stone, life masters from Washington.

The Times-News trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

The final event of the tourney drew an entry list of 62 pairs with the top 32 pairs in afternoon play advancing to Sunday's championship finals.

The other 30 pairs competed in the special event which was won by Henry Milhouser, a former resident, and Paul Goldman, both of Baltimore. Mrs. Emma M. Everstine and Miss Louise Zihlman, both of Cumberland, were second, while Brother Joseph and John P. Mackey, also of Cumberland, and Rennie Henry, Charleroi, Pa., and Mrs. L. C. Smith, Uniontown, finished in a tie for third place.

The tourney opened with Saturday afternoon and evening sessions in men's pairs, women's pairs and mixed pairs. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, LaVale, won the mixed pair championship Saturday night in competition against more than 50 couples. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Casteele, Park Heights, finished second.

In men's pair play Dr. Steinberg and Mr. Stone were first; Albert W. Keight and Mr. Douglas, both of Cumberland, second, and A. C. Agnew and Thomas Mulligan, Pittsburg, third.

In women's pair play Miss Julia Jackson and Mrs. Ralph Nevy, of Cumberland, were first; Mrs. Everstein and Miss Zihlman, second, and Mrs. S. U. Forsman, Bellefonte, Pa., and Mrs. William Apple, Jersey Shore, Pa., third.

Westbound, the National Limited, No. 1, will leave at 9:57 p. m. (unchanged) and The Diplomat, No. 3, will leave at 12:50 a. m. instead of 11:49 p. m.

The Western Maryland Railway said official notification of its schedule has not come through but would probably be the same as last year.

Through bus lines here will not make any changes, runs leaving as listed on the schedule under the fast time setup, a ticket office informant said. Several local lines are expected to announce changes but official notification has not been made, he added.

A spokesman for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company said the plant would operate on Fast Time.

At the Celanese plant an official said the plant will folow the same time schedule as the City of Cumberland.

Most stores, business places, federal, state and local offices will also shift over to summer time in two weeks.

Daylight Saving Time will end the last Sunday of September.

Michigan has more women bowlers than any other state.

Potomac Park Civic Officials Are Sworn In

New officers of the Potomac Park Citizens Committee were sworn in by Merwin R. Hast, deputy clerk of court, in a ceremony Saturday at the Court House.

Elected without opposition April 2 the officers include: Edward W. Shaffer, chairman; George L. Coffman, secretary; Joseph W. Nicodemus, treasurer; Melvin W. Dean and Lester W. Norris, supervisors of lighting sections.

Shaffer, Coffman and Nicodemus are two-year members, and Dean and Norris one-year members.

Retiring members of the Citizens Committee are J. Alex Monnett, chairman, Charles W. Pfeiffer, Bruce W. Thompson and John S Cook. Shaffer is the only holdover.

The Potomac Park group was the first special taxing area established in the county, according to Shaffer, who said he advocated that all other small communities in the area follow its example and form a stronger organization for community improvement.

The Citizens Committee and taxing district was established by the General Assembly in 1947 to enable Potomac Park to set up a lighting system.

"We are proud of our lighting system, one of the finest installed in the community," Shaffer said. "It allows children to play at night in sight of their parents and means a lot to protection of property," he added.

Shaffer said that the Citizens Committee will undertake a fund raising campaign to provide better fire protection in the near future. "This work will be the project of the year," he said.

The group meets the third Tuesday of each month.

College Deferment Tests Now Available

Application blanks for Selective Service "College Qualification Tests" are now available at Draft Board headquarters in the Union Street County Building.

Clerk Co-ordinator P. Emmett Fahey said the Bulletin of Information, designed to answer any question about details on the examination, has also arrived for registrants.

Fahey pointed out the forms are for college students who wish to take government tests to determine their eligibility for an occupational deferment so they can continue their studies. Examinations will be held May 26, June 16 and June 30.

A fourth test will be held at a later date for those whose religious beliefs are such that they cannot conscientiously take it on Saturday. All of the dates announced fall on Saturdays.

Fahey said the registrants will indicate on an application blank the examination center and its number, at which he wishes to take the test.

Fort Hill High School Letter Dinner Set

The annual "Senior Letter" dinner for Fort Hill High School will be held Tuesday, May 8, at Centre Street Methodist Church at 6:15 p. m.

Sponsored by the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association, the dinner will pay honor to senior students who during their school career have earned letters in the various extra-curricular activities. These include scholastic attainment, club, sports, band, Players, projectionists, stage crew and others.

Winfield Adam, executive secretary of Central YMCA, will be toastmaster, and the Rev. Donald Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, will give the invocation.

A quartet composed of members of the Fort Hill High School faculty, Philip Kester, Theodore Foote, W. Ardell Haines and John McVicker, will sing.

Arrangements are being made for a speaking program and details will be announced later.

Leo Stakem Ties For Fourth Place In Oratorical Contest

Leo Stakem, LaSalle High School senior, tied for fourth place in the finals of the oratorical contest held Sunday at LaSalle College, Philadelphia.

The contest was won by Daniel Del Frate, of Central Catholic High School, Pittsburgh. Robert Morris, of St. John's College High, Washington, was second; Joseph Herron, of West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, was third and William Wolf, of LaSalle High School, Philadelphia, tied with the local student.

The winner of the contest received a four-year scholarship to the college. It is valued at $1,600. The second place winner received a half-tuition scholarship for four years.

The Cumberland student is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stakem, 414 Fayette Street. He is active in newspaper and dramatic work at LaSalle and in the Western Maryland Chapter of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade.

Commemoration of the tercentenary of the birth of St. John Baptist de LaSalle, founder of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, was observed yesterday and the oratorical contest was part of the program.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Can weaning come naturally?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. John C. Montgomery, noted pediatrician, in Baby Talk. At about the age of ten months anatomic changes take place in a baby's mouth and tongue which make them less well adapted for sucking, so that "some babies toward the end of the first year lose interest in the bottle and are willing or even eager to drink milk from a cup." You should not, however, "jump at this chance to wean the baby from the bottle," since the sucking impulse never disappears entirely or completely. For small babies, thumb-sucking is a "right" which should not be denied them.

Can "almost anyone" be hypnotized?

Answer: No, says Dr. Donald Powell Wilson in "My Six Convics." "Deep hypnosis is possible in less than 20% of subjects." Almost anybody can be hypnotized to the superficial extent needed for stage or classroom demonstrations, but comparatively few can be "put back in time and space" deeply enough to re-live and solve their emotional problems. If you think hypnosis would be a quick way of curing your neurosis or ridding you permanently of neurotic symptoms, there are four chances out of five that you are mistaken—let a psychiatrist decide what treatment you need.

Can responsibility drive a man to drink?

Answer: That depends on how mature he is emotionally. There is an all too common type of physically adult male who has never quite outgrown his childish impulse to do as he pleases and let others worry about the consequences. If such a man marries and has children, there are likely to be times when he can no longer stand the restraints which his responsibilities impose upon him and will either literally run away or find an escape in intoxication. While essentially neurotic, such men as a rule are hard to cure because they rarely will admit there is anything wrong with them.

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (INS) — Clark Gable returned home today from the Mexican border where he was riding with the vaqueros. He had been at the Wickenberg ranch outside Phoenix, Arizona, ever since he left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital a week ago, and he joined the colorful riders in Arizona.

Jane Russell

Clark went directly to his Encino ranch, where Sylvia has remained, and all their friends hope that he and Mrs. Gable can work out their difficulties and adjust their problems. It is ridiculous to say that no problems exist.

And that reminds me, Jane Russell has been loaned to M-G-M to play opposite Clark in "Lone Star." That's what I call a hot combination.

Our Bing is well enough now to talk about making a picture, so "Famous" is definitely set as his next, and goes before the cameras in September.

Charles Brackett prepared this story before he left Paramount. If an arrangement can be made with 20th and he's available, Charlie will return to Paramount to bring it to the screen.

"Famous" is the musical for which Bing wants Judy Garland as his co-star. If Judy makes any picture it will certainly be for "The Groaner," with whom she feels so completely at ease.

By the way, I'd like to thank Bing and Gary for putting me in their song, "When You And I Were Young Maggie Blues."

I am glad that Warners is putting out "I Was A Communist With The FBI" as soon as possible. It should pack the theaters because it is a powerful factual story of what happens to people who join the Communist Party.

It is the true story of Matthew Cvetic who, while actually working secretly for the FBI, posed as a Red and lived the life of a Communist for nine long years even to permitting his son and his brother to hate him and letting his mother die believing he was a Red.

This film should jolt everyone into the realization of the ruthless manner in which the Reds work and what it means in slavery and humiliation to be a member of the Communist Party.

One reason I believe Greta Garbo may do a picture for MGM is that she is coming out of her shell and losing her "I want to be alone" complex.

G. G., looking very chic and glamorous, was at a ringside table at the opening of La Vie En Rose, Monte Proser's newest N. Y. night club. After Marjane, the new French singing sensation, completed her performance, Garbo congratulated her and invited her to sit at her table, which is really something for Greta. Maybe G. G. is tired of being alone.

Arthur Lubin, whose specialty is directing "Francis" and "Rhubarb," the talking mule and cat, is packaging a deal to star Mae West. Well, the boys think she's a bear, don't they?

Spencer Tracy and Benny Thau sail for Europe May 5. This gives Spence time to catch Pat O'Brien's opening as master of ceremonies at the Plaza Hotel. Spence has also promised Red Skelton he'll be in London to see him when Red opens at the Palladium July 1.

Myrna Loy, who is recovering from a minor operation in Washington, marries Howland Sargent, deputy secretary of state, in the early fall.

Enjoyed reminiscing with Miriam Hopkins. She tells me that her son, Michael, whom I remember as a baby, goes into the service. She is very proud of him.

Sgt. Richard Harper Again Wounded In Korean War

Master Sgt. Richard Harper, 26, brother of Mrs. Ruth Phillips, 545 Fairview Avenue, is the fourth Cumberland soldier to be wounded a second time in the Korean war.

Other casualties reported yesterday by the Department of Defense include:

Pfc. Marvin L. Borror, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Borror, Landes, Grant county, W. Va., (previously missing in action), killed; Pvt. Oliver J. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Swick, 44 North F Street, Keyser, W. Va., and Cpl. Wilbur A. Rinker, son of Earl E. Rinker, also of Keyser, both wounded.

Sgt. James W. Adams, son of Mrs. Dorothy Lee Adams, 34 Orchard Street, Keyser, injured; Cpl. Frederick J. Miller, brother of Oley C. Burns, Bayard, W. Va., (previously wounded), returned to duty.

Among the first United Nations troops to enter Korea, Sgt. Harper was hit the second time March 16. He was shot in the shoulder August 15 but returned to the frontlines September 30.

Sgt. Harper, a native of Pierce, W. Va., graduated from elementary school there and attended high school for two years in Thomas, W. Va. After coming here he worked at odd jobs for several years and entered the Army in 1943.

Completing his basic training in Louisiana, he went overseas and spent 18 months in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Sgt. Harper was wounded in the leg while serving with the Mars Task Force in Burma.

At the end of World War II, he returned to work in coal mines near Pierce but re-enlisted in the Army April 24, 1949. After a brief assignment at Fort Knox, Ky., he was sent to Japan.

Sgt. Harper recently wrote his sister he was on a hospital ship but did not know where he was going.

Outsiders Walk Away With Bridge Tournament Honors

Hagerstown and Uniontown, Pa., players carried off honors Sunday in the top open pair event of the Western Maryland sectional championship bridge tournament sponsored by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club at the Cumberland Country Club under sanction of the American Contract Bridge League.

The Times-News open pair trophy, major prize of the two-day event, will be shared for the coming year by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johns, of Uniontown, Pa., and Mrs. J. O. Funkhouser and Christy E. McEwen, of Hagerstown, who finished in a tie for first place. Runnerup open pair honors went to Dr. A. J. Steinberg and James G. Stone, life masters from Washington.

The Times-News trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

The final event of the tourney drew an entry list of 62 pairs with the top 32 pairs in afternoon play advancing to Sunday's championship finals.

The other 30 pairs competed in the special event which was won by Henry Milhouser, a former resident, and Paul Goldman, both of Baltimore. Mrs. Emma M. Everstine and Miss Louise Zihlman, both of Cumberland, were second, while Brother Joseph and John P. Mackey, also of Cumberland, and Rennie Henry, Charleroi, Pa., and Mrs. L. C. Smith, Uniontown, finished in a tie for third place.

The tourney opened with Saturday afternoon and evening sessions in men's pairs, women's pairs and mixed pairs. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, LaVale, won the mixed pair championship Saturday night in competition against more than 50 couples. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Casteele, Park Heights, finished second.

In men's pair play Dr. Steinberg and Mr. Stone were first; Albert W. Keight and Mr. Douglas, both of Cumberland, second, and A. C. Agnew and Thomas Mulligan, Pittsburg, third.

In women's pair play Miss Julia Jackson and Mrs. Ralph Nevy, of Cumberland, were first; Mrs. Everstein and Miss Zihlman, second, and Mrs. S. U. Forsman, Bellefonte, Pa., and Mrs. William Apple, Jersey Shore, Pa., third.

Baltimore And Ohio Sets New DST Train Schedules

Industries, railroads and bus lines will be affected when Cumberland goes on Daylight Saving Time, Sunday, April 29, at 2 a. m.

The B. and O. Railroad today announced a schedule of changes effective that date. M. W. Grove, district passenger agent, said the schedule will look like this:

WESTBOUND

Sgt. Richard Harper Again Wounded In Korean War

Master Sgt. Richard Harper, 26, brother of Mrs. Ruth Phillips, 545 Fairview Avenue, is the fourth Cumberland soldier to be wounded a second time in the Korean war.

Other casualties reported yesterday by the Department of Defense include:

Pfc. Marvin L. Borror, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Borror, Landes, Grant county, W. Va., (previously missing in action), killed; Pvt. Oliver J. King, son of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Swick, 44 North F Street, Keyser, W. Va., and Cpl. Wilbur A. Rinker, son of Earl E. Rinker, also of Keyser, both wounded.

Sgt. James W. Adams, son of Mrs. Dorothy Lee Adams, 34 Orchard Street, Keyser, injured; Cpl. Frederick J. Miller, brother of Oley C. Burns, Bayard, W. Va., (previously wounded), returned to duty.

Among the first United Nations troops to enter Korea, Sgt. Harper was hit the second time March 16. He was shot in the shoulder August 15 but returned to the frontlines September 30.

Sgt. Harper, a native of Pierce, W. Va., graduated from elementary school there and attended high school for two years in Thomas, W. Va. After coming here he worked at odd jobs for several years and entered the Army in 1943.

Completing his basic training in Louisiana, he went overseas and spent 18 months in the Pacific Theatre of Operations. Sgt. Harper was wounded in the leg while serving with the Mars Task Force in Burma.

At the end of World War II, he returned to work in coal mines near Pierce but re-enlisted in the Army April 24, 1949. After a brief assignment at Fort Knox, Ky., he was sent to Japan.

Sgt. Harper recently wrote his sister he was on a hospital ship but did not know where he was going.

Outsiders Walk Away With Bridge Tournament Honors

Hagerstown and Uniontown, Pa., players carried off honors Sunday in the top open pair event of the Western Maryland sectional championship bridge tournament sponsored by the Cumberland Duplicate Bridge Club at the Cumberland Country Club under sanction of the American Contract Bridge League.

The Times-News open pair trophy, major prize of the two-day event, will be shared for the coming year by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Johns, of Uniontown, Pa., and Mrs. J. O. Funkhouser and Christy E. McEwen, of Hagerstown, who finished in a tie for first place. Runnerup open pair honors went to Dr. A. J. Steinberg and James G. Stone, life masters from Washington.

The Times-News trophy must be won three times for permanent possession.

The final event of the tourney drew an entry list of 62 pairs with the top 32 pairs in afternoon play advancing to Sunday's championship finals.

The other 30 pairs competed in the special event which was won by Henry Milhouser, a former resident, and Paul Goldman, both of Baltimore, Mrs. Emma M. Everstine and Miss Louise Zihlman, both of Cumberland, were second, while Brother Joseph and John P. Mackey, also of Cumberland, and Rennie Henry, Charleroi, Pa., and Mrs. L. C. Smith, Uniontown, finished in a tie for third place.

The tourney opened with Saturday afternoon and evening sessions in men's pairs, women's pairs and mixed pairs. Mr. and Mrs. William A. Douglas, LaVale, won the mixed pair championship Saturday night in competition against more than 50 couples. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Casteele, Park Heights, finished second.

In men's pair play Dr. Steinberg and Mr. Stone were first; Albert W. Keight and Mr. Douglas, both of Cumberland, second, and A. C. Agnew and Thomas Mulligan, Pittsburg, third.

In women's pair play Miss Julia Jackson and Mrs. Ralph Nevy, of Cumberland, were first; Mrs. Everstein and Miss Zihlman, second, and Mrs. S. U. Forsman, Bellefonte, Pa., and Mrs. William Apple, Jersey Shore, Pa., third.

Baltimore And Ohio Sets New DST Train Schedules

Industries, railroads and bus lines will be affected when Cumberland goes on Daylight Saving Time, Sunday, April 29, at 2 a. m.

The B. and O. Railroad today announced a schedule of changes effective that date. M. W. Grove, district passenger agent, said the schedule will look like this:

WESTBOUND

No. 21 (Washingtonian) — Leave 12:15 p. m. instead of 1:15.

No. 9 (Washington-Chicago Express) — Leave 4:39 p. m. instead of 5:12.

No. 5 (Capital Limited) — Leave 7:33 p. m. instead of 8:33.

No. 25 (Columbian) — Leave 7:43 p. m. instead of 8:43.

No. 19 (Ambassador) — Leave 9:03 p. m. (unchanged).

No. 17 (Cleveland Night Express) — Leave 11:40 p. m. instead of 1:08 a. m.

No. 7 (Shenandoah) — Leave 2 a. m. instead of 2:50 a. m.

No. 11 — Leave 11:50 a. m. instead of 11:51.

No. 23 (Parkersburg) — Leave 1:50 a. m. instead of 1:45.

EASTBOUND

No. 10 — Leave 3 a. m. (unchanged).

No. 18 — Leave 4:17 a. m. instead of 4:32.

No. 20 (Ambassador) — Leave 4:38 a. m. instead of 5:05.

No. 26 (Columbian) — Leave 5:10 a. m. instead of 5:34.

No. 6 (Capital Limited) — Leave 5:24 a. m. instead of 5:49.

No. 34 (Local) — Leave 5:55 a. m. (unchanged).

No. 734 (Sunday Local) — Leave 7:30 a. m. (unchanged).

No. 8 (Shenandoah) — Leave 12:27 p. m. instead of 1:16.

No. 12 Leave 7:50 p. m. (unchanged.)

No. 22 (Washingtonian) — Leave 2:30 p. m. instead of 3:27 p. m.

Changes for the National Limited and Diplomat at Keyser, W. Va., were listed as:

Traveling east, the National Limited, No. 2, will leave at 3:35 a. m. instead of 3:55, and No. 4, The Diplomat, will leave at 6:30 a. m. instead of 6:34.

Westbound, the National Limited, No. 1, will leave at 9:57 p. m. (unchanged) and The Diplomat, No. 3, will leave at 12:50 a. m. instead of 11:49 p. m.

The Western Maryland Railway said official notification of its schedule has not come through but would probably be the same as last year.

Through bus lines here will not make any changes, runs leaving as listed on the schedule under the fast time setup, a ticket office informant said. Several local lines are expected to announce changes but official notification has not been made, he added.

A spokesman for the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company said the plant would operate on Fast Time.

At the Celanese plant an official said the plant will folow the same time schedule as the City of Cumberland.

Most stores, business places, federal, state and local offices will also shift over to summer time in two weeks.

Daylight Saving Time will end the last Sunday of September.

Michigan has more women bowlers than any other state.

Potomac Park Civic Officials Are Sworn In

New officers of the Potomac Park Citizens Committee were sworn in by Merwin R. Hast, deputy clerk of court, in a ceremony Saturday at the Court House.

Elected without opposition April 2 the officers include: Edward W. Shaffer, chairman; George L. Coffman, secretary; Joseph W. Nicodemus, treasurer; Melvin W. Dean and Lester W. Norris, supervisors of lighting sections.

Shaffer, Coffman and Nicodemus are two-year members, and Dean and Norris one-year members.

Retiring members of the Citizens Committee are J. Alex Monnett, chairman, Charles W. Pfeiffer, Bruce W. Thompson and John S Cook. Shaffer is the only holdover.

The Potomac Park group was the first special taxing area established in the county, according to Shaffer, who said he advocated that all other small communities in the area follow its example and form a stronger organization for community improvement.

The Citizens Committee and taxing district was established by the General Assembly in 1947 to enable Potomac Park to set up a lighting system.

"We are proud of our lighting system, one of the finest installed in the community," Shaffer said. "It allows children to play at night in sight of their parents and means a lot to protection of property," he added.

Shaffer said that the Citizens Committee will undertake a fund raising campaign to provide better fire protection in the near future. "This work will be the project of the year," he said.

The group meets the third Tuesday of each month.

College Deferment Tests Now Available

Application blanks for Selective Service "College Qualification Tests" are now available at Draft Board headquarters in the Union Street County Building.

Clerk Co-ordinator P. Emmett Fahey said the Bulletin of Information, designed to answer any question about details on the examination, has also arrived for registrants.

Fahey pointed out the forms are for college students who wish to take government tests to determine their eligibility for an occupational deferment so they can continue their studies. Examinations will be held May 26, June 16 and June 30.

A fourth test will be held at a later date for those whose religious beliefs are such that they cannot conscientiously take it on Saturday. All of the dates announced fall on Saturdays.

Fahey said the registrants will indicate on an application blank the examination center and its number, at which he wishes to take the test.

Fort Hill High School Letter Dinner Set

The annual "Senior Letter" dinner for Fort Hill High School will be held Tuesday, May 8, at Centre Street Methodist Church at 6:15 p. m.

Sponsored by the Penn Avenue-Fort Hill Alumni Association, the dinner will pay honor to senior students who during their school career have earned letters in the various extra-curricular activities. These include scholastic attainment, club, sports, band, Players, projectionists, stage crew and others.

Winfield Adam, executive secretary of Central YMCA, will be toastmaster, and the Rev. Donald Brake, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, will give the invocation. A quartet composed of members of the Fort Hill High School faculty, Philip Kester, Theodore Foote, W. Ardell Haines and John McVicker, will sing.

Arrangements are being made for a speaking program and details will be announced later.

Leo Stakem Ties For Fourth Place In Oratorical Contest

Leo Stakem, LaSalle High School senior, tied for fourth place in the finals of the oratorical contest held Sunday at LaSalle College, Philadelphia.

The contest was won by Daniel Del Frate, of Central Catholic High School, Pittsburgh. Robert Morris, of St. John's College High, Washington, was second; Joseph Herron, of West Catholic High School, Philadelphia, was third and William Wolf, of LaSalle High School, Philadelphia, tied with the local student.

The winner of the contest received a four-year scholarship to the college. It is valued at $1,600. The second place winner received a half-tuition scholarship for four years.

The Cumberland student is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stakem, 414 Fayette Street. He is active in newspaper and dramatic work at LaSalle and in the Western Maryland Chapter of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade.

Commemoration of the tercentenary of the birth of St. John Baptist de LaSalle, founder of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, was observed yesterday and the oratorical contest was part of the program.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Can weaning come naturally?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. John C. Montgomery, noted pediatrician, in Baby Talk. At about the age of ten months anatomic changes take place in a baby's mouth and tongue which make them less well adapted for sucking, so that "some babies toward the end of the first year lose interest in the bottle and are willing or even eager to drink milk from a cup." You should not, however, "jump at this chance to wean the baby from the bottle," since the sucking impulse never disappears entirely or completely. For small babies, thumb-sucking is a "right" which should not be denied them.

Can responsibility drive a man to drink?

Answer: That depends on how mature he is emotionally. There is an all too common type of physically adult male who has never quite outgrown his childish impulse to do as he pleases and let others worry about the consequences. If such a man marries and has children, there are likely to be times when he can no longer stand the restraints which his responsibilities impose upon him and will either literally run away or find an escape in intoxication. While essentially neurotic, such men as a rule are hard to cure because they rarely will admit there is anything wrong with them.

Can "almost anyone" be hypnotized?

Answer: No, says Dr. Donald Powell Wilson in "My Six Convics." "Deep hypnosis is possible in less than 20% of subjects." Almost anybody can be hypnotized to the superficial extent needed for stage or classroom demonstrations, but comparatively few can be "put back in time and space" deeply enough to re-live and solve their emotional problems. If you think hypnosis would be a quick way of curing your neurosis or ridding you permanently of neurotic symptoms, there are four chances out of five that you are mistaken—let a psychiatrist decide what treatment you need.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 16 (INS) — Clark Gable returned home today from the Mexican border where he was riding with the vaqueros. He had been at the Wickenberg ranch outside Phoenix, Arizona, ever since he left Cedars of Lebanon Hospital a week ago, and he joined the colorful riders in Arizona.

Jane Russell

Clark went directly to his Encino ranch, where Sylvia has remained, and all their friends hope that he and Mrs. Gable can work out their difficulties and adjust their problems. It is ridiculous to say that no problems exist.

And that reminds me, Jane Russell has been loaned to M-G-M to play opposite Clark in "Lone Star." That's what I call a hot combination.

Our Bing is well enough now to talk about making a picture, so "Famous" is definitely set as his next, and goes before the cameras in September.

Charles Brackett prepared this story before he left Paramount. If an arrangement can be made with 20th and he's available, Charlie will return to Paramount to bring it to the screen.

"Famous" is the musical for which Bing wants Judy Garland as his co-star. If Judy makes any picture it will certainly be for "The Groaner," with whom she feels so completely at ease.

By the way, I'd like to thank Bing and Gary for putting me in their song, "When You And I Were Young Maggie Blues."

I am glad that Warners is putting out "I Was A Communist With The FBI" as soon as possible. It should pack the theaters because it is a powerful factual story of what happens to people who join the Communist Party.

It is the true story of Matthew Cvetic who, while actually working secretly for the FBI, posed as a Red and lived the life of a Communist for nine long years even to permitting his son and his brother to hate him and letting his mother die believing he was a Red.

This film should jolt everyone into the realization of the ruthless manner in which the Reds work and what it means in slavery and humiliation to be a member of the Communist Party.

One reason I believe Greta Garbo may do a picture for MGM is that she is coming out of her shell and losing her "I want to be alone" complex.

G. G., looking very chic and glamorous, was at a ringside table at the opening of La Vie En Rose, Monte Proser's newest N. Y. night club. After Marjane, the new French singing sensation, completed her performance, Garbo congratulated her and invited her to sit at her table, which is really something for Greta. Maybe G. G. is tired of being alone.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Brod Crawford has moved from the Hollywood Athletic Club to a more permanent bachelor residence at the Sunset Tower.

Arthur Lubin, whose specialty is directing "Francis" and "Rhubarb," the talking mule and cat, is packaging a deal to star Mae West. Well, the boys think she's a bear, don't they?

Spencer Tracy and Benny Thau sail for Europe May 5. This gives Spence time to catch Pat O'Brien's opening as master of ceremonies at the Plaza Hotel. Spence has also promised Red Skelton he'll be in London to see him when Red opens at the Palladium July 1.

Myrna Loy, who is recovering from a minor operation in Washington, marries Howland Sargent, deputy secretary of state, in the early fall.

Enjoyed reminiscing with Miriam Hopkins. She tells me that her son, Michael, whom I remember as a baby, goes into the service. She is very proud of him.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

More women than men in the United States complete four years of high school, but more men than women finish four years of college.

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) THE PASSING Show:—

A recent poll conducted by the Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette, and the Parkersburg (W. Va) News, probing a deep cross-section ranging from coal mines to college professors, shows that a majority of those questioned were in favor of depriving known U. S. Communists of their citizenship and deporting them.

About one in every ten polled believed that American Reds should be permitted the full rights of their citizenship, mainly on the ground that "there's nothing under the law that can be done."

A greater number felt they should be interned as enemy aliens; a still greater number voted to put them on trial as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the Communist hierarchy and sentence them to prison. But, as we noted, the great majority wanted them loaded on the ship and sent to Mother Russia with our compliments.

New Yorkers who share the latter sentiments will have a good chance to suggest same, aloud, on May 1—when the Reds stage their annual parade down Eighth Avenue. Any traffic cop could direct the line of march to a nearby trans-Atlantic pier, if we had a ship ready.

If we got in a shooting war tomorrow, Korea would just about drop out of the newspapers. The big dateline would be the Mediterranean. We are reactivating five wartime air bases in Morocco, lengthening runways and digging gasoline dumps in Tripoli, Egypt, Cyprus, Jordan, Malta, Iraq and Iron, and setting up weather observation stations from Gibraltar to the Persian Gulf.

• — • — •

The great Simon Bolivar called the first Pan-American Conference in 1826, at Panama City, and the prime purpose was to block the efforts of old world monarchies to re-impose their rule on the new world.

Bolivar's agenda included the establishment of a league of American nations, with a common army and navy. Any further attempt at colonization would be combatted. Slavery was to be abolished, as was racial

The United States was hostile to the conference, on the anti-slavery motion and the Bolivar proposal that certain lands owned by Spain in the Caribbean must be liberated. We sent a delegate to express these thoughts, but he died enroute, and we went unrepresented.

Matter of fact, only four countries attended, Peru, Colombia, Mexico and Guatemala, and Bolivar's great dream died aborning.

Writers of quick whodunits will be delighted to learn that you can kill a person while flying over an ocean in an American plane and not be charged with murder.

In the U. S. Criminal Code, Congress has provided that crimes are punishable when committed" .... on the high seas or on an American vessel." But title 18 of the U. S. code defines "vessel" as a surface ship, not a plane. The codes go back to 1790, and have not been revised to include aircraft.

In a recent case a passenger from Puerto Rico to Florida was excused by a court, though he had severely bitten the pilot of the plane. Seems he had the presence of mind to bite him over the high seas.

The family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company has broken down the tax income of state governments into several appalling departments.

Our state governments exist principally on taxes taken from the pockets of motorists —$2,250,000,000 a year. Of this sum more than a billion and a half dollars was collected in fuel taxes.

Sales taxes take second place, followed by state income taxes, and booze and tobacco levies.

He Wasn't Impressed

PEARL HARBOR, April 16. (AP)—A lone U. S. Marine stood sentry duty today in the center of the road leading to the guest house of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, where Gen. MacArthur was resting.

Asked if there had been any movement up and down the road, Pfc. Norman Zuk, Detroit, replied: "Nothing but admirals and generals."

cision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Iranian Company is the result of a Soviet plot. It does not mean either that Dr. Mussadegh and the other Iranian nationalists who have taken the lead in this matter have consciously wished to cripple the Western alliance; they are comparable, rather, to the American isolationists of the Wherry stripe, who also wish to bring the whole world down in ruins because they cannot see beyond their noses.

Finally, just because the problems created by this business in Iran are so immensely grave, it does not mean that these problems cannot be solved. The slow match in fact can be extinguished.

Grasping the immensity of the stakes in the game, however, is the essential first step towards an understanding of how the game must be played. What has happened could have been prevented by wise Angle-American action long ago. Instead, the British in the Middle East have pursued a policy of business as usual, the standard of business as usual being established by the conditions that prevailed before the shattering changes of the second world war. Meanwhile, the Americans have been flabby, uncreative, and unwilling for many reasons to take firm initiatives.

Thus Anglo-American influence, which is still potentially very great, has gone for nothing or has been downright pernicious. And this has created a situation in which heavy immediate risks must be run in order to avoid the certainty of eventual disaster.

vigorous current champion of General MacArthur—Joseph R. McCarthy.

Truman's Poor Timing

Administration leaders on Capitol Hill have been privately grousing that the President might have timed his firing of General MacArthur better—or at least might stop cussing out senators on the telephone during the MacArthur debate.

Though agreeing with the President on the basic issue, they feel the MacArthur dismissal couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. As a result of the Kefauver crime hearings and the Fulbright RFC investigation, plus Truman's letter-writing, Democratic prestige has been at its lowest ebb.

However, White House advisers indicate that a long overdue cleanup is now in the works—the first step being the exit of Mrs. Merl Young, the White House secretary of mink-coat fame. Next on the list will be Donald Dawson who figured in the RFC hearings—unless Dawson clears himself in early testimony.

NOTE—Meanwhile shrewd Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma has endeared himself to the President for life by jumping in when almost no other senator had the nerve to tangle with General MacArthur. Last year the President vetoed Kerr's natural gas bill. Speculation is that maybe next time it won't be vetoed.

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—THE PASSING Show:—

A recent poll conducted by the Charleston (W. Va.) Gazette, and the Parkersburg (W. Va) News, probing a deep cross-section ranging from coal mines to college professors, shows that a majority of those questioned were in favor of depriving known U. S. Communists of their citizenship and deporting them.

About one in every ten polled believed that American Reds should be permitted the full rights of their citizenship, mainly on the ground that "there's nothing under the law that can be done."

A greater number felt they should be interned as enemy aliens; a still greater number voted to put them on trial as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the Communist hierarchy and sentence them to prison. But, as we noted, the great majority wanted them loaded on the ship and sent to Mother Russia with our compliments.

New Yorkers who share the latter sentiments will have a good chance to suggest same, aloud, on May 1—when the Reds stage their annual parade down Eighth Avenue. Any traffic cop could direct the line of march to a nearby trans-Atlantic pier, if we had a ship ready.

If we got in a shooting war tomorrow, Korea would just about drop out of the newspapers. The big dateline would be the Mediterranean. We are reactivating five wartime air bases in Morocco, lengthening runways and digging gasoline dumps in Tripoli, Egypt, Cyprus, Jordan, Malta, Iraq and Iron, and setting up weather observation stations from Gibraltar to the Persian Gulf.

The great Simon Bolivar called the first Pan-American Conference in 1826, at Panama City, and the prime purpose was to block the efforts of old world monarchies to re-impose their rule on the new world.

Bolivar's agenda included the establishment of a league of American nations, with a common army and navy. Any further attempt at colonization would be combatted. Slavery was to be abolished, as was racial

The United States was hostile to the conference, on the anti-slavery motion and the Bolivar proposal that certain lands owned by Spain in the Caribbean must be liberated. We sent a delegate to express these thoughts, but he died enroute, and we went unrepresented.

Matter of fact, only four countries attended, Peru, Colombia, Mexico and Guatemala, and Bolivar's great dream died aborning.

Writers of quick whodunits will be delighted to learn that you can kill a person while flying over an ocean in an American plane and not be charged with murder.

In the U. S. Criminal Code, Congress has provided that crimes are punishable when committed" .... on the high seas or on an American vessel." But title 18 of the U. S. code defines "vessel" as a surface ship, not a plane. The codes go back to 1790, and have not been revised to include aircraft.

In a recent case a passenger from Puerto Rico to Florida was excused by a court, though he had severely bitten the pilot of the plane. Seems he had the presence of mind to bite him over the high seas.

The family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company has broken down the tax income of state governments into several appalling departments.

Our state governments exist principally on taxes taken from the pockets of motorists —$2,250,000,000 a year. Of this sum more than a billion and a half dollars was collected in fuel taxes.

Sales taxes take second place, followed by state income taxes, and booze and tobacco levies.

He Wasn't Impressed

PEARL HARBOR, April 16. (AP)—A lone U. S. Marine stood sentry duty today in the center of the road leading to the guest house of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, where Gen. MacArthur was resting.

Asked if there had been any movement up and down the road, Pfc. Norman Zuk, Detroit, replied: "Nothing but admirals and generals."

cision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Iranian Company is the result of a Soviet plot. It does not mean either that Dr. Mussadegh and the other Iranian nationalists who have taken the lead in this matter have consciously wished to cripple the Western alliance; they are comparable, rather, to the American isolationists of the Wherry stripe, who also wish to bring the whole world down in ruins because they cannot see beyond their noses.

Finally, just because the problems created by this business in Iran are so immensely grave, it does not mean that these problems cannot be solved. The slow match in fact can be extinguished.

Grasping the immensity of the stakes in the game, however, is the essential first step towards an understanding of how the game must be played. What has happened could have been prevented by wise Angle-American action long ago. Instead, the British in the Middle East have pursued a policy of business as usual, the standard of business as usual being established by the conditions that prevailed before the shattering changes of the second world war. Meanwhile, the Americans have been flabby, uncreative, and unwilling for many reasons to take firm initiatives.

Thus Anglo-American influence, which is still potentially very great, has gone for nothing or has been downright pernicious. And this has created a situation in which heavy immediate risks must be run in order to avoid the certainty of eventual disaster.

Merry-Go-Round

vigorous current champion of General MacArthur—Joseph R. McCarthy.

Truman's Poor Timing

Administration leaders on Capitol Hill have been privately grousing that the President might have timed his firing of General MacArthur better—or at least might stop cussing out senators on the telephone during the MacArthur debate.

Though agreeing with the President on the basic issue, they feel the MacArthur dismissal couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. As a result of the Kefauver crime hearings and the Fulbright RFC investigation, plus Truman's letter-writing, Democratic prestige has been at its lowest ebb.

However, White House advisers indicate that a long overdue cleanup is now in the works—the first step being the exit of Mrs. Merl Young, the White House secretary of mink-coat fame. Next on the list will be Donald Dawson who figured in the RFC hearings—unless Dawson clears himself in early testimony.

NOTE—Meanwhile shrewd Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma has endeared himself to the President for life by jumping in when almost no other senator had the nerve to tangle with General MacArthur. Last year the President vetoed Kerr's natural gas bill. Speculation is that maybe next time it won't be vetoed.

About one in every ten polled believed that American Reds should be permitted the full rights of their citizenship, mainly on the ground that "there's nothing under the law that can be done."

A greater number felt they should be interned as enemy aliens; a still greater number voted to put them on trial as were Eugene Dennis and other members of the Communist hierarchy and sentence them to prison. But, as we noted, the great majority wanted them loaded on the ship and sent to Mother Russia with our compliments.

New Yorkers who share the latter sentiments will have a good chance to suggest same, aloud, on May 1—when the Reds stage their annual parade down Eighth Avenue. Any traffic cop could direct the line of march to a nearby trans-Atlantic pier, if we had a ship ready.

If we got in a shooting war tomorrow, Korea would just about drop out of the newspapers. The big dateline would be the Mediterranean. We are reactivating five wartime air bases in Morocco, lengthening runways and digging gasoline dumps in Tripoli, Egypt, Cyprus, Jordan, Malta, Iraq and Iron, and setting up weather observation stations from Gibraltar to the Persian Gulf.

The recent inter-American conference in Washington sounded like a new deal in the way of hemispheric defense, but the idea is an old one.

The great Simon Bolivar called the first Pan-American Conference in 1826, at Panama City, and the prime purpose was to block the efforts of old world monarchies to re-impose their rule on the new world.

Bolivar's agenda included the establishment of a league of American nations, with a common army and navy. Any further attempt at colonization would be combatted. Slavery was to be abolished, as was racial

The United States was hostile to the conference, on the anti-slavery motion and the Bolivar proposal that certain lands owned by Spain in the Caribbean must be liberated. We sent a delegate to express these thoughts, but he died enroute, and we went unrepresented.

Matter of fact, only four countries attended, Peru, Colombia, Mexico and Guatemala, and Bolivar's great dream died aborning.

Writers of quick whodunits will be delighted to learn that you can kill a person while flying over an ocean in an American plane and not be charged with murder.

In the U. S. Criminal Code, Congress has provided that crimes are punishable when committed" .... on the high seas or on an American vessel." But title 18 of the U. S. code defines "vessel" as a surface ship, not a plane. The codes go back to 1790, and have not been revised to include aircraft.

In a recent case a passenger from Puerto Rico to Florida was excused by a court, though he had severely bitten the pilot of the plane. Seems he had the presence of mind to bite him over the high seas.

The family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company has broken down the tax income of state governments into several appalling departments.

Our state governments exist principally on taxes taken from the pockets of motorists —$2,250,000,000 a year. Of this sum more than a billion and a half dollars was collected in fuel taxes.

Sales taxes take second place, followed by state income taxes, and booze and tobacco levies.

He Wasn't Impressed

PEARL HARBOR, April 16. (AP)—A lone U. S. Marine stood sentry duty today in the center of the road leading to the guest house of Adm. Arthur W. Radford, where Gen. MacArthur was resting.

Asked if there had been any movement up and down the road, Pfc. Norman Zuk, Detroit, replied: "Nothing but admirals and generals."

Merry-Go-Round

vigorous current champion of General MacArthur—Joseph R. McCarthy.

Truman's Poor Timing

Administration leaders on Capitol Hill have been privately grousing that the President might have timed his firing of General MacArthur better—or at least might stop cussing out senators on the telephone during the MacArthur debate.

Though agreeing with the President on the basic issue, they feel the MacArthur dismissal couldn't have come at a more inappropriate time. As a result of the Kefauver crime hearings and the Fulbright RFC investigation, plus Truman's letter-writing, Democratic prestige has been at its lowest ebb.

However, White House advisers indicate that a long overdue cleanup is now in the works—the first step being the exit of Mrs. Merl Young, the White House secretary of mink-coat fame. Next on the list will be Donald Dawson who figured in the RFC hearings—unless Dawson clears himself in early testimony.

NOTE—Meanwhile shrewd Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma has endeared himself to the President for life by jumping in when almost no other senator had the nerve to tangle with General MacArthur. Last year the President vetoed Kerr's natural gas bill. Speculation is that maybe next time it won't be vetoed.

cision of the Iranian Majlis to nationalize the Anglo-Iranian Company is the result of a Soviet plot. It does not mean either that Dr. Mussadegh and the other Iranian nationalists who have taken the lead in this matter have consciously wished to cripple the Western alliance; they are comparable, rather, to the American isolationists of the Wherry stripe, who also wish to bring the whole world down in ruins because they cannot see beyond their noses.

Finally, just because the problems created by this business in Iran are so immensely grave, it does not mean that these problems cannot be solved. The slow match in fact can be extinguished.

Grasping the immensity of the stakes in the game, however, is the essential first step towards an understanding of how the game must be played. What has happened could have been prevented by wise Angle-American action long ago. Instead, the British in the Middle East have pursued a policy of business as usual, the standard of business as usual being established by the conditions that prevailed before the shattering changes of the second world war. Meanwhile, the Americans have been flabby, uncreative, and unwilling for many reasons to take firm initiatives.

Thus Anglo-American influence, which is still potentially very great, has gone for nothing or has been downright pernicious. And this has created a situation in which heavy immediate risks must be run in order to avoid the certainty of eventual disaster.

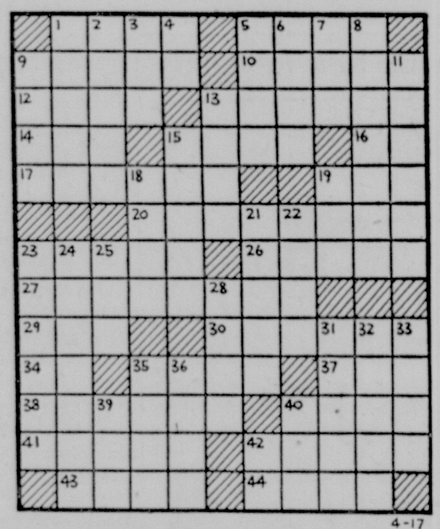
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Prices Decline As Market Stumbles Late In Session

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The stock market stumbled late in the session today and prices dropped fractions to $1 a share.

Motors and aircraft stocks led the way downward in the final hour with rails and steels following close behind.

The final tally found 607 issues on the losing side of the ledger and 313 gains out of the total 1,169 issues traded. While 40 issues reached new highs only 23 hit new low points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved down 20 cents to $95.70. The averages for the rail and utility groups were unchanged but the figure for the 30 industrials was down 60 cents.

There was a fair volume—1,730,000 shares—not quite as lusty as last Friday's 2,120,000 but well above other sessions of last week.

There were a fair number of losses in the dollar or more category.

These were most noticeable among the aircrafts—Boeing off $1.37 at $49.37; Lockheed, down $1.12 at $35.75, and Douglas, down $1 at $103.50.

Standard Oil (NJ) was off $1.25 at $108.62 and Gulf Oil was down $1.37 and $89.50.

All of the large steel stocks were small fractions lower and the motors were down a little more but still less than $1. Willys Overland was the bright spot in the motors—up 75 cents at $10.62.

Railroad stocks ended small fractions lower for New York Central and Pennsylvania to $1 lower for Nickel Plate. Northern Pacific, however, gained 87 cents at $37.87.

Most of the utilities lost ground, including American Telephone, down 12 cents at $153.50 despite a good quarterly earnings report.

Other losses included Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Consolidated Natural Gas, Kennecott Copper (Anaconda, and Phelps Dodge advanced slightly), American Woolen and Johns Manville.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 12:

Prices Decline As Market Stumbles Late In Session

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The stock market stumbled late in the session today and prices dropped fractions to $1 a share.

Motors and aircraft stocks led the way downward in the final hour with rails and steels following close behind.

The final tally found 607 issues on the losing side of the ledger and 313 gains out of the total 1,169 issues traded. While 40 issues reached new highs only 23 hit new low points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved down 20 cents to $95.70. The averages for the rail and utility groups were unchanged but the figure for the 30 industrials was down 60 cents.

There was a fair volume—1,730,000 shares—not quite as lusty as last Friday's 2,120,000 but well above other sessions of last week.

There were a fair number of losses in the dollar or more category.

These were most noticeable among the aircrafts—Boeing off $1.37 at $49.37; Lockheed, down $1.12 at $35.75, and Douglas, down $1 at $103.50.

Standard Oil (NJ) was off $1.25 at $108.62 and Gulf Oil was down $1.37 and $89.50.

All of the large steel stocks were small fractions lower and the motors were down a little more but still less than $1. Willys Overland was the bright spot in the motors—up 75 cents at $10.62.

Railroad stocks ended small fractions lower for New York Central and Pennsylvania to $1 lower for Nickel Plate. Northern Pacific, however, gained 87 cents at $37.87.

Most of the utilities lost ground, including American Telephone, down 12 cents at $153.50 despite a good quarterly earnings report.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 12:

Net budget receipts, $93,811,892.38; budget expenditures, $160,214,299.49; cash balance, $7,653,774,349.43; customs receipts for month, $22,716,956.46; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $36,780,885,813.52; budget expenditures fiscal year, $31,785,099,834.53; budget surplus, $4,995,785,878.99; total debt, $254,720,682,209.29; decrease under previous day, $91,531,301.98; gold assets, $21,806,160,056.82.

Prices Decline As Market Stumbles Late In Session

NEW YORK, April 16 (AP)—The stock market stumbled late in the session today and prices dropped fractions to $1 a share.

Motors and aircraft stocks led the way downward in the final hour with rails and steels following close behind.

The final tally found 607 issues on the losing side of the ledger and 313 gains out of the total 1,169 issues traded. While 40 issues reached new highs only 23 hit new low points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks moved down 20 cents to $95.70. The averages for the rail and utility groups were unchanged but the figure for the 30 industrials was down 60 cents.

There was a fair volume—1,730,000 shares—not quite as lusty as last Friday's 2,120,000 but well above other sessions of last week.

There were a fair number of losses in the dollar or more category.

These were most noticeable among the aircrafts—Boeing off $1.37 at $49.37; Lockheed, down $1.12 at $35.75, and Douglas, down $1 at $103.50.

Standard Oil (NJ) was off $1.25 at $108.62 and Gulf Oil was down $1.37 and $89.50.

All of the large steel stocks were small fractions lower and the motors were down a little more but still less than $1. Willys Overland was the bright spot in the motors—up 75 cents at $10.62.

Railroad stocks ended small fractions lower for New York Central and Pennsylvania to $1 lower for Nickel Plate. Northern Pacific, however, gained 87 cents at $37.87.

Most of the utilities lost ground, including American Telephone, down 12 cents at $153.50 despite a good quarterly earnings report.

Position Of Treasury

WASHINGTON, April 16 (AP)—The position of the Treasury April 12:

Net budget receipts, $93,811,892.38; budget expenditures, $160,214,299.49; cash balance, $7,653,774,349.43; customs receipts for month, $22,716,956.46; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $36,780,885,813.52; budget expenditures fiscal year, $31,785,099,834.53; budget surplus, $4,995,785,878.99; total debt, $254,720,682,209.29; decrease under previous day, $91,531,301.98; gold assets, $21,806,160,056.82.

Vets' Trustees Fined $500 In Slot Cases

Eight Machines To Be Confiscated

Five hundred dollar fines, plus court costs, were imposed yesterday afternoon against trustees of two Frostburg veterans' posts by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court, where they earlier had entered guilty pleas to slot machine charges.

One $500 fine, plus $12.80 court costs, was levied against William A. Shuck, Earl R. Miller and William H. Festerman as trustees of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion. Another $500 fine, with $10.85 court costs added, was imposed by Judge Henderson against Kenneth E. Pollack and Charles Walsh, trustee of John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Machine At Jail

In addition, four slot machines brought from each place yesterday to the County Jail, will be confiscated.

Guilty pleas were entered on behalf of the officials yesterday morning. Judge Henderson postponed sentencing until about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and in the meantime conferred with Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish who is to hear cases in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown today.

Before passing sentence, Judge Henderson lectured the defendants briefly.

"There are lots of people who say that the public wants slots. They have been legalized in some counties in Maryland and could be in this county in the same manner that bingo was legalized here," Judge Henderson said.

"In the future more severe penalties can be expected from this court. A separate indictment or separate count may be found on each machine. In the future you cannot expect to excuse yourself on the grounds that everybody else does it," the jurist added "In the future you had better not be in on it." Judge Henderson warned the convicted trustees.

"I think the community of Frostburg should respect Constable William Twigg who was merely doing his duty and did not wish to commit perjury when the testified concerning these two cases before the grand jury," Judge Henderson concluded.

Edward J. Ryan, who represented the two Frostburg organizations, asked the court for consideration in the sentencing. He stated that the clubs owned their machines and that the proceeds were used for charitable purposes and "extreme emergencies."

Henderson Makes Inquiries

Judge Henderson cited the instance of a veterans' club here in Cumberland which, he said, was reported to have realized $50,000 over a period of several years without getting the benefit of the money. The court said too often the insiders in the clubs "get inside the machines."

Attorney Ryan said that it has not been the policy of the Legion to operate machines on either the street-level cocktail lounge floor or the second floor ballroom. The slot machines, he said, were in the basement bar of the club and that this area is restricted to club members.

Judge Henderson also pointed out to counsel for the two clubs that warning had been given previously concerning the operation of slot machines in clubs. He mentioned the Navy League Club case here of several months ago as the occasion.

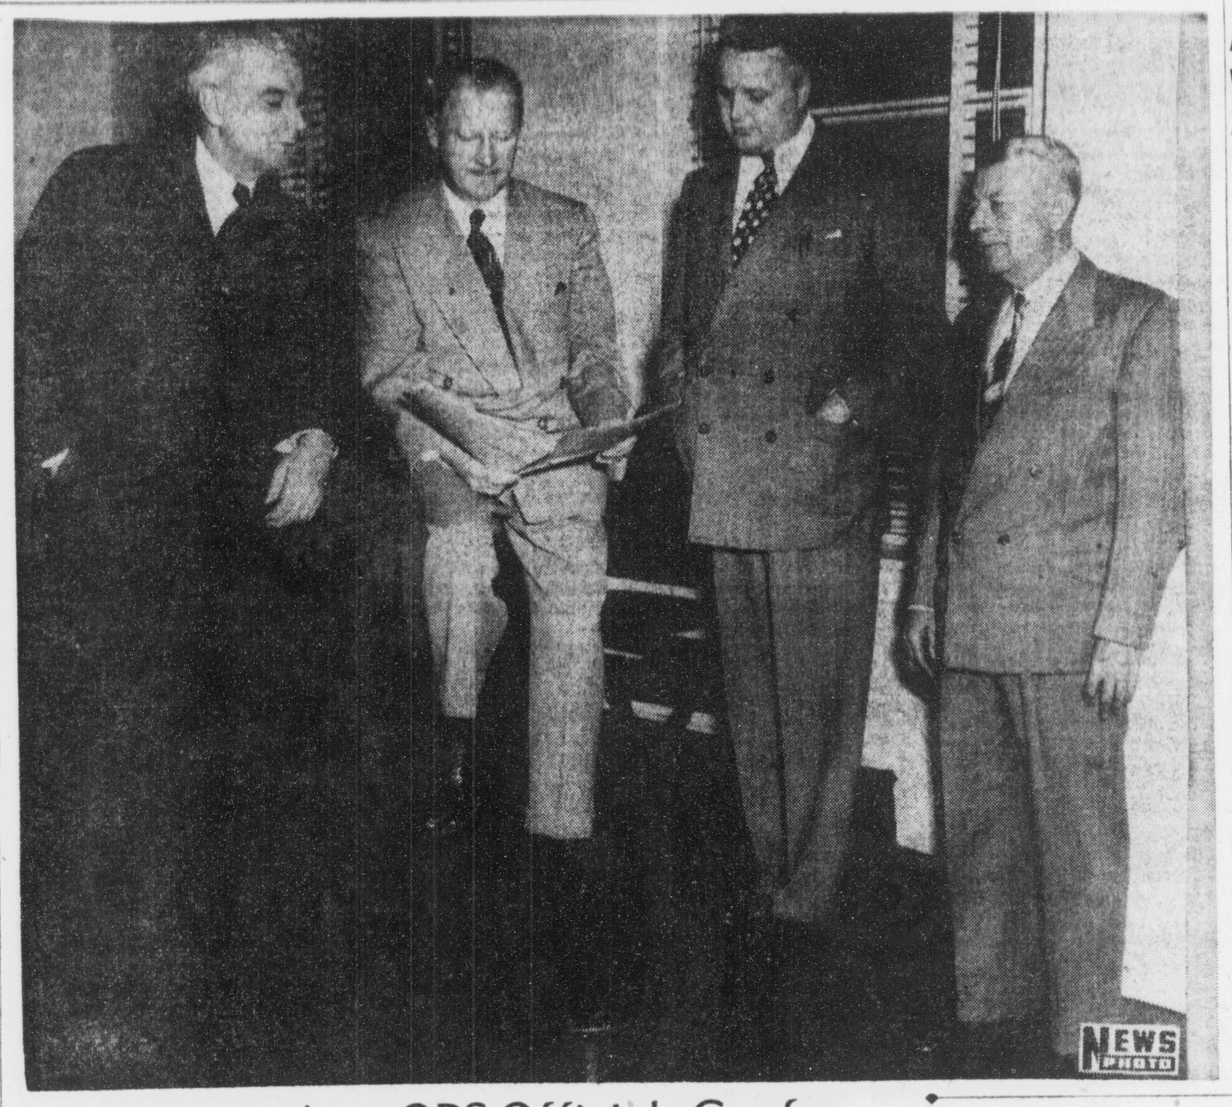
Clubs Aided Constable

In connection with the defense in the Legion case, Ryan told the court that Constable William Twigg, the witness who testified before the grand jury two weeks ago, had been aided by the veterans organization with funds realized from the slot machines.

Ryan said that Twigg's home had been damaged by fire and that Legionnaires had presented him money to help him in his time of need.

Twigg reported to the April grand jury that he had seen slot machines being played at the Legion Home on March 30.

Ryan told the court in the case against John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, VFW, that a woman had called Constable Twigg from the club room last January 5 to come and collect some money she owed. When the constable arrived he was admitted and at that time found several slot machines in the barroom. The attorney said that the VFW also has a dance floor and that the barroom is supposed to be for members only.



OPS Officials Confer

Round The Clock Work On Flood Project Asked

City Traffic Problem Termed "Terrific"

Round the clock work on flood control projects in the business district was suggested last night by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

The suggestion was made in connection with a letter from the Commercial Savings Bank, informing the Mayor and Council that earth in the Frederick Street area is loosely packed and asking that care be taken to prevent damage to buildings.

After the bank's suggestion was referred to the City Attorney and Flood Control liaison engineer, Commissioner Long asked if it would be possible to have the work on the Frederick Street pressure conduit proceed on a 24-hour schedule.

The commissioner pointed out that traffic conditions in the city are already "terrific" and that flood work will make the problem even greater.

He added that speeding up the work on the busy thoroughfare would mean that normal traffic could be resumed in that area within a comparatively short time.

City officials cited the fact that work on a similar project on Baltimore Street was done with only minor inconvenience by doing the work on an 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift.

The suggestion was ordered referred to the liaison engineer.

Lions Nominate New Officers

Arch M. Hutcheson has been nominated as President of the Cumberland Lions Club and plans have been made to send a local delegation to the District Convention in Washington, D. C. in May.

Other officers named for office by the nomination committee and approved by the membership of the club are Harry I. Stegmaier, first vice president; Louis V. Shinnamon, second vice president; Glenn K. Davis, third vice president; John M. Bond, lion tamer; Daniel J. Dopko, tail twister; Clement C. May, secretary; Waldo Harshberger, treasurer; and Winfield W. Adam, immediate past president.

Directors nominated were Frank Spoerl and Alvin E. Yaste for two years and Woodward Pealer and Dr. William Allen for one year.

Election of officers will be held in May.

A large group of local Lions have indicated their intentions of attending the District Convention including Hutcheson, Spoerl, Shinnamon, Harshberger, Yaste and others. Those desiring to attend are requested to check with Secretary Harshberger for reservations and credentials.

City Collector's Office Remodeled

Personnel of the City Collector's office will move back to their newly remodeled offices today.

A temporary office was set up in the City Clerk's office while the extensive remodeling program was underway.

Truck Reported Stolen

A 1936 Red Ford Truck was reported stolen Sunday by the owner William Cassidy, RFD No. 4, Oldtown Road. The truck, taken from a lot on Virginia Avenue had 1951 Maryland license plates 632-005. The owner stated the vehicle had coal and wood signs on each door.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A special meeting of Local No. 265, United Brewery Workers, will be held tonight at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, at 8 o'clock, Secretary John Hager reported last night.

The North End Playground Association, assisted by the North Cumberland Homemakers will hold a covered dish supper from 5 until 7 o'clock tonight in the field house.

Tonight's meeting of the Ursuline Auxiliary will be held in the gymnasium of the SS. Peter & Paul School at 8 o'clock. The program will feature a physical education demonstration by students of the school.

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 10 a. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall by the Allegany County Department of Health.

WEATHER

Local residents sighed regretfully and put on their topcoats again yesterday as the April rain gave way to chilly wind. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 50; low for the day was 40. It was 40 last night at 9 o'clock. Today's prediction is for cloudy and cool.

No Cut Sought In Recreation Dept. Budget

Mayor Says City To Retain "What It Has"

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced last night that the City of Cumberland does not expect to cut the budget of the City Recreation Department for the coming year.

Declaring city officials "want to retain what we have", Mayor Post said supporters of the department have no reason to be alarmed until the time comes to make up the budget.

The comment was made at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last night following the reading of recommendations from three local organizations asking that present appropriations be retained.

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, went on record as opposing any reduction in the department's $39,000 budget.

Fort Cumberalnd Post No. 13, American Legion, told the Mayor and Council that its membership has gone on record as requesting the city to allot the same appropriation for the department next year.

The Dapper Dan Club communication said the Dapper Dan Club and the Hot Stove League have gone on record against any cut in the Recreation Department's program and are in favor of an increased appropriation.

Rotary District Meeting Planned

Huntingdon, Pa., Rotary Club will be host to District No. 264 Convention at Bedford Springs, Pa., beginning Sunday. Cumberland Rotary Club is a member of District No. 264.

Plans are being made for a large delegation from the local club to attend the three-day session which will get underway Sunday evening, April 22.

The first session will be held in Bedford High School auditorium with a guest speaker not yet named after registration in the afternoon at Bedford Springs Hotel, convention headquarters.

Monday's program will include a business session and banquet in the evening and the convention will close Tuesday.

Approximately 40 members and their wives from the Cumberland club are planning to attend.

Parking Meter Revenue Exceeds 1950 Returns

Water Consumption Also Increases

Commissioner John J. Long, who presented the report on collections from this city's 390 parking meters, pointed out that the total exceeded the 1950 figure by $1,456.38.

Water consumption in the city last week totaled 12,400,000 gallons daily as contrasted to last year's 11,757,000. Lake Gordon was four inches above the crest and Lake Koon, three inches.

The Park Board was authorized to advertise for bids for operating the bath house at Constitution Park.

The Mayor and Council accepted an invitation to attend a safe driving demonstration at Fort Hill High School Friday at 8:50 a. m.

Referred to the Police and Street Departments was the request of Rev. M. J. King, pastor of Mapleside Church of God, for permission to place church locations signs on highways leading to this city.

The Disabled American Veterans were granted permission to show a Ripley "Believe It or Not" exhibit here within the next 60 days.

Navy Mothers Club No. 514 was granted permission to hold a tag day here May 19, Armed Forces Day.

Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc., was granted permission to operate a B. and O. Railroad mock Diesel engine here in connection with the store's 163rd anniversary.

Volunteer Fire Group To Hold Smoker

The annual smoker of the Allegany and Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held tomorrow night at Barton Fire Hall. The dinner will begin at 5 p. m. followed by a social hour after which there will be entertainment in the Fireman's Armory.

Officials of the Maryland State Firemen's Association have accepted invitations to attend. Officials of the two counties have also been invited.

Harry Wilson, of the Baltimore Pike Volunteer Company, president of association, will be toastmaster.

Firemen Plan Street Display For Convention

County Group Host To State Meeting Here

Additional plans for a giant parade and street decorations during the 59th annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association to be held here June 20-22 were discussed Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Convention Committee of the Allegany and Garrett County Firemen's Association at LaVale Fire Hall.

The committee decided that Baltimore Street, Virginia Avenue, portions of North and South Centre Street and North Mechanic Street will be decorated, Cromwell C. Zembower, secretary announced.

The problem of locating housing facilities for visiting delegates was discussed and private homes may be utilized for the large number of guests expected.

Zembower also said that many requests have been received from manufacturers and distributors of fire fighting equipment for exhibit space. One company asked about storage space for a truck and gave specifications to overall length and height of vehicle.

The committee expects delegates from at least 200 of the 250 association members and at least 100 auxiliaries of the 155 in the state.

Plans announced by the committee previously included the parade, a picnic at the Cumberland Fair Grounds Thursday afternoon, June 21, a farewell dance Friday night, June 22.

The last convention held by the state group in Cumberland was in 1941. This will be the first time the Allegany and Garrett County Association has sponsored the affair.

Zembower who is vice president of the state association also announced that a meeting of the committee will be held with the executive committee of the state association next Sunday at 1 p. m. at LaVale Fire Hall. Plans for the convention will be submitted at that time for approval by the state group. Guest lists and speakers will also be decided upon.

Retail Grocers Plan OPS Rules Meeting

George Osterman, Baltimore Office of Price Stabilization, will speak on OPS regulations on foods at the regular meeting of the Western Maryland Retail Grocers Association tonight at 8:15 o'clock at LaVale Fire Hall.

William H. Buchholtz, chairman of the local OPS board made arrangements for the discussion with Osterman. Francis Warnick is president of the Grocers group.

Western Maryland College Closes Drive With $3,745

Western Maryland College closed its campaign for funds in Allegany County last night with a final report meeting showing a total of $3,745 raised in the week-long project.

That sum was contributed by 79 alumni and friends of the college, with $1,590 of the amount being turned in last night. The balance was reported at two previous meetings last week.

Although the campaign has closed officially, leaders of the drive anticipate that the total will reach between $4,000 and $5,000 when solicitation cards still outstanding are turned in.

The college is attempting to raise $1,500,000 in a nation-wide Mid-Century Advance Program. The national campaign has exceeded the $700,000 mark.

Money obtained will be used to increase the college's endowment and to obtain better facilities.

Rev. John Bayley Jones, Frostburg, chairman of the campaign in Allegany County, expressed his gratification at the response shown among alumni and friends of the college in this area.

Philip Uhrig, college public relations director, announced that because of interest aroused by the campaign, efforts will be renewed to revitalize the alumni organization in this county.

Plans to that end will be announced later.

Arson Trial Will Resume This Morning

Youth Convicted On Two Charges

After William David Taylor, 17, Kolberg Hill, Westernport, was found guilty yesterday afternoon by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court on two charges of attempted arson, a jury in the same court began hearing evidence in an arson charge against the same boy.

Judge Henderson convicted the Westernport youth on charges of attempting to set fire to the Acme Furniture Company and the Sanitary Meat Market in Westernport the night of January 3. The state's attorney's office contended that the youth was frightened away before he could set fire to the places. Two bundles of paper were found near the market.

Powder House Burns

It was after 3 p. m. yesterday before the jury trial for Taylor on an arson charge got underway. He pleaded not guilty to a charge that he set fire to a powder house of the Harris Powder Company on Franklin Road, one mile from Westernport, the night of December 28.

The arson trial was recessed at 4:20 p. m. yesterday by Judge Henderson until 9:15 o'clock this morning when State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher will resume the presentation of prosecution evidence.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon. The first was Louis E. Harris, owner of the powder company. He testified that the fire December 28 destroyed the powder house and with it some 14,500 pounds of explosives. He said the explosives were lower in strength than dynamite. On cross examination by Edward J. Ryan, Taylor's attorney, Harris said that he did not know who set the fire.

Other witnesses were Westernport Police Chief Burza Hanlin and Westernport Constable John Hanna. Both stated they got Taylor out of a Westernport movie house the night of January 3 and questioned him in Chief Hanlin's office for about an hour concerning the Harris fire and other cases. They testified that Taylor at first denied he set the Harris fire but later changed his statement and admitted the charge.

Raymond T. Gallagher, 25, Midland, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland penitentiary by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris at a hearing Saturday.

Gallagher was charged with burglarizing the Midland Elementary School last February 25. His companion at the time, Mrs. Anna May Boore, 32, also of Midland, received a suspended sentence to the Maryland Reformatory for Women and placed on probation.

Gerald E. Broadwater, Moscow, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the theft of $70 from a store operated by Anna B. Jones, of Barton.

Judge Henderson gave Broadwater a suspended sentence and paroled him for three years on condition of good behavior. Broadwater is a first offender.

A youth involved with Broadwater in the theft was held for Juvenile Court action.

City Water Department Report Given

The City Water Department showed an excess of $51,206.75 over expenditures in the nine-month period ending March 31, 1951.

A statement issued yesterday by Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor showed the following:

Income included $194,438.64 for metered and flat rates to individuals; $118,305.04 for metered water to industrial users. Discounts of $6,985.21 left a total income of $305,758.47 from water rents.

Flue Fire Extinguished

South End Fire Company answered two calls yesterday. At 12:53 p. m. a flue fire was extinguished at the home of Charles M. Orndoff, 237 Gleason Street. An overheated stove, firemen said, was the cause of the blaze.

The second call was a grass fire at 2:55 p. m. on Laing Avenue extended. Firemen said about two acres of land were scorched.

City Officials Reject Plan For MacArthur Day

A suggestion that this city extend a hero's welcome to General MacArthur fell on deaf ears last night.

The Mayor and Council, by a 3 to 2 vote, declined to approve Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz's suggestion for a General MacArthur day here.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, Commissioner John J. Long and Commissioner George H. Tederick voted against the suggestion.

Commissioner Buchholtz had asked that bells be rung and flags flown here in recognition of the accomplishments of General MacArthur.

Junk Yard Probe May Be Sought By City Council

Feldstein Given 30 Days To Build Fence

The granting of a 30-day extension to Abe Feldstein to allow the construction of a fence around the Feldstein Iron and Metal Company on Wineow Street may spark a full investigation of junk yards within this city.

The action by the Mayor and Council last night came on the deadline of an order passed a month ago that the firm's occupancy permit be revoked unless the area were fenced and junk removed from the opposite side of the street.

Weather Is Factor

Feldstein said he will be able to complete the work within the 30 day reprieve if the weather is good.

In recommending that the time extension be granted, Commissioner George H. Tederick pointed out that the weather has been against Feldstein during the past month.

The comment brought a sharp retort from Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who said Feldstein has had plenty of good weather during the past 12 years that the city has been trying to get compliance on the permit.

Mrs. Roeder said her department is demanding compliance with the terms of the permit on grounds of both health and recreation.

The presence of the junk on the Community Ball Park property, she asserted, is interfering with the expansion of the recreation department program here.

Feldstein, who said he has been paying a license to operate a junk yard here since 1920, declared 21 other junk yards are operating in this city without permits.

Commissioner John J. Long asked Feldstein to list the names of the offenders so that proper action might be taken.

To Guide Police Tour

Feldstein said he was unable to give the exact location or operators of the junk yards but offered to take a day off to guide the police commissioner on a tour of the city to locate the non-licensed junk yards.

Hunter B. Helfrich, former city commissioner, appeared before the Mayor and Council to report that C. R. Jones is operating an automobile junk yard at 722 Sylvan Avenue.

Helfrich said the place has been reported to the police so many times that the people of the area are getting tired of reporting it.

Helfrich added that Jones has a county permit to operate a car wrecking yard but said it was his opinion that such a permit would not allow such operations within the city.

Commissioner Long promised the department will investigate.

Torkington To Head Mt. Royal PTA

William Torkington was elected president of the Mount Royal School PTA last night at a meeting at the school. Other officers are Mrs. Robert Lord, vice president, Charles Bryce, treasurer and Mrs. Paul Umberger, secretary. An installation will take place at the May meeting.

Mrs. Ernest McCullough directed a program on "Building Good Citizens." Participating were Mrs. Gordon Mitchell, Mrs. Alvin Storey, Mrs. William Torkington, Mrs. Gordon Bowie and Robert Moreland.

The Allegany Junior High Chorus, under the direction of Miss Joyce Bestwick, presented several selections. A bake sale, with Mrs. Norman Taylor in charge, followed the meeting.

Lt. and Mrs. Gradon F. Willard, formerly of Bowling Green, announce the birth of a daughter last Friday in DePaul Hospital, Norfolk, Va. Lt. Willard is serving with the Navy there.

County Board Must Set Tax Levy Today

Some Factors Indicate Hike

Just what this levy would be could not be determined last night.

Lemmert Uncertain

William H. Lemmert, board president, said early last night that he and the other commissioners, James Holmes and James Orr, still "did not have the answers." They were scheduled for another night meeting in an attempt to find that answer but Lemmert said final figures might not be compiled until this morning.

The board president last night also was uncertain as to whether teacher salary increases and pay hikes for other county employes could be squeezed out of the budget. Although he also was uncertain as to whether the tax rate would be raised he acknowledged that the chances of a boost seemed likely.

Several factors aside from Lemmert's implication indicated that the tax levy for 1951-52 probably would be above the current levy of $1.69. One is that virtually all budgets submitted by county departments to the commissioners called for some increase in expenditures. Another factor is that the county's surplus, which stood at $492,549.13 at the beginning of the current fiscal year has been depleted appreciably.

Few Cents Boost

Court House attaches indicated that the levy for the 1951-52 fiscal year probably will be upped a few cents above the current $1.69.

The following figures show the county levy and expenditures for each of the past 10 years:—

YEAR	LEVY	EXPENSES
1941	$1.43	$1,882,462.50
1942	1.38	1,808,410.93
1943	1.62	1,806,501.23
1944	1.68	1,811,806.88
1945	1.77	1,871,785.99
1946	1.77	1,945,863.86
1947	1.72	2,115,851.79
1948	1.67	2,619,800.77
1949	1.65	2,925,101.37
1950	1.69	3,037,849.13

Minter Outlines Traffic Program

Architect Speaks To South End Group

S. Russ Minter, local architect, spoke to the South End Businessmen's Association yesterday at their regular luncheon meeting at the Community Hall, Virginia Avenue. Approximately 45 members heard Minter outline his plan for modernization of Cumberland's shopping district to relieve the traffic situation here.

The modernistic architect advocates turning the downtown Cumberland district into a shopping center with no traffic permitted in the area. All vehicles would be rerouted around the district away from the narrow streets and railroad tieups, Minter noted.

A brief question and answer period followed the talk with attending members showing avid interest in the proposal. Although the association withheld any official action or comment some members thought the plan had more merit than anything so far advanced toward relieving the situation.

The South End group is endeavoring to bring the current problems of the city to light and before the public through its bi-monthly program realizing that if a problem is aired frequently enough a solution will find its way through the maze and the public will demand action officers explained.

One member said after the meeting the people of Cumberland need to have their confidence in the city and themselves renewed.

Young Demos Make Plans For Dinner

Delegates who plan to attend the School for Political Organization and Action to be held April 28 at Frederick must turn in names to the Young Democrat Club of Allegany County by Tuesday of next week, President Leslie J. Clarke said last night.

The deadline was advocated at a meeting of the club at Algonquin Hotel last evening at which time plans were also discussed for the group's participation in the Jefferson-Jackson dinner April 27 at Al Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The group also changed its regular meeting nights from the first Monday in each month to the first Thursday of each month.

State Fire Official To Address Auxiliary

Cromwell C. Zembower, vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, has accepted an invitation from the auxiliary of that group to speak before their spring conference at Park Plaza Hotel, Baltimore, Thursday.

He will discuss the coming convention to be held here June 20-22 in which the auxiliary will participate and talk about plans for the affair.

Vets' Trustees Fined $500 In Slot Cases

Eight Machines To Be Confiscated

Five hundred dollar fines, plus court costs, were imposed yesterday afternoon against trustees of two Frostburg veterans' posts by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court, where they earlier had entered guilty pleas to slot machine charges.

One $500 fine, plus $12.80 court costs, was levied against William A. Shuck, Earl R. Miller and William H. Festerman as trustees of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion. Another $500 fine, with $10.85 court costs added, was imposed by Judge Henderson against Kenneth E. Pollack and Charles Walsh, trustee of John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Machine At Jail

In addition, four slot machines brought from each place yesterday to the County Jail, will be confiscated.

Guilty pleas were entered on behalf of the officials yesterday morning. Judge Henderson postponed sentencing until about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and in the meantime conferred with Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish who is to hear cases in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown today.

Before passing sentence, Judge Henderson lectured the defendants briefly.

"There are lots of people who say that the public wants slots. They have been legalized in some counties in Maryland and could be in this county in the same manner that bingo was legalized here," Judge Henderson said.

"In the future more severe penalties can be expected from this court. A separate indictment or separate count may be found on each machine. In the future you cannot expect to excuse yourself on the grounds that everybody else does it," the jurist added "In the future you had better not be in on it." Judge Henderson warned the convicted trustees.

"I think the community of Frostburg should respect Constable William Twigg who was merely doing his duty and did not wish to commit perjury when the testified concerning these two cases before the grand jury," Judge Henderson concluded.

Edward J. Ryan, who represented the two Frostburg organizations, asked the court for consideration in the sentencing. He stated that the clubs owned their machines and that the proceeds were used for charitable purposes and "extreme emergencies."

Henderson Makes Inquiries

Judge Henderson cited the instance of a veterans' club here in Cumberland which, he said, was reported to have realized $50,000 over a period of several years without getting the benefit of the money. The court said too often the insiders in the clubs "get inside the machines."

Attorney Ryan said that it has not been the policy of the Legion to operate machines on either the street-level cocktail lounge floor or the second floor ballroom. The slot machines, he said, were in the basement bar of the club and that this area is restricted to club members.

Judge Henderson also pointed out to counsel for the two clubs that warning had been given previously concerning the operation of slot machines in clubs. He mentioned the Navy League Club case here of several months ago as the occasion.

Clubs Aided Constable

In connection with the defense in the Legion case, Ryan told the court that Constable William Twigg, the witness who testified before the grand jury two weeks ago, had been aided by the veterans organization with funds realized from the slot machines.

Ryan said that Twigg's home had been damaged by fire and that Legionnaires had presented him money to help him in his time of need.

Twigg reported to the April grand jury that he had seen slot machines being played at the Legion Home on March 30.

Ryan told the court in the case against John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, VFW, that a woman had called Constable Twigg from the club room last January 5 to come and collect some money she owed. When the constable arrived he was admitted and at that time found several slot machines in the barroom. The attorney said that the VFW also has a dance floor and that the barroom is supposed to be for members only.

Round The Clock Work On Flood Project Asked

City Traffic Problem Termed "Terrific"

Round the clock work on flood control projects in the business district was suggested last night by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

The suggestion was made in connection with a letter from the Commercial Savings Bank, informing the Mayor and Council that earth in the Frederick Street area is loosely packed and asking that care be taken to prevent damage to buildings.

After the bank's suggestion was referred to the City Attorney and Flood Control liaison engineer, Commissioner Long asked if it would be possible to have the work on the Frederick Street pressure conduit proceed on a 24-hour schedule.

The commissioner pointed out that traffic conditions in the city are already "terrific" and that flood work will make the problem even greater.

He added that speeding up the work on the busy thoroughfare would mean that normal traffic could be resumed in that area within a comparatively short time.

City officials cited the fact that work on a similar project on Baltimore Street was done with only minor inconvenience by doing the work on an 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift.

The suggestion was ordered referred to the liaison engineer.

Lions Nominate New Officers

Arch M. Hutcheson has been nominated as President of the Cumberland Lions Club and plans have been made to send a local delegation to the District Convention in Washington, D. C. in May.

Other officers named for office by the nomination committee and approved by the membership of the club are Harry I. Stegmaier, first vice president; Louis V. Shinnamon, second vice president; Glenn K. Davis, third vice president; John M. Bond, lion tamer; Daniel J. Dopko, tail twister; Clement C. May, secretary; Waldo Harshberger, treasurer; and Winfield W. Adam, immediate past president.

Directors nominated were Frank Spoerl and Alvin E. Yaste for two years and Woodward Pealer and Dr. William Allen for one year.

Election of officers will be held in May.

A large group of local Lions have indicated their intentions of attending the District Convention including Hutcheson, Spoerl, Shinnamon, Harshberger, Yaste and others. Those desiring to attend are requested to check with Secretary Harshberger for reservations and credentials.

City Collector's Office Remodeled

Personnel of the City Collector's office will move back to their newly remodeled offices today.

A temporary office was set up in the City Clerk's office while the extensive remodeling program was underway.

Truck Reported Stolen

A 1936 Red Ford Truck was reported stolen Sunday by the owner William Cassidy, RFD No. 4, Oldtown Road. The truck, taken from a lot on Virginia Avenue had 1951 Maryland license plates 632-005. The owner stated the vehicle had coal and wood signs on each door.

OPS Officials Confer

WEATHER

Local residents sighed regretfully and put on their topcoats again yesterday as the April rain gave way to chilly wind. Highest reading at Constitution Park weather station was 50; low for the day was 40. It was 40 last night at 9 o'clock. Today's prediction is for cloudy and cool.

No Cut Sought In Recreation Dept. Budget

Mayor Says City To Retain "What It Has"

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced last night that the City of Cumberland does not expect to cut the budget of the City Recreation Department for the coming year.

Declaring city officials "want to retain what we have", Mayor Post said supporters of the department have no reason to be alarmed until the time comes to make up the budget.

The comment was made at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last night following the reading of recommendations from three local organizations asking that present appropriations be retained.

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, went on record as opposing any reduction in the department's $39,000 budget.

Fort Cumberalnd Post No. 13, American Legion, told the Mayor and Council that its membership has gone on record as requesting the city to allot the same appropriation for the department next year.

The Dapper Dan Club communication said the Dapper Dan Club and the Hot Stove League have gone on record against any cut in the Recreation Department's program and are in favor of an increased appropriation.

Rotary District Meeting Planned

Huntingdon, Pa., Rotary Club will be host to District No. 264 Convention at Bedford Springs, Pa., beginning Sunday. Cumberland Rotary Club is a member of District No. 264.

Plans are being made for a large delegation from the local club to attend the three-day session which will get underway Sunday evening, April 22.

The first session will be held in Bedford High School auditorium with a guest speaker not yet named after registration in the afternoon at Bedford Springs Hotel, convention headquarters.

Monday's program will include a business session and banquet in the evening and the convention will close Tuesday.

Approximately 40 members and their wives from the Cumberland club are planning to attend.

Parking Meter Revenue Exceeds 1950 Returns

Water Consumption Also Increases

Collections from parking meters in Cumberland totaled $27,676.46 during the year ending April 1.

Commissioner John J. Long, who presented the report on collections from this city's 390 parking meters, pointed out that the total exceeded the 1950 figure by $1,456.38.

Water consumption in the city last week totaled 12,400,000 gallons daily as contrasted to last year's 11,757,000. Lake Gordon was four inches above the crest and Lake Koon, three inches.

The Park Board was authorized to advertise for bids for operating the bath house at Constitution Park.

The Mayor and Council accepted an invitation to attend a safe driving demonstration at Fort Hill High School Friday at 8:50 a. m.

Referred to the Police and Street Departments was the request of Rev. M. J. King, pastor of Maplewood Church of God, for permission to place church locations signs on highways leading to this city.

The Disabled American Veterans were granted permission to show a Ripley "Believe It or Not" exhibit here within the next 60 days.

Navy Mothers Club No. 514 was granted permission to hold a tag day here May 19, Armed Forces Day.

Rosenbaum Brothers, Inc., was granted permission to operate a B. and O. Railroad mock Diesel engine here in connection with the store's 163rd anniversary.

Volunteer Fire Group To Hold Smoker

The annual smoker of the Allegany and Garrett County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held tomorrow night at Barton Fire Hall. The dinner will begin at 5 p. m. followed by a social hour after which there will be entertainment in the Fireman's Armory.

Officials of the Maryland State Firemen's Association have accepted invitations to attend. Officials of the two counties have also been invited.

Firemen Plan Street Display For Convention

County Group Host To State Meeting Here

Additional plans for a giant parade and street decorations during the 59th annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association to be held here June 20-22 were discussed Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Convention Committee of the Allegany and Garrett County Firemen's Association at LaVale Fire Hall.

The committee decided that Baltimore Street, Virginia Avenue, portions of North and South Centre Street and North Mechanic Street will be decorated, Cromwell C. Zembower, secretary announced.

The problem of locating housing facilities for visiting delegates was discussed and private homes may be utilized for the large number of guests expected.

Zembower also said that many requests have been received from manufacturers and distributors of fire fighting equipment for exhibit space. One company asked about storage space for a truck and gave specifications to overall length and height of vehicle.

The committee expects delegates from at least 200 of the 250 association members and at least 100 auxiliaries of the 155 in the state.

Plans announced by the committee previously included the parade, a picnic at the Cumberland Fair Grounds Thursday afternoon, June 21, a farewell dance Friday night, June 22.

The last convention held by the state group in Cumberland was in 1941. This will be the first time the Allegany and Garrett County Association has sponsored the affair.

Zembower who is vice president of the state association also announced that a meeting of the committee will be held with the executive committee of the state association next Sunday at 1 p. m. at LaVale Fire Hall. Plans for the convention will be submitted at that time for approval by the state group. Guest lists and speakers will also be decided upon.

Retail Grocers Plan OPS Rules Meeting

George Osterman, Baltimore Office of Price Stabilization, will speak on OPS regulations on foods at the regular meeting of the Western Maryland Retail Grocers Association tonight at 8:15 o'clock at LaVale Fire Hall.

William H. Buchholtz, chairman of the local OPS board made arrangements for the discussion with Osterman. Francis Warnick is president of the Grocers group.

Western Maryland College Closes Drive With $3,745

Western Maryland College closed its campaign for funds in Allegany County last night with a final report meeting showing a total of $3,745 raised in the week-long project.

That sum was contributed by 79 alumni and friends of the college, with $1,590 of the amount being turned in last night. The balance was reported at two previous meetings last week.

Although the campaign has closed officially, leaders of the drive anticipate that the total will reach between $4,000 and $5,000 when solicitation cards still outstanding are turned in.

The college is attempting to raise $1,500,000 in a nation-wide Mid-Century Advance Program. The national campaign has exceeded the $700,000 mark.

Money obtained will be used to increase the college's endowment and to obtain better facilities.

Rev. John Bayley Jones, Frostburg, chairman of the campaign in Allegany County, expressed his gratification at the response shown among alumni and friends of the college in this area.

Philip Uhrig, college public relations director, announced that because of interest aroused by the campaign, efforts will be renewed to revitalize the alumni organization in this county.

Plans to that end will be announced later.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A special meeting of Local No. 265, United Brewery Workers, will be held tonight at the Fraternal Order of Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, at 8 o'clock, Secretary John Hager reported last night.

The North End Playground Association, assisted by the North Cumberland Homemakers will hold a covered dish supper from 5 until 7 o'clock tonight in the field house.

Tonight's meeting of the Ursuline Auxiliary will be held in the gymnasium of the SS. Peter & Paul School at 8 o'clock. The program will feature a physical education demonstration by students of the school.

A child hygiene clinic will be held today at 10 a. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall by the Allegany County Department of Health.

Arson Trial Will Resume This Morning

Youth Convicted On Two Charges

After William David Taylor, 17, Kolberg Hill, Westernport, was found guilty yesterday afternoon by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court on two charges of attempted arson, a jury in the same court began hearing evidence in an arson charge against the same boy.

Judge Henderson convicted the Westernport youth on charges of attempting to set fire to the Acme Furniture Company and the Sanitary Meat Market in Westernport the night of January 3. The state's attorney's office contended that the youth was frightened away before he could set fire to the places. Two bundles of paper were found near the market.

Powder House Burns

It was after 3 p. m. yesterday before the jury trial for Taylor on an arson charge got underway. He pleaded not guilty to a charge that he set fire to a powder house of the Harris Powder Company on Franklin Road, one mile from Westernport, the night of December 28.

The arson trial was recessed at 4:20 p. m. yesterday by Judge Henderson until 9:15 o'clock this morning when State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher will resume the presentation of prosecution evidence.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon. The first was Louis E. Harris, owner of the powder company. He testified that the fire December 28 destroyed the powder house and with it some 14,500 pounds of explosives. He said the explosives were lower in strength than dynamite. On cross examination by Edward J. Ryan, Taylor's attorney, Harris said that he did not know who set the fire.

Other witnesses were Westernport Police Chief Burza Hanlin and Westernport Constable John Hanna. Both stated they got Taylor out of a Westernport movie house the night of January 3 and questioned him in Chief Hanlin's office for about an hour concerning the Harris fire and other cases. They testified that Taylor at first denied he set the Harris fire but later changed his statement and admitted the charge.

Raymond T. Gallagher, 25, Midland, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland penitentiary by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris at a hearing Saturday.

Gallagher was charged with burglarizing the Midland Elementary School last February 25. His companion at the time, Mrs. Anna May Boore, 32, also of Midland, received a suspended sentence to the Maryland Reformatory for Women and placed on probation.

Gerald E. Broadwater, Moscow, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the theft of $70 from a store operated by Anna B. Jones, of Barton.

Judge Henderson gave Broadwater a suspended sentence and paroled him for three years on condition of good behavior. Broadwater is a first offender.

A youth involved with Broadwater in the theft was held for Juvenile Court action.

Expense at dam—salaries and wages, $22,296.27; filtration, $5,194.72; power, electric, $1,772.50; power, gasoline, $1,566.76; auto expense, $1,951.35; repairs and improvements, $2,699.76; supplies, $1,550.30; superintendent's expense, $136.93; telephone, $241.99; heat and light, $2,495.90; insurance and taxes, $1,171.93, and capital outlay, $679.57, for total dam expenses of $41,883.67, and total expenditures of $261,311.72.

Flue Fire Extinguished

South End Fire Company answered two calls yesterday. At 12:53 p. m. a flue fire was extinguished at the home of Charles M. Orndoff, 237 Gleason Street. An overheated stove, firemen said, was the cause of the blaze.

The second call was a grass fire at 2:55 p. m. on Laing Avenue extended. Firemen said about two acres of land were scorched.

City Officials Reject Plan For MacArthur Day

A suggestion that this city extend a hero's welcome to General MacArthur fell on deaf ears last night.

The Mayor and Council, by a 3 to 2 vote, declined to approve Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz's suggestion for a General MacArthur day here.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, Commissioner John J. Long and Commissioner George H. Tederick voted against the suggestion.

Commissioner Buchholtz had asked that bells be rung and flags flown here in recognition of the accomplishments of General MacArthur.

Junk Yard Probe May Be Sought By City Council

Feldstein Given 30 Days To Build Fence

The granting of a 30-day extension to Abe Feldstein to allow the construction of a fence around the Feldstein Iron and Metal Company on Wineow Street may spark a full investigation of junk yards within this city.

The action by the Mayor and Council last night came on the deadline of an order passed a month ago that the firm's occupancy permit be revoked unless the area were fenced and junk removed from the opposite side of the street.

Weather Is Factor

Feldstein said he will be able to complete the work within the 30 day reprieve if the weather is good.

In recommending that the time extension be granted, Commissioner George H. Tederick pointed out that the weather has been against Feldstein during the past month.

The comment brought a sharp retort from Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who said Feldstein has had plenty of good weather during the past 12 years that the city has been trying to get compliance on the permit.

Mrs. Roeder said her department is demanding compliance with the terms of the permit on grounds of both health and recreation.

The presence of the junk on the Community Ball Park property, she asserted, is interfering with the expansion of the recreation department program here.

Feldstein, who said he has been paying a license to operate a junk yard here since 1920, declared 21 other junk yards are operating in this city without permits.

Commissioner John J. Long asked Feldstein to list the names of the offenders so that proper action might be taken.

To Guide Police Tour

Feldstein said he was unable to give the exact location or operators of the junk yards but offered to take a day off to guide the police commissioner on a tour of the city to locate the non-licensed junk yards.

Hunter B. Helfrich, former city commissioner, appeared before the Mayor and Council to report that C. R. Jones is operating an automobile junk yard at 722 Sylvan Avenue.

Helfrich said the place has been reported to the police so many times that the people of the area are getting tired of reporting it.

Helfrich added that Jones has a county permit to operate a car wrecking yard but said it was his opinion that such a permit would not allow such operations within the city.

Commissioner Long promised the department will investigate.

Torkington To Head Mt. Royal PTA

William Torkington was elected president of the Mount Royal School PTA last night at a meeting at the school. Other officers are Mrs. Robert Lord, vice president, Charles Bryce, treasurer and Mrs. Paul Umberger, secretary. An installation will take place at the May meeting.

Mrs. Ernest McCullough directed a program on "Building Good Citizens." Participating were Mrs. Gordon Mitchell, Mrs. Alvin Storey, Mrs. William Torkington, Mrs. Gordon Bowie and Robert Moreland.

The Allegany Junior High Chorus, under the direction of Miss Joyce Bestwick, presented several selections. A bake sale, with Mrs. Norman Taylor in charge, followed the meeting.

County Board Must Set Tax Levy Today

Some Factors Indicate Hike

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today must set the county tax levy for the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Just what this levy would be could not be determined last night.

Lemmert Uncertain

William H. Lemmert, board president, said early last night that he and the other commissioners, James Holmes and James Orr, still "did not have the answers." They were scheduled for another night meeting in an attempt to find that answer but Lemmert said final figures might not be compiled until this morning.

The board president last night also was uncertain as to whether teacher salary increases and pay hikes for other county employes could be squeezed out of the budget. Although he also was uncertain as to whether the tax rate would be raised he acknowledged that the chances of a boost seemed likely.

Several factors aside from Lemmert's implication indicated that the tax levy for 1951-52 probably would be above the current levy of $1.69. One is that virtually all budgets submitted by county departments to the commissioners called for some increase in expenditures. Another factor is that the county's surplus, which stood at $492,549.13 at the beginning of the current fiscal year has been depleted appreciably.

Few Cents Boost

Court House attaches indicated that the levy for the 1951-52 fiscal year probably will be upped a few cents above the current $1.69.

The following figures show the county levy and expenditures for each of the past 10 years:—

YEAR	LEVY	EXPENSES
1941	$1.43	$1,882,462.50
1942	1.38	1,808,410.93
1943	1.62	1,806,501.23
1944	1.68	1,811,806.88
1945	1.77	1,871,785.99
1946	1.77	1,945,863.86
1947	1.72	2,115,851.79
1948	1.67	2,619,800.77
1949	1.65	2,925,101.37
1950	1.69	3,037,849.13

Minter Outlines Traffic Program

Architect Speaks To South End Group

S. Russ Minter, local architect, spoke to the South End Businessmen's Association yesterday at their regular luncheon meeting at the Community Hall, Virginia Avenue.

Approximately 45 members heard Minter outline his plan for modernization of Cumberland's shopping district to relieve the traffic situation here.

The modernistic architect advocates turning the downtown Cumberland district into a shopping center with no traffic permitted in the area. All vehicles would be rerouted around the district away from the narrow streets and railroad tieups, Minter noted.

A brief question and answer period followed the talk with attending members showing avid interest in the proposal. Although the association withheld any official action or comment some members thought the plan had more merit than anything so far advanced toward relieving the situation.

The South End group is endeavoring to bring the current problems of the city to light and before the public through its bi-monthly program realizing that if a problem is aired frequently enough a solution will find its way through the maze and the public will demand action officers explained.

One member said after the meeting the people of Cumberland need to have their confidence in the city and themselves renewed.

Young Demos Make Plans For Dinner

Delegates who plan to attend the School for Political Organization and Action to be held April 28 at Frederick must turn in names to the Young Democrat Club of Allegany County by Tuesday of next week, President Leslie J. Clarke said last night.

The deadline was advocated at a meeting of the club at Algonquin Hotel last evening at which time plans were also discussed for the group's participation in the Jefferson-Jackson dinner April 27 at Al Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The group also changed its regular meeting nights from the first Monday in each month to the first Thursday of each month.

State Fire Official To Address Auxiliary

Cromwell C. Zembower, vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, has accepted an invitation from the auxiliary of that group to speak before their spring conference at Park Plaza Hotel, Baltimore, Thursday.

He will discuss the coming convention to be held here June 20-22 in which the auxiliary will participate and talk about plans for the affair.

Vets' Trustees Fined $500 In Slot Cases

Eight Machines To Be Confiscated

Five hundred dollar fines, plus court costs, were imposed yesterday afternoon against trustees of two Frostburg veterans' posts by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court, where they earlier had entered guilty pleas to slot machine charges.

One $500 fine, plus $12.80 court costs, was levied against William A. Shuck, Earl R. Miller and William H. Festerman as trustees of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion. Another $500 fine, with $10.85 court costs added, was imposed by Judge Henderson against Kenneth E. Pollack and Charles Walsh, trustee of John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Machine At Jail

In addition, four slot machines brought from each place yesterday to the County Jail, will be confiscated.

Guilty pleas were entered on behalf of the officials yesterday morning. Judge Henderson postponed sentencing until about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon and in the meantime conferred with Chief Judge Joseph D. Mish who is to hear cases in Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown today.

Before passing sentence, Judge Henderson lectured the defendants briefly.

"There are lots of people who say that the public wants slots. They have been legalized in some counties in Maryland and could be in this county in the same manner that bingo was legalized here," Judge Henderson said.

"In the future more severe penalties can be expected from this court. A separate indictment or separate count may be found on each machine. In the future you cannot expect to excuse yourself on the grounds that everybody else does it," the jurist added "In the future you had better not be in on it." Judge Henderson warned the convicted trustees.

"I think the community of Frostburg should respect Constable William Twigg who was merely doing his duty and did not wish to commit perjury when the testified concerning these two cases before the grand jury," Judge Henderson concluded.

Edward J. Ryan, who represented the two Frostburg organizations, asked the court for consideration in the sentencing. He stated that the clubs owned their machines and that the proceeds were used for charitable purposes and "extreme emergencies."

Henderson Makes Inquiries

Judge Henderson cited the instance of a veterans' club here in Cumberland which, he said, was reported to have realized $50,000 over a period of several years without getting the benefit of the money. The court said too often the insiders in the clubs "get inside the machines."

Attorney Ryan said that it has not been the policy of the Legion to operate machines on either the street-level cocktail lounge floor or the second floor ballroom. The slot machines, he said, were in the basement bar of the club and that this area is restricted to club members.

Judge Henderson also pointed out to counsel for the two clubs that warning had been given previously concerning the operation of slot machines in clubs. He mentioned the Navy League Club case here of several months ago as the occasion.

Clubs Aided Constable

In connection with the defense in the Legion case, Ryan told the court that Constable William Twigg, the witness who testified before the grand jury two weeks ago, had been aided by the veterans organization with funds realized from the slot machines.

Ryan said that Twigg's home had been damaged by fire and that Legionnaires had presented him money to help him in his time of need.

Twigg reported to the April grand jury that he had seen slot machines being played at the Legion Home on March 30.

Ryan told the court in the case against John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, VFW, that a woman had called Constable Twigg from the club room last January 5 to come and collect some money she owed. When the constable arrived he was admitted and at that time found several slot machines in the barroom. The attorney said that the VFW also has a dance floor and that the barroom is supposed to be for members only.

Round The Clock Work On Flood Project Asked

City Traffic Problem Termed "Terrific"

Round the clock work on flood control projects in the business district was suggested last night by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

The suggestion was made in connection with a letter from the Commercial Savings Bank, informing the Mayor and Council that earth in the Frederick Street area is loosely packed and asking that care be taken to prevent damage to buildings.

After the bank's suggestion was referred to the City Attorney and Flood Control liaison engineer, Commissioner Long asked if it would be possible to have the work on the Frederick Street pressure conduit proceed on a 24-hour schedule.

The commissioner pointed out that traffic conditions in the city are already "terrific" and that flood work will make the problem even greater.

He added that speeding up the work on the busy thoroughfare would mean that normal traffic could be resumed in that area within a comparatively short time.

City officials cited the fact that work on a similar project on Baltimore Street was done with only minor inconvenience by doing the work on an 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. shift.

The suggestion was ordered referred to the liaison engineer.

Lions Nominate New Officers

Arch M. Hutcheson has been nominated as President of the Cumberland Lions Club and plans have been made to send a local delegation to the District Convention in Washington, D. C. in May.

Other officers named for office by the nomination committee and approved by the membership of the club are Harry I. Stegmaier, first vice president; Louis V. Shinnamon, second vice president; Glenn K. Davis, third vice president; John M. Bond, lion tamer; Daniel J. Dopko, tail twister; Clement C. May, secretary; Waldo Harshberger, treasurer; and Winfield W. Adam, immediate past president.

Directors nominated were Frank Spoerl and Alvin E. Yaste for two years and Woodward Pealer and Dr. William Allen for one year.

Election of officers will be held in May.

A large group of local Lions have indicated their intentions of attending the District Convention including Hutcheson, Spoerl, Shinnamon, Harshberger, Yaste and others. Those desiring to attend are requested to check with Secretary Harshberger for reservations and credentials.

No Cut Sought In Recreation Dept. Budget

Mayor Says City To Retain "What It Has"

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced last night that the City of Cumberland does not expect to cut the budget of the City Recreation Department for the coming year.

Declaring city officials "want to retain what we have", Mayor Post said supporters of the department have no reason to be alarmed until the time comes to make up the budget.

The comment was made at a meeting of the Mayor and Council last night following the reading of recommendations from three local organizations asking that present appropriations be retained.

Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, went on record as opposing any reduction in the department's $39,000 budget.

Fort Cumberalnd Post No. 13, American Legion, told the Mayor and Council that its membership has gone on record as requesting the city to allot the same appropriation for the department next year.

The Dapper Dan Club communication said the Dapper Dan Club and the Hot Stove League have gone on record against any cut in the Recreation Department's program and are in favor of an increased appropriation.

Rotary District Meeting Planned

Huntingdon, Pa., Rotary Club will be host to District No. 264 Convention at Bedford Springs, Pa., beginning Sunday. Cumberland Rotary Club is a member of District No. 264.

Plans are being made for a large delegation from the local club to attend the three-day session which will get underway Sunday evening, April 22.

The first session will be held in Bedford High School auditorium with a guest speaker not yet named after registration in the afternoon at Bedford Springs Hotel, convention headquarters.

Monday's program will include a business session and banquet in the evening and the convention will close Tuesday.

Approximately 40 members and their wives from the Cumberland club are planning to attend.

Parking Meter Revenue Exceeds 1950 Returns

Water Consumption Also Increases

Collections from parking meters in Cumberland totaled $27,676.46 during the year ending April 1.

Commissioner John J. Long, who presented the report on collections from this city's 390 parking meters, pointed out that the total exceeded the 1950 figure by $1,456.38.

Water consumption in the city last week totaled 12,400,000 gallons daily as contrasted to last year's 11,757,000. Lake Gordon was four inches above the crest and Lake Koon, three inches.

The Park Board was authorized to advertise for bids for operating the bath house at Constitution Park.

The Mayor and Council accepted an invitation to attend a safe driving demonstration at Fort Hill High School Friday at 8:50 a. m.

Referred to the Police and Street Departments was the request of Rev. M. J. King, pastor of Maplesside Church of God, for permission to place church locations signs on highways leading to this city.

Firemen Plan Street Display For Convention

County Group Host To State Meeting Here

Additional plans for a giant parade and street decorations during the 59th annual convention of the Maryland State Firemen's Association to be held here June 20-22 were discussed Sunday afternoon at a meeting of the Convention Committee of the Allegany and Garrett County Firemen's Association at LaVale Fire Hall.

The committee decided that Baltimore Street, Virginia Avenue, portions of North and South Centre Street and North Mechanic Street will be decorated, Cromwell C. Zembower, secretary announced.

The problem of locating housing facilities for visiting delegates was discussed and private homes may be utilized for the large number of guests expected.

Zembower also said that many requests have been received from manufacturers and distributors of fire fighting equipment for exhibit space. One company asked about storage space for a truck and gave specifications to overall length and height of vehicle.

The committee expects delegates from at least 200 of the 250 association members and at least 100 auxiliaries of the 155 in the state.

Plans announced by the committee previously included the parade, a picnic at the Cumberland Fair Grounds Thursday afternoon, June 21, a farewell dance Friday night, June 22.

The last convention held by the state group in Cumberland was in 1941. This will be the first time the Allegany and Garrett County Association has sponsored the affair.

Zembower who is vice president of the state association also announced that a meeting of the committee will be held with the executive committee of the state association next Sunday at 1 p. m. at LaVale Fire Hall. Plans for the convention will be submitted at that time for approval by the state group. Guest lists and speakers will also be decided upon.

Retail Grocers Plan OPS Rules Meeting

George Osterman, Baltimore Office of Price Stabilization, will speak on OPS regulations on foods at the regular meeting of the Western Maryland Retail Grocers Association tonight at 8:15 o'clock at LaVale Fire Hall.

William H. Buchholtz, chairman of the local OPS board made arrangements for the discussion with Osterman. Francis Warnick is president of the Grocers group.

Western Maryland College Closes Drive With $3,745

Western Maryland College closed its campaign for funds in Allegany County last night with a final report meeting showing a total of $3,745 raised in the week-long project.

That sum was contributed by 79 alumni and friends of the college, with $1,590 of the amount being turned in last night. The balance was reported at two previous meetings last week.

Although the campaign has closed officially, leaders of the drive anticipate that the total will reach between $4,000 and $5,000 when solicitation cards still outstanding are turned in.

The college is attempting to raise $1,500,000 in a nation-wide Mid-Century Advance Program. The national campaign has exceeded the $700,000 mark.

Money obtained will be used to increase the college's endowment and to obtain better facilities.

Rev. John Bayley Jones, Frostburg, chairman of the campaign in Allegany County, expressed his gratification at the response shown among alumni and friends of the college in this area.

Philip Uhrig, college public relations director, announced that because of interest aroused by the campaign, efforts will be renewed to revitalize the alumni organization in this county.

Plans to that end will be announced later.

Arson Trial Will Resume This Morning

Youth Convicted On Two Charges

After William David Taylor, 17, Kolberg Hill, Westernport, was found guilty yesterday afternoon by Associate Judge George Henderson in Allegany County Circuit Court on two charges of attempted arson, a jury in the same court began hearing evidence in an arson charge against the same boy.

Judge Henderson convicted the Westernport youth on charges of attempting to set fire to the Acme Furniture Company and the Sanitary Meat Market in Westernport the night of January 3. The state's attorney's office contended that the youth was frightened away before he could set fire to the places. Two bundles of paper were found near the market.

Powder House Burns

It was after 3 p. m. yesterday before the jury trial for Taylor on an arson charge got underway. He pleaded not guilty to a charge that he set fire to a powder house of the Harris Powder Company on Franklin Road, one mile from Westernport, the night of December 28.

The arson trial was recessed at 4:20 p. m. yesterday by Judge Henderson until 9:15 o'clock this morning when State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher will resume the presentation of prosecution evidence.

Three Witnesses

Three witnesses were heard yesterday afternoon. The first was Louis E. Harris, owner of the powder company. He testified that the fire December 28 destroyed the powder house and with it some 14,500 pounds of explosives. He said the explosives were lower in strength than dynamite. On cross examination by Edward J. Ryan, Taylor's attorney, Harris said that he did not know who set the fire.

Other witnesses were Westernport Police Chief Burza Hanlin and Westernport Constable John Hanna. Both stated they got Taylor out of a Westernport movie house the night of January 3 and questioned him in Chief Hanlin's office for about an hour concerning the Harris fire and other cases. They testified that Taylor at first denied he set the Harris fire but later changed his statement and admitted the charge.

Raymond T. Gallagher, 25, Midland, was sentenced to two years in the Maryland penitentiary by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris at a hearing Saturday.

Gallagher was charged with burglarizing the Midland Elementary School last February 25. His companion at the time, Mrs. Anna May Boore, 32, also of Midland, received a suspended sentence to the Maryland Reformatory for Women and placed on probation.

Gerald E. Broadwater, Moscow, pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny and receiving stolen goods in the theft of $70 from a store operated by Anna B. Jones, of Barton.

Judge Henderson gave Broadwater a suspended sentence and paroled him for three years on condition of good behavior. Broadwater is a first offender.

A youth involved with Broadwater in the theft was held for Juvenile Court action.

Flue Fire Extinguished

South End Fire Company answered two calls yesterday. At 12:53 p. m. a flue fire was extinguished at the home of Charles M. Orndoff, 237 Gleason Street. An overheated stove, firemen said, was the cause of the blaze.

The second call was a grass fire at 2:55 p. m. on Laing Avenue extended. Firemen said about two acres of land were scorched.

City Officials Reject Plan For MacArthur Day

A suggestion that this city extend a hero's welcome to General MacArthur fell on deaf ears last night.

The Mayor and Council, by a 3 to 2 vote, declined to approve Finance Commissioner William H. Buchholtz's suggestion for a General MacArthur day here.

Mayor Thomas S. Post, Commissioner John J. Long and Commissioner George H. Tederick voted against the suggestion.

Commissioner Buchholtz had asked that bells be rung and flags flown here in recognition of the accomplishments of General MacArthur.

Junk Yard Probe May Be Sought By City Council

Feldstein Given 30 Days To Build Fence

The granting of a 30-day extension to Abe Feldstein to allow the construction of a fence around the Feldstein Iron and Metal Company on Wineow Street may spark a full investigation of junk yards within this city.

The action by the Mayor and Council last night came on the deadline of an order passed a month ago that the firm's occupancy permit be revoked unless the area were fenced and junk removed from the opposite side of the street.

Weather Is Factor

Feldstein said he will be able to complete the work within the 30 day reprieve if the weather is good.

In recommending that the time extension be granted, Commissioner George H. Tederick pointed out that the weather has been against Feldstein during the past month.

The comment brought a sharp retort from Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, who said Feldstein has had plenty of good weather during the past 12 years that the city has been trying to get compliance on the permit.

Mrs. Roeder said her department is demanding compliance with the terms of the permit on grounds of both health and recreation.

The presence of the junk on the Community Ball Park property, she asserted, is interfering with the expansion of the recreation department program here.

Feldstein, who said he has been paying a license to operate a junk yard here since 1920, declared 21 other junk yards are operating in this city without permits.

Commissioner John J. Long asked Feldstein to list the names of the offenders so that proper action might be taken.

To Guide Police Tour

Feldstein said he was unable to give the exact location or operators of the junk yards but offered to take a day off to guide the police commissioner on a tour of the city to locate the non-licensed junk yards.

Hunter B. Helfrich, former city commissioner, appeared before the Mayor and Council to report that C. R. Jones is operating an automobile junk yard at 722 Sylvan Avenue.

Helfrich said the place has been reported to the police so many times that the people of the area are getting tired of reporting it.

Helfrich added that Jones has a county permit to operate a car wrecking yard but said it was his opinion that such a permit would not allow such operations within the city.

Commissioner Long promised the department will investigate.

County Board Must Set Tax Levy Today

Some Factors Indicate Hike

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today must set the county tax levy for the 1951-52 fiscal year.

Just what this levy would be could not be determined last night.

Lemmert Uncertain

William H. Lemmert, board president, said early last night that he and the other commissioners, James Holmes and James Orr, still "did not have the answers." They were scheduled for another night meeting in an attempt to find that answer but Lemmert said final figures might not be compiled until this morning.

The board president last night also was uncertain as to whether teacher salary increases and pay hikes for other county employes could be squeezed out of the budget. Although he also was uncertain as to whether the tax rate would be raised he acknowledged that the chances of a boost seemed likely.

Several factors aside from Lemmert's implication indicated that the tax levy for 1951-52 probably would be above the current levy of $1.69. One is that virtually all budgets submitted by county departments to the commissioners called for some increase in expenditures. Another factor is that the county's surplus, which stood at $492,549.13 at the beginning of the current fiscal year has been depleted appreciably.

Few Cents Boost

Court House attaches indicated that the levy for the 1951-52 fiscal year probably will be upped a few cents above the current $1.69.

The following figures show the county levy and expenditures for each of the past 10 years:—

YEAR	LEVY	EXPENSES
1941	$1.43	$1,882,462.50
1942	1.38	1,808,410.93
1943	1.62	1,806,501.23
1944	1.68	1,811,806.88
1945	1.77	1,871,785.99
1946	1.77	1,945,863.86
1947	1.72	2,115,851.79
1948	1.67	2,619,800.77
1949	1.65	2,925,101.37
1950	1.69	3,037,849.13

Architect Speaks To South End Group

S. Russ Minter, local architect, spoke to the South End Businessmen's Association yesterday at their regular luncheon meeting at the Community Hall, Virginia Avenue.

Approximately 45 members heard Minter outline his plan for modernization of Cumberland's shopping district to relieve the traffic situation here.

The modernistic architect advocates turning the downtown Cumberland district into a shopping center with no traffic permitted in the area. All vehicles would be rerouted around the district away from the narrow streets and railroad tieups, Minter noted.

A brief question and answer period followed the talk with attending members showing avid interest in the proposal. Although the association withheld any official action or comment some members thought the plan had more merit than anything so far advanced toward relieving the situation.

The South End group is endeavoring to bring the current problems of the city to light and before the public through its bi-monthly program realizing that if a problem is aired frequently enough a solution will find its way through the maze and the public will demand action officers explained.

One member said after the meeting the people of Cumberland need to have their confidence in the city and themselves renewed.

Young Demos Make Plans For Dinner

Delegates who plan to attend the School for Political Organization and Action to be held April 28 at Frederick must turn in names to the Young Democrat Club of Allegany County by Tuesday of next week, President Leslie J. Clarke said last night.

The deadline was advocated at a meeting of the club at Algonquin Hotel last evening at which time plans were also discussed for the group's participation in the Jefferson-Jackson dinner April 27 at Al Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The group also changed its regular meeting nights from the first Monday in each month to the first Thursday of each month.

State Fire Official To Address Auxiliary

Cromwell C. Zembower, vice president of the Maryland State Firemen's Association, has accepted an invitation from the auxiliary of that group to speak before their spring conference at Park Plaza Hotel, Baltimore, Thursday.

He will discuss the coming convention to be held here June 20-22 in which the auxiliary will participate and talk about plans for the affair.
